PREFACE

The second part of these Illustrations of British plants follows the same general pattern as the first.

The intention once again is to provide a visual impression of the habit, and a selection of the chief features of the plants so as to assist with the appreciation of the technical descriptions given in Flora of the British Isles and the Excursion Flora.

The drawings have almost all been made from fresh specimens and are reproduced on a rather larger scale than that of the illustrations accompanying Bentham and Hooker's well-known Handbook. It is hoped that these features, combined with the grouping of illustrations to facilitate as far as possible easy comparison of related species will make them generally useful.

We should like to express once again our gratitude to Miss Roles for her patience and skill in the almost impossible task of providing small-scale drawings of 'typical' specimens.

We are greatly indebted to the following for supplying many of the plants illustrated in this Part: Miss J. Allison, Miss M. Atkins, P. W. Ball, P. R. Bell, M. Borrill, Miss A. P. Conolly, R. W. David, Miss E. W. Davies, Miss U. K. Duncan, J. R. S. Fincham, H. Gilbert-Carter, the late R. A. Graham, G. Halliday, M. K. Hanson, Miss J. M. Hartshorn, Miss J. E. Hibberd, E. K. Horwood, H. M. Hurst, A. C. Jermy, J. E. Lousley, D. McClintock, Miss P. A. Padmore, C. D. Piggot, M. E. D. Poore, T. E. D. Poore, C. E. Raven, J. E. Raven, N. W. Simmons, F. A. Sowter, Mrs F. le Sueur, F. J. Taylor, Mrs F. J. Taylor, Miss E. M. Thomas, D. H. Valentine, S. M. Walters, Miss M. McCullum Webster, W. T. Williams, and P. F. Yeo.
