

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-27770-9 - That Noble Science of Politics: A Study in Nineteenth-Century
Intellectual History

Stefan Collini, Donald Winch and John Burrow

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
PROLOGUE:
The governing science: things political and the intellectual historian	1
I The system of the North: Dugald Stewart and his pupils	23
II Higher maxims: happiness versus wealth in Malthus and Ricardo	63
III The cause of good government: Philosophic Whigs versus Philosophic Radicals	91
IV The tendencies of things: John Stuart Mill and the philosophic method	127
V Sense and circumstances: Bagehot and the nature of political understanding	161
VI All that glitters: political science and the lessons of history	183
VII The clue to the maze: the appeal of the Comparative Method	207
VIII Particular polities: political economy and the historical method	247
IX The ordinary experience of civilised life: Sidgwick and the method of reflective analysis	277
X A separate science: polity and society in Marshall's economics	309

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-27770-9 - That Noble Science of Politics: A Study in Nineteenth-Century
Intellectual History

Stefan Collini, Donald Winch and John Burrow

Table of Contents

More information

viii

Contents

xI A place in the syllabus: political science at Cambridge	339
EPILOGUE :
A nebulous province: the science of politics in the early twentieth century	365
Index	379