

Contents

List of maps and tables	page ix
Preface	xi
A note on orthography	xiii
Introduction	1
1 Myth of a white man's war	6
Colonial society before the war	6
Military collaboration before 1899	10
Attitudes towards black involvement in the war	15
Black participation in the war	19
2 Mafikeng and beyond	28
The siege of Mafikeng	30
Assault on Derdepoort	38
The defence of Ngwato country	42
Kgatla participation in the war, 1900–2	45
Rewards of collaboration	46
3 An encircling struggle	52
Basotho society before the war	52
The British, Boers and Basutoland	56
Basotho reactions to the war	63
The impact of war	68
4 The Zulu's war	75
The advent of war	75
The Boer invasion of Natal and Zululand	80
The Zulu and the guerrilla war	87
The Holkrans incident	90

Contents

5 Allies and neutrals	96
The Pedi	97
The Swazi	103
6 The war in the Cape	110
The black elite	110
The defence of the Transkei	114
Guerrillas, rebels and peasants	119
7 Black workers	125
Mineworkers and the outbreak of war	127
Labour mobilisation	130
Workers in British military employment	137
The wartime labour market	141
8 Refugees	145
The emergence of the refugee problem	146
The concentration camp system	149
Conditions in the camps	151
Refugees outside the camps	157
The repatriation of refugees	159
9 Aftermath	163
Seeds of unrest	163
Unrest in the countryside	164
Unrest in the gold-mining industry	169
Political hopes dashed	174
Conclusion	179
Notes	185
Select bibliography	212
Index	221