Abel, Andrew B., 223–225
abstention inhibition, 251 abstention reinforcement, voter turnout modeling, 250 abstract models, 4–5 Achen, Christopher, 15–16, 43–44, 64–66 cumulative distribution function application, 172 turnout model, 166–168 actual reward matrix, tripartite unification framework, 301–302 Adams, James, 155–156
adaptive expectations
 genetic algorithm modeling, 259–262
macropartisanship dynamics, 95–96
adaptive learning
 information diffusion and, 124, 129–131 least squares learning and stochastic recursive algorithms, 119–120 macroeconomics research, 110, 112–114
overview of, 117–119
adaptively rational voting model, 252 additivity, tripartite unification framework, 301–302 Affine transformation, aggregation theory, 317–318 agent-based modeling (ABM) currency crisis model, 263 decision making, learning, and prediction, 248 genetic algorithm and firm price setting, 255–263 overview, 247–248
voter turnout, 248–255
agent error, strategic choice models, 184–189 agent knowledge
 information diffusion and, 128–129
in macroeconomics policy, 114–115
macroeconomics policy and, 108–109
tripartite unification framework, 299–305 aggregate demand (AD)
economic growth models, 62–63
information diffusion and, 127–131 aggregate party identification, macropartisan dynamics, 80–81 aggregate supply (AS) shock economic growth models, 62–63
information diffusion and, 127–131
multiple expectations models, 105–107 aggregation error, monetary aggregates model, 312 aggregation theory
 basic principles, 314–318
Gorman's theorem, 317–318 Green's theorem, 316 measurement and, 313–314
tripartite unification framework, 311–312
Akaike information criterion (AIC), 143 information diffusion analogues, 133–134 Akerlof, George, 43–44
Alcañiz, Isabella, 63–64
Alesina, Alberto, 58–62, 66, 76–77
The American Voter (Campbell), 78
American Voter model, 79
Index

Bellman equation dynamic programming and, 231–233
pie consumption problem, 233–237
Bellman’s optimality principle, 231–233
Bendor, Jonathan, 248
Bernanke, Ben, 223–225
Bernoulli distribution, estimation testing, 160–161 bias, regression model errors and, 67–68 binary choice models, political parties and representation and, 157–159 bivariate projections, 73 Blomberg, S. Brock, 196 boomerang effect, information diffusion and, 135–138 bounded rationality assumption, firm price setting model, 256 Box-Steffensmeier, Janet, 10
Brady, Henry E., 10
Bullard, James, 115
Bush, Robert R., 249–251
Cagan hyperinflation model, 102–105
autoregressive policy or treatment, 104–105 constant policy or treatment, 103–104 calibration, macro political economy model, 218–224 Calvo, Ernesto, 150–151
Campbell, Angus, 78
Campello, Daniela, 64
capital accumulation
conditional convergence hypothesis, 32–34
Solow economic growth model and, 30–31, 35 Carter, David B., 179–181 cause in abstract models, 4
models of, 4–5
non-cumulative research practices and, 14–19 scientific definition of, 3 chance
models of, 4–5
scientific definition of, 3
Chappell, Henry W., 62–63, 196, 199–201 Chaudoin, Stephen, 278–285, 289 citizen expectations, aggregate party identification, 80–81 Clarke, Harold D., 79–81, 84–86 Clarke, Kevin A., 39–49 closed form solutions, structural modeling, 195–196 Cobb-Douglas production function firm profit maximization, 213–215
Solow model, 30–31
steady state maximization, 31–32 cobweb modeling
adaptive learning and, 117–119
analogue unification and evaluation, 259–262
E-stability conditions derivation, 120–123 genetic algorithm applications, 256
information diffusion and, 124 observable variables, 101–102 rational expectations model, 100–101 social interaction and prediction analogues, genetic algorithm and, 256–259 speed of adjustment errors in expectations, 81–82 static expectations, 90–91
cointegration testing
Engle-Granger (EG) procedure, 144–145
information diffusion, 135–138, 140–149 Johansen procedure, 145–149 common-pool resources (CPRs), social dilemma research, 36–37 communication, firm price setting model, 256 compensational voting behavior
analogue unification and evaluation, 154–155
decision making and nominal choice, 151–153 competence economic growth rates and, 64–66 in economic voter model, 59–60 expectations of political responsibility and, 63–64 incumbent competence, 64–66, 76–77 international performance measurements, 66 responsibility attribution, 63 voter assessment of, 61–62 competitive equilibrium, experimental economics, 294 computational analogues, genetic algorithm modeling, 266–270 conditional convergence hypothesis derivation, 57
GDP per capita and economic growth rate, 35
Solow model, 30–34
conditional expectations, macropartisanship dynamics, 90 Cobweb theorem observable variables, 101–102 conditional forecast, reduced forms problems with, 21–22 conditional logit model, party identification, 159–160 consumption models in discrete time, 228–230 dynamic programming, Bellman equation, 231–233
pie consumption problem, 233–240
Ramsey consumption optimization growth model, 241–246
two-period model, 225–228 contest success function, human behavior modeling, 279–285 context, social dilemma research, 38 contingency plan or rule, party identification and, 80 continuous time dynamic optimization basic principles, 236–238
pie consumption problem, 238–240
Cournot, Antoine Augustin, 4
Cowles Commission
EITM framework and, 5, 27–28
establishment of, 7–9 macroeconomics research, 110
structural modeling, 195–196 cross-marginal products, firm profit maximization, 211–215 crossover operator, genetic algorithm modeling, 258–262, 268–269 Croushore, Dean, 223–225 cumulative distribution function (CDF) analogue unification and evaluation, voter turnout, 168–170 international political economy, 176 strategic choice models, 184–189
voter turnout models, 166–168, 171–172 currency crises modeling agent-based modeling, 263 analogue unification, 177–179
behavioral analogues, 179–181 decision making, bargaining, strategic interaction and nominal choice, 175–176
QRE analysis, 174–175
Current Population Surveys (CPSs), voter turnout models, 169–170 Cyert, Richard M., 251
data mining, 15–16
EITM criticism concerning, 40–41 decision making analogue genetic algorithm (GA) modeling, 264–265 human behavior modeling, 279–285
international political economy, 175–176 political parties and representation, 151–153 prediction and, 197
voter turnout models, 166–168, 249–251 decomposition methods, justice index and, 306 deductive inference, models and, 4–5 deductive theory
testing predictions of, 304
tripartite unification framework, 303 demobilizing effect of negative campaigning, 277–279 Dickey-Fuller test, information diffusion, 135–138, 140–142 Diezert, Walter E., 318–320 difference equations, macropartisanship dynamics, 92–94 derferencing methods, nonstationary variables and, 140–149 diminishing marginal returns, firm profit maximization, 211–215 discounting voter choice model decision theory and discrete choice and, 151 political parties and representation research, 150–151 discrete choice, voter turnout models, 166–168 discrete time, dynamic optimization in, 228–230 Divisa aggregates
index number theory, 318–320 measurement of, 313–314
tripartite unification framework, 311–312
user costs, 313–314
doing the deterring effect asymmetric information contest, 291–293
behavior modeling, 281–285
Lottery Contest Game, 284–289
Dorfman, Gerald, 10
Downs, Anthony, 46, 78, 151, 164–165
Duch, Raymond, 63 dynamic optimization in continuous time, 236–238 in discrete time, 228–230 macro political economy, 225–246
pie consumption problem, 233–240
Ramsey consumption optimization growth model, 241–246
two-period consumption model, 225–228
dynamic programming, Bellman equation, 231–233
Index

Dynamic Stochastic General Equilibrium (DSGE) model, 196, 204–206, 208 real business cycle (RBC) modeling and, 223–225

Econometrica (journal), 7–9 econometrics
criticism of, 48
nonstationary time series in, 140–149 Econometric Society, 7–9
An Economic Theory of Democracy (Downs), 78
economic growth models
administration competence and fortuitous events in, 60–61 expectations, uncertainty and measurement error in, 59–61 Solow model of, 30–36
economic performance approval dynamics and, 196, 204–206
information diffusion and, 124–126 economic shocks, in economic voter model, 59–60 economic voting model
analogue unification in, 61–62 EITM framework for, 57
expectations, uncertainty and measurement error in, 59–61 information assessment and, 66 international comparisons, 66 overview of research, 57–59
responsibility attribution, 63 retrospective judgments and, 64–66 test vs. test research and, 62–66 uncertainty in, 59–63 education variable as information proxy, 128–129
voter turnout models, 169–170
EITM
agent-based modeling, 247–248
analogue unification and evaluation, 30 asymmetric information contest and, 290–293 basis principles, 3 behavioral and applied statistical analogues development, 29 criticism of, 39–44
economic voting model, 57 framework for, 27–30, 45–49 future research applications, 321–324
human behavior modeling, 277–279 hypothesico-deductive (H-D) method and, 44–49 implementation challenges, 322–324
information diffusion and, 126 institutional developments in, 5–10 international political economy analysis, 179–181 limitations of, 49–50
Lottery Contest Game, 284–289
in macroeconomics policy, 114–115
macroeconomics policy and, 108–109 macropartisan dynamics and, 79, 84 motivation criticisms of, 39–44 persistence perspective in, 86–87
political parties and representation, 155–156 rational choice theory and, 47–49 real business cycle modeling, 193–196 research design and, 44–46 scientific research methods and, 12–14 social dilemma research, 36–38
Solow model unification, 35–36 theoretical concepts and applied statistics unification, 28–29
voter turnout models, 165, 169–170 election operator, genetic algorithm modeling analogue unification and evaluation, 259–262
genetic algorithm modeling, 258
electoral rule effect, political parties and representation research, 150–151 Elliott-Rothenberg-Stock test, information diffusion, 135–138
empirical analogues
autoregressive processes, 87
genetic algorithm modeling, 266–270
macropartisanship dynamics, 87–89 measurement error and error in variables regression, 67–68 political parties and representation, 157–161 random walk and random shock persistence, 88–89
voter turnout models, 171–172 empirical modeling
criticism of, 39–44
EITM framework and, 45–49
formal modeling vs., 43–44 future research applications, 321–324 theory vs., 12–14, 41–42
tripartite unification framework, 304–305 endogeneity, Granger causality test for, information diffusion analogues, 133–134, 139 <table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Page Reference</th>
<th>Document Content</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>317–318</td>
<td>Engel's law,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>140–149</td>
<td>Engle, Robert F.,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>144–145</td>
<td>Engle-Granger (EG) procedure,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>176</td>
<td>equilibrium choice probabilities, international political economy,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16–18</td>
<td>E-stability conditions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>118</td>
<td>error weighting, Omega matrices,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>110</td>
<td>adaptive learning and,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>120–123</td>
<td>adaptive learning models,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>119–120</td>
<td>least squares learning and stochastic recursive algorithms,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>112–114</td>
<td>macroeconomics analogue unification,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>160–161</td>
<td>estimation testing, party identification,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>108–109, 117–124</td>
<td>Evans, George W.,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>129–131</td>
<td>evolution of the initiative,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>44–46</td>
<td>hypothetical-deductive method and,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>256</td>
<td>examination, firm price setting model,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>90</td>
<td>expectations modeling, see also specific types of expectations, e.g., rational expectations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>95–96</td>
<td>adaptive expectations,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>127–131</td>
<td>analogues in information diffusion,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>110–112</td>
<td>analogues in macroeconomics research,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>81–82</td>
<td>analogues in macropartisanship for,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>80–81</td>
<td>behavioral and applied statistical analysis of,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>63–64</td>
<td>competency as basis for,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>90</td>
<td>conditional expectations, macropartisanship dynamics,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>59–62</td>
<td>in economic voting model,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>126</td>
<td>information diffusion and,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>99</td>
<td>iterated expectations,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>110</td>
<td>macroeconomics research,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>79</td>
<td>macropartisanship dynamics and,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>63–64</td>
<td>of political responsibility, competence based on,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>69</td>
<td>speed of adjustment errors,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>94</td>
<td>macropartisanship dynamics,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>69</td>
<td>static expectations, Cobweb theorem and,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>90–91</td>
<td>expected payoff value, behavior modeling,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>151–153</td>
<td>experimental economics</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>281–285</td>
<td>market clearing experiments,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>294–297</td>
<td>overview of,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>294–296</td>
<td>public goods experiments,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>176–177</td>
<td>extensive-form game, international political economy,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>36–37</td>
<td>face-to-face communication, social dilemma research,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>86</td>
<td>favorability perceptions, party identification and,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14–165</td>
<td>Feynman, Richard,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>78, 164–165</td>
<td>Fiorina, Morris P.,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>256–265</td>
<td>firm price setting model</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>256–259</td>
<td>analogues for social interaction and prediction in,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>259–262</td>
<td>analogue unification and evaluation,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>256</td>
<td>genetic algorithm and,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>199, 211–215</td>
<td>social interaction elements in,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>291–293</td>
<td>first-order conditions (FOCs), asymmetric information contest,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>267</td>
<td>fitness function, genetic algorithm modeling,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>90</td>
<td>formal analogues</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>225–246</td>
<td>dynamic optimization,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>208</td>
<td>Dynamic Stochastic General Equilibrium (DSGE) model,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>208</td>
<td>genetic algorithm modeling,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>264–265</td>
<td>international political economy analysis,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>181–194</td>
<td>macro political economy,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>116–117</td>
<td>macroeconomics research,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>90–107</td>
<td>macropartisanship dynamics,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>161–163</td>
<td>party identification and,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>172–173</td>
<td>voter turnout models,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>39–44</td>
<td>empirical modeling vs.,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>321–324</td>
<td>future research applications,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>69</td>
<td>least squares regression,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>69–71</td>
<td>linear projection,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>71–73</td>
<td>recursive projections,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>248, 253–255</td>
<td>framing coefficient, tripartite unification framework,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>301–302</td>
<td>free-rider problem, public goods experiments,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>294–296</td>
<td>Freeman &amp; Houser,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>139, 196, 199–201</td>
<td>Freeman, John R.,</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| 253–255        | frequency distribution of voting turnout, BDT model, Index

Friedman, Milton, 15–16, 59
Fuller, Wayne A., 140–142 Gabaix, Xavier, 4–5 game theory
agent error and private information in, 184–189
human behavior modeling, 278
international political economy, 176–177
QRE applications, 179–181
social dilemma research, 36–38 strategic choice modeling, 181–182 strategic probit model, 177–179 STRAT program and, 189–194 garbage-can regression, 40–41 Gawrońska-Nowak, Bogna, 263 gender gap actual and just earnings, 310 justice index and, 310 ratio of, 310 tripartite unification framework research, 305–310 generalization in models critique of, 4
EITM and, 39–44
genes, chromosomes, and populations, genetic algorithm operation, 266–267 genetic algorithm (GA) modeling alogues for social interaction and prediction in, 256–259
analogue unification and evaluation, 259–262 computational and empirical analogues, 266–270 crossover operator, 258, 268–269 decision theory and, 264–265 development of, 247–248
election operator, 238 firm price setting model, 255–263 fitness function, 267
formal analogues, 264–265 genes, chromosomes, and populations, 266–267 MATLAB simulation, 270–276 mutation operator, 258, 269 process overview, 271 production decision application, 269–270 real world data sets, 263 reproduction operator, 258, 268 social interaction in, 256 getting deterred effect asymmetric information contest, 291–293
behavior modeling, 281–285
Lottery Contest Game, 284–289
good luck, in economic voter model, 59–60 Gorman’s theorem, 317–318
government approval target deviation minimization macro political economy, 199–204
transition probabilities, 203 Grabowski, Wojciech, 263
Grafstein, Robert, 196
Granato, Jim, 27, 39–46, 79–81, 84–86, 108–109, 124
Granger, Clive W. J., 140–149
Granger causality test, information diffusion, 133–134, 139
Greene, William H., 161–162
Green’s theorem, aggregation theory, 316 Guala, Francesco, 293–296 habitual voting behavior, BDT voter turnout model, 253–255 Hausman, Daniel N., 67–68
Hellwig, Timothy, 63–64, 150–151 Hess, Gregory D., 196
hierarchical theory
propositions construed in, 304
tripartite unification framework, 303 higher approval target (HAT), approval dynamics, 203–204 Hodrick, Robert, 203
Holland, John H., 247–248, 255 Hotelling, Harold, 151
household utility maximization, 197–199
analogue unification and evaluation, 201–204
behavioral analogues, 208–211
derivation of, 203–208 Houser, Daniel, 196, 199–201
human behavior modeling
analogue unification and evaluation, 284–289 decision making and prediction analogues, 279–285
overview, 277–279
public goods experiments, 295–296
tripartite unification framework, 298–311 hypothesis testing, party identification, 161 hypothetico-deductive (H-D) method, EITM and, 44–49
Index

identification
EITM limitations concerning, 49–50 probability approach and, 7–9 imitation, firm price setting model, 256
incumbent competence
optimal forecasting of, 76–77 voter retrospective judgment of, 64–66, 164–165 index function model, 157–158
index number theory, 318–320 individual behavior, social dilemma research, 37 inductive inference, models and, 4–5 inertia, in macroeconomics policy, 114–115 inflation and policy analysis inflation persistence, macroeconomics policy, 113
non-cumulative research and, 20–21
information diffusion
analogues in models of, 127–131
analogue unification and evaluation, 132–138
asymmetric information contest and, 290–293 augmented Dickey-Fuller test, 135–138, 142–144
cointegration testing, 135–138, 140–149
Engle-Granger (EG) procedure, 144–145
Granger causality test, 133–134, 139
Johansen procedure, cointegration testing, 145–149
Lottery Contest Game, 284–289
overview, 124–126
social interaction, expectation and learning, simultaneity and prediction error and, 126 unit root testing, 134–138, 140–149 interest rate policy rule, non-cumulative research and, 19–24 international comparisons, economic voter model, 66 international political economy
analogue unification, 177–179
decision making, bargaining, strategic interaction and nominal choice, 175–176
EITM framework and, 174–175
International Social Justice Project (ISJP), 305–310 invariance of relation, probability approach and, 7–9 invention, firm price setting model, 256 Iron Law of Econometrics, 67–68
IS curve, aggregate demand, 19–24 iterated expectations, macropartisanship dynamics, 99 Jackson, John E., 78–79
Jasso, Guillermina, 298–311
Johansen, Søren, 140–149
Johansen procedure, cointegration testing, 145–149
Jones, Richard, 4
just earnings, gender gap in, 310 justice analysis, tripartite unification framework, 299–305 justice evaluation matrix, tripartite unification framework, 301–302 justice index, 298–299
alternative just rewards structure, 308 decomposition methods, 306 gender decomposition, 310 gender gap and, 305–310 methods for, 306–308 results analysis, 308–309 just reward matrix
justice index, 308
tripartite unification framework, 301–302
Kaldor, Nicholas, 90–91
Kedar, Orit, 150–155, 161
Keech, William R., 188
Kenkel, Brenton, 144
Key, 78
Keynes, John Maynard, 48
Keynesian economics
DSGE model and, 223–225
macroeconomics policy and, 108–109, 115 known reliability ratio, empirical analogue measurement errors, 68 Kramer, Gerald H., 58
Krause, George A., 124
Kydland, Finn E., 195–196
Lagrange multiplier (LM) test, information diffusion analogues, 133–134 Laibson, David, 4–5 larger approval shocks (LAS), approval dynamics, 203–204 laws of motion
adaptive learning and, 118–120
Cagan hyperinflation model, 103–104
E-stability conditions derivation, 120–123
information diffusion and, 129–131
macroeconomics policy and, 108–109 voting rules and, 249–251
Index

Lazarsfeld, Paul F., 124–126 learning analogues aspiration-based reinforcement learning rule, 249–251 in information diffusion, 127–131
information diffusion and, 124
in macroeconomics research, 110–112 simultaneity and prediction error and, 126
voter turnout models, 166–168, 249–251 least squares learning, 119–120, 129–131
genetic algorithm modeling, 259–262 least squares regression, formal analogues, 69 Leblang, David, 175–176, 189–194
Levine, David K., 277–279 Liphart, Arend, 154–155 likelihood function, estimation testing, 160–161 linear environment, public goods experiments, 295–296 linear homogeneity, aggregation theory, 317–318 linearization, macro political economy model, 218–224 linear projection, formal analogues, 69–71 log-ratio specification, tripartite unification framework, 301–302 logit model, party preferences, 158
Lopez, Maria C., 36–37
Lottery Contest Game, behavior modeling and, 284–289
Lubik, Thomas A., 115
Lucas, Robert, 8, 46, 59, 74–76
Lucas relative-general uncertainty model, signal extraction problems, 74–76
Lucas supply model, information diffusion and, 127–131 MacKinnon, James, 140–142
macroeconomics research analogues for expectations, learning and persistence in, 110–112 empirical vs. formal modeling, 43–44 expectations, learning and persistence in, 110 formal analogues in, 116–117
overview of, 108–109
RBC theory and DSGE model transition, 223–225 unification and evaluation of analogues in, 112–114 macropartisanship. see also political parties and representation adaptation expectations, 95–96 analogy for expectations and persistence and, 81–82

analogue unification and evaluation, 82–84
Cobweb theorem and, 90–91 difference equations, 92–94 EITM perspective on persistence in, 86–87
empirical analogues, 87–89
expectations and persistence analysis, 80–81
formal analogues, 90–107
overview of research, 78–79
random walk and random shock persistence, 88–89 rational expectations modeling, 90, 96–99
speed of adjustment errors in expectations, 94
macro political economy
analogy for, 197–201
analogue unification and evaluation, 201–204
consumption models in discrete time, 208–209 continuous time dynamic optimization, 236–238 decision making and prediction in, 197 dynamic optimization, 225–246
dynamic programming, Bellman equation, 231–233
firm profit maximization, 199, 211–215
formal analogues, 208, 225–246
government approval target deviation minimization, 199–201
household utility maximization, 197–199, 201–211
international comparisons, 204–206
linearization and calibration in model of, 218–224
non-cumulative research practices and, 19–24
pie consumption problem, 233–240
Ramsey consumption optimization growth model, 241–246
RBC theory and DSGE model transition, 223–225 research background, 195–196 steady state of model structure, 213–215
two-period consumption model, 225–228
Malthus, Robert, 4
Mankiw, N. Gregory, 35
March, James G., 251
Marcus, George, 10 marginal decision rule, party identification and, 161–162 marginal product of capital (MPK), firm profit maximization, 211–215 marginal product of labor (MPL), firm profit maximization, 211–215 market clearing experiments, 296–297 Markov Chain process, macro political economy model, 201–204 mathematical models, 4–5 MATLAB simulation, genetic algorithm (GA) modeling, 270–276 Matthes, Christian, 115 maximum likelihood estimation (MLE) analogue unification, international political economy, 177–179 party identification, 160–161
McCallum, Bennett T., 106–107
McFadden, Daniel L., 159–160, 162–163
McKelvey, Richard D., 174–175, 182–184, 189 mean-equality decomposition, justice index, 306 mean-inequality decomposition, justice index, 306 mean squared error (MSE), information diffusion analogue unification and evaluation, 132–138 measurement error in economic voting model, 59–62
empirical analogues, 67–68
signal extraction problems, 74 voter uncertainty models and, 64–66
Mebane, Walter R., 66
Merriam, Charles, 6
Merrill, Samuel, 155–156 methodological unification alternative framework for, 298–311 future research applications, 321–324
Solow model, 30–36
Miller, John H., 255
Minford, Patrick, 49–50 minimum state variable (MSV) solution analogue unification and evaluation, 82–84 Clark & Granato model, 84–96 expectations and persistence analogues, 81–82 inflation and policy analysis, 20–21 macroeconomics analogues unification, 112–114 macroeconomics formal analogues, 116–117 multiple expectations models, 106–107
Mitra, Kaushik, 115
mixed expectations equilibrium (MEE), information diffusion and, 130–131 models and modeling methodological unification, 30–38 utility of, 4–5 model testing practices, 45 monetary aggregates error in, 312 theory vs. measurement, 313–314
tripartite unification framework, 311–312
user costs, 313–314
Mosteller, Frederick, 249–251 motivation criticism of EITM, 39–44 moving average (MA(1)) process analogue unification, 61–62 in economic voter model, 59–60 multinomial choice models, party preferences, 159–160 multinomial logit model (MNL), party preferences, 159 mutation operator, genetic algorithm modeling, 258, 269 Muth, John F., 86
Nash equilibrium asymmetric information contest, 291–293 decision making and prediction analogues, behavior modeling, 279–285
human behavior modeling, 277–279
Lottery Contest Game, 284–289
public goods experiments, 295–296
New Keynesian model, macroeconomics and, 115 nominal choice analogue international political economy, 175–176 political parties and representation, 151–153 non-cumulative research practices overview of, 14–19 problems with, 19–24 non-governmental actors, responsibility attribution and, 63 non-linear cost functions, asymmetric information contest, 291–293 nonstationary variables, cointegration testing and, 140–149 observational equivalence, EITM limitations and, 49–50 observational error, information diffusion and, 131, 134–138 observational validation, prediction and, 12–14
Index

Omega matrices, 16–18
statistical patches and, 40–41
order
in abstract models, 4
models of, 4–5
scientific definition of, 3 Ordeshook, Peter C., 78, 164–165 ordinary differential equation (ODE), E-stability conditions, 118 ordinary least squares (OLS) economic voting model, 57–59
Omega matrices, 16–18
orthogonality principle least squares regression, 69 linear projection, 69–71 recursive projections, 71–73 signal extraction measurement error, 74 Ostrom, Elinor, 36–38, 295–296
overparameterization, 16
EITM criticism concerning, 40–41
own value effect
asymmetric information contest, 291–293
behavior modeling, 281–285
Lottery Contest Game, 284–289
Palfrey, Thomas R., 174–175, 182–184, 189, 277–279 parameters macro political economy model, 201–204 predictions and, 19–24 real business cycle (RBC) linearization and calibration, 218–224
party identification
analogue evaluation and unification, 154–155 binary choice models, 157–159 decision making and nominal choice analogues, 151–153 decision theory and discrete choice in, 151 EITM perspective on persistence in, 86–87
empirical analogues, 157–161 estimation testing, 160–161 expectations and persistence analysis, 80–81
formal analogues, 161–163
hypothesis testing, 161 logit model, 158 marginal decision rule, 161–162 multinomial choice models, 159–160
overview of research, 78–79
political parties and representation research, 150–151
probit model, 157–158
Pearson, Karl, 3
persistence
analogues in macroeconomics research, 110–112 analogues in macropartisanship for, 81–82 behavioral and applied statistical analysis of, 80–81 EITM perspective on, 86–87
inflation persistence, macroeconomics policy, 113
macroeconomics research, 110 macropartisanship dynamics and, 79 random shocks, macropartisanship empirical analogues, 88–89
Pfajfar, Damjan, 108–109, 115, 124–126 Phillips curve, 19–24
pie consumption problem continuous time optimization, 238–240 discrete time optimization, 233–237 Plott, Charles, 294–296 policy and inflation analysis
Cagan hyperinflation model, 103–104
EITM applications in, 323–324
non-cumulative research and, 20–21 shift dummy variables and, 22–24 policy outcomes, voting models and, 151–153, 164–165 Political Analysis (journal), 10 political business cycle (PBC) model, 196 Political Methodology (journal), 10 political parties and representation. see also party identification analogue unification and evaluation and, 154–155 binary choice models, 157–159
decision making and nominal choice analogues, 151–153 decision theory and discrete choice, 151 EITM framework and, 155–156
empirical analogues, 157–161
formal analogues, 161–163 research overview, 150–151 political science economics and, 294–296
human behavior modeling, 277–279
public goods experiments, 294–296 Political Science Department at the University of Rochester, 9–10 political science research applied statistics in, 10 hypothetical-deductive method and, 44–46 statistical methods in, 9–10 positive political theory, 9–10 prediction
agent-based modeling, 248
analogue analogues in genetic algorithm modeling, 256–259 decision making and, 197 ersor of, 127–131
firm price setting model, 256
genetic algorithm modeling, 256
human behavior modeling, 279–285 information diffusion and error in, 126 observational validation and, 12–14 parameters and, 19–24
voter turnout models, 249–251
Prescott, Edward C., 195–196, 203, 223–225
Preston, Bruce, 108–109
\( p \)-restriction, Omega matrices, 18 pricing dynamics, stochastic difference equations, 92–94 Primo, David M., 39–49 private information, strategic choice models, 184–189 probability approach identification and invariance and, 7–9 statistical inference, 4 probability density function (PDF), voter turnout models, 171–172
probit model
voter turnout and, 168–170 voting preferences and, 157–158 production decision, genetic algorithm modeling, 269–270 productivity shocks, RBC theory and DSGE model transition, 223–225 propensity function, voting rules and, 249–251 proximity model
decision making and nominal choice analogues, 151–153
decision theory and discrete choice and, 151
political parties and representation research, 150–151 public approval seeking government, target deviation minimization, 199–201 public expectations, macroeconomic policy and, 108–109
public goods experiments, 294–296 quantal response equilibrium (QRE)
international political economy, 174–175, 179–181 rationality and perfect information, 182–189 quantitative economics, Cowles approach in, 7–9 Ramsey consumption optimization growth model, 241–246
random shocks, macropartisanship empirical analogues, 88–89 random utility model (RUM), party identification and, 159, 162–163 random walk, macropartisanship empirical analogues, 88–89 rational choice theory
failure of models for, 47–49
human behavior modeling, 277–279 rational expectations equilibrium (REE) adaptive learning and, 117–119
Cobweb theorem, 100–102
E-stability derivation, 120–123
genetic algorithm modeling, 259–262
information diffusion and, 127–131
macroeconomics research, 110
macropartisanship modeling, 81–82, 84, 86
multiple expectations models, 106–107 unification and evaluation of macroeconomics analogues, 112–114 rational expectations modeling
Cagan hyperinflation model, 102–105
Cobweb theorem observable variables, 100–102
macroeconomics policy and, 108–109, 116–117
macropartisanship dynamics, 90, 96–99
multiple expectations models, 105–107
solutions, 99–107
real business cycle (RBC) modeling approval dynamics and, 204–206
development of, 8
DSGE models and, 223–225 fiscal policy outcomes and, 204–206
formal analogues, 208
linearization and calibration, 218–224 macro political economy and, 195–196 reality-ideology decomposition, justice index, 306 recursive least squares (RLS), adaptive learning and, 119–120 recursive projections and equation analogue unification, 61–62
formal analogues, 71–73
Incumbent competence, optimal forecasting of, 76–77 reduced form estimates
inflation and policy analysis, 21–22
limitations of, 49–50
multiple expectations models, 105–107 regression models, empirical analogues and errors in, 67–68 representational voting behavior
analogue unification and evaluation, 154–155
decision making and nominal choice, 151–153 reproduction operator, genetic algorithm modeling, 258, 268 responsibility attribution, economic voter model, 63 retrospective judgment of incumbent competence, 64–66 voter behavior and, 64–66

Revising Theory in Light of Experimental Findings (Ostrom), 36–38
Ricardo, David, 4
Riker, William, 9–10, 78, 164–165
Riker, William H., 78, 164–165

Sally, David, 36–37
Salmon, Wesley, 45–47
Sargent, Thomas, 49–50, 69
Sargent, Thomas J., 105–107 Say, Jean Baptiste, 4 scale-invariance, tripartite unification framework, 301–302 Schwartz, Anna J., 15–16
Schwarz Information Criterion (SIC), 143 scientific research methods EITM applications in, 323–324 non-cumulative research practices, 14–19 theory vs. empirics, 12–14 Scioli, Frank, 39–46 seat premium, political parties and representation research, 150–151 self-regarding model
information diffusion and, 127–131
social dilemma research, 36–37 shift dummy variables (SHIFT), policy and inflation analysis, 22–24 Shotts, Kenneth W., 277–279
signal extraction problems
economic voting model, 59–60
Lucas model (relative-general uncertainty), 74–76 measurement error, 74 optimal forecast of political incumbent competence, 76–77 responsibility attribution, 63 Signorino, Curtis S., 174–176, 182–194 simple-sum aggregates, tripartite unification framework, 311–312 Sims, Christopher, 8 simulation results, policy and inflation analysis, 22–24 simultaneity
analogues in information diffusion, 127–131 Granger causality test, 133–134, 139
information diffusion and, 126
Sismonde, J. C. L., 4
Smith, Adam, 296–297
Smith, Vernon, 294–297
social dilemma research, 36–38
context and, 38 individual behavior and, 37 social interaction analogues for, in genetic algorithm modeling, 256–259 analagous for, in information diffusion, 127–131 firm price setting model, 256
information diffusion and, 124
simultaneity and prediction error and, 126
Social Science Research Council (SSRC), 6, 132–138 social sciences
EITM applications in, 323–324 experimental economics and, 294–297
human behavior modeling, 277–279 non-cumulative research practices in, 14–19 quantitative analysis in, 6 Society for Political Methodology, 10 Solow growth model, 30–36, 241–246 conditional convergence hypothesis, 30–34 steady state equilibrium and, 31–32 unification in, 35–36
spatial theory, political parties and representation research, 150–151 speculative currency crises analogue unification, 177–179
decision making, bargaining, strategic interaction and nominal choice, 175–176
EITM framework and, 174–175
QRE analysis, 174–175
speed of adjustment errors, macropartisanship dynamics, 94 rational expectations modeling, 96–99
Stackelberg framework, information diffusion and, 124
static expectations
Cobweb theorem and, 90–91
genetic algorithm modeling, 259–262 statistical index numbers, 318–320 monetary aggregates, 313–314 statistical inference, probability approach, 4 statistical methods, in political science, 9–10 statistical patching, EITM criticism concerning, 40–41 Statistical Research Group (Columbia University), 15–16 steady state equilibrium macro political economy, 213–215
Solow model and, 31–32
Stevenson, Randolph T., 63 stochastic difference equations, macropartisanship dynamics, 92–94 stochastic recursive algorithm (SRA), adaptive learning and, 119–120 stochastic shocks party identification and, 80–81
strategic choice models, 184–189
Stone, Randall W., 179–181 strategic coalition voting, 156 strategic interaction
international political economy, 175–176
in macroeconomics policy, 115 strategic probit model, international political economy, 177–179 strategic voting model, international comparisons, 179–181 STRAT program, statistical strategic models, 189–194 structural modeling, macro political economy, 110, 195–196 subgame perfect equilibrium (SPE), strategic choice modeling, 181–182 Sullivan, John, 10
Suzuki, Motoshi, 62–63 system time variable, voter turnout models, 169–170 Taylor rule/taylor principle analogues in macroeconomics research, 111
macroeconomics policy and, 108–109
theoretical models applied statistics and, 28–29 data mining and, 15–16 EITM framework, 27–30, 45–49 empirics and, 12–14, 44–49 rational choice theory, 47–49 test es., 18–19
Threat and Imposition of Sanctions (TIES) database, 179–181 time series analysis, cointegration testing and, 140–149 T-mapping, E-stability conditions, 118, 120–123 transition probabilities, macro political economy and, 201–204 Tripartite Structure of Social Science Analysis (Jasso), 298–299
tripartite unification framework
aggregation theory, 314–318
deductive theory, 303
elements of, 299–305 empirical analysis, 304–305 extratheoretical measurement and estimation, 304–310 gender gap and justice index, 305–310 hierarchical theory, 303
index number theory, 318–320
monetary aggregates, 311–312
overview, 298–299
t-statistic
non-cumulative research and, 15 numerator influences on, 40 Omega matrices and, 16–18
overparameterization, 16
statistical patches and, 40–41
Tullock, Gordon, 279–285 turnout paradox, rational choice theory, 47–49
two-period consumption model, 225–228 two-player, three-outcome game, strategic choice modeling, 181–182 two-player contest model
analogue unification and evaluation, 284–289 decision making and prediction analogues for, 279–285
human behavior modeling, 278
two-stage least squares, economic voting model, 57–59 two-step communication model, information diffusion and, 124–126 Type I error, false rejection of null hypothesis, 40 Type II error, false acceptance of null hypothesis, 40
Index

uncertainty alternative measurement of, 62–63 in economic voting model, 59–62 Lucas model (relative-general uncertainty), 74–76
undetermined coefficients Cagan hyperinflation model, 104–105
inflation and policy analysis, 20–21 unit root testing, information diffusion and, 134–138, 140–149 univariate projections, 73 unreality, theories of, 40 user costs, monetary aggregates, 313–314 utility maximization
aggregation theory, 314–318
continuous-time maximization problem, 236–238 dynamic programming, Bellman equation, 231–233 household, 197–199
international political economy, 176–177
party identification and, 150–151, 155–156, 162–163 policy outcomes and, 151–153
strategic choice models, 184–189
two-period consumption model, 225–228
voter turnout models, 166–168, 248 variables regression error, empirical analogues, 67–68 vector autoregression (VAR)
information diffusion and, 124, 133–134
Johansen procedure, cointegration testing, 145–149
vote-maximizing parties alternative theories concerning, 155–156 political parties and representation research, 150–151 voter affiliation, see party identification voter turnout modeling, see specific models, e.g., BDT voter turnout model abstention inhibition, 251 adaptively rational parameters, 251 agent-based modeling, 248–255
analogue unification and evaluation, 168–170 aspiration updating function, 251 decision making analogue, 166–168, 248–251 discrete choice analogue, 166–168
empirical analogues, 171–172
formal analogues, 172–173 learning analogue, 166–168, 248–251 overview of research on, 78, 164–165 prediction analogue, 248–251 turnout paradox, 47–49 voting inhibition in, 250 voting reinforcement in, 250 voter turnout models, voting rules in, 249–251 voting models. see also party identification
human behavior modeling, 277–279 logic and empirical truth in, 46 rational choice theory, 47–49 Wallace, Neil, 105–107 weak separability, aggregation theory, 316 Wellford, Clarissa, 262
Whang, Taehee, 179–181
Wong, M. C. Sunny, 84, 108–109
Woon, Jonathan, 277–285, 289
Žakelj, Blaž, 108–109, 115
Zucco, Cesar, 64