

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-19327-6 - Theatre and Citizenship: The History of a Practice

David Wiles

Table of Contents

More informationContents

List of plates	page vii
Acknowledgements	viii
1 Introduction: citizenship and theatre	I
2 Athens	22
Democracy and chorality	23
The Frogs	33
Plato and Aristotle	41
3 Florence, Rome and Machiavelli	48
Machiavelli's political works	48
Cicero	53
Terence's Andria	58
The Mandrake and the Society of the Trowel	63
The Sunflower in a politician's garden	70
Coda: Goldoni, Ayckbourn and the comic genre	74
4 From Coventry to London	78
Christian fraternity	78
The Weavers' pageant in Coventry	83
Shakespeare, Heywood and London	91
John Milton and the revolution	103
5 Geneva: Rousseau versus Voltaire	110
Geneva	110
Rousseau	113
The Letter to d'Alembert	122
The battle for a public theatre	131
Conclusion: two ideals	136
6 Paris and the French Revolution	148
Brutus and the active citizen audience	148
Tragedy as a school for citizens: the career of M.-J. Chénier	158

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-19327-6 - Theatre and Citizenship: The History of a Practice

David Wiles

Table of Contents

More information

vi	Contents
	The revolutionary festival	171
	Diderot and bourgeois realism	180
7	The people, the folk and the modern public sphere	187
	Collectivism in pre-war Germany	187
	The Indian People's Theatre Association	196
	In search of the public sphere	208
	Epilogue: Washington's monuments to citizenship	224
	List of references	228
	Index	254

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-19327-6 - Theatre and Citizenship: The History of a Practice

David Wiles

Table of Contents

More informationPlates

- | | | |
|---|---|-----------------|
| 1 | The Death of Lucretia . Engraving by Le Lorrain after Jean-François de Troy. Royal Academy of Arts. | page 119 |
| 2 | Les lecteurs rapportent à Brutus les corps de ses fils . Painting by Jacques-Louis David. Louvre. | 149 |
| 3 | The crowning of Voltaire. Engraving from Révolutions de France et de Brabant no. 53. Bodleian Library. | 155 |
| 4 | Le Cardinal de Lorraine, bénissant les assassins de St. Barthélemy . Coloured engraving by Jean-Guillaume Moitte. Comédie Française. | 162 |
| 5 | Le triomphe du peuple français . Detail of a drawing by Jacques-Louis David. Musée Carnavalet. | 166 |
| 6 | Fête de l'Être suprême au Champ de Mars (20 prairial an II – 8 juin 1794) . Painting by Pierre-Antoine Demachy. Musée Carnavalet. | 175 |
| 7 | Rehearsal photos of Vom Tauwind und der neuen Freude , choreographed by Rudolf von Laban, in the Dietrich-Eckart theatre, Berlin. Photos from the festival programme in the John Hodgson Archive, Brotherton library, University of Leeds. | 195 |