

Index

- 'Abdelle, 33-4, 36-40, 60, 189
 Abu-d-Duhūr, 85, 190
 Abu Zeyd, see 'Antar tales affliction, see disease and affliction Africa, 24
 agnatic descent, see patrilineal descent agriculture; and cult of saints, 211; and Cyrenaican Bedouins, 185-6, 193, 204-5;
 and North Arabian Bedouins, 16; and rural Moroccans, 243-4, 257 n2; in the Maghreb, 214-15; see also peasants;
 sedentary peoples; settlers, of Arabia
 Âl Jlâs, 137, 189, 247
 Allâh, see God
 alphabet, 93; see also phonetic writing
 'Alya herd, 54, 55, 190
 American Indians, 254 n1
 'Aneze, 3, 42, 188, 191, 247
 'Antar tales, 52
 anthropologists, 11-14, 95, 184, 196
 anthropology, 11
 Arabia, Western perception of, 24-5
 Arabian Bedouins: and the Şleyb, 21-2; ceremonies and rituals, 28-9; esthetic and practical arts, 28; of today, 3; source materials, 5-6; see also Central Arabian Bedouins; North Arabian
 Bedouins
 Arabic, classical, 114, 252 n3, 254 n2
 arid zone: and centers of civilization, xi;
 and monotheism, 100; and Near Eastern pastoral nomadism, 8-10, 214; and North Arabian Bedouins, 183; and patrilineal and matrilineal descent, 256 n3; as an ethnographic region, 6-7 art, of verbal designs, 156
 articulation: and strategies of theft, 41, 42-5; and the saint, 239; of political responses and political structures, 150; of space and time, 86-7; of verbal details, 166
 265 artistic expression: and historical experience, 151-4; and poetry, 111-12 assemblies, 219, 220
 awe, and the cult of saints, 211, 222-3, 233, 235, 238
baraka, 211, 213, 229, 231-2, 235, 258, n30; see also mystical power, and anarchy behavior and experience, 91
 Beni, see main part of proper name Berbers, 12, 215, 224, 257 n3
 biological drives, and political life, 23
 Bishr, 188
 Bleyhân eben Ğeri, 32, 33-41, 41-5, 46-7, 106 blood money, 21, 206
 blood price, 21, 122
 body and mind, and a life of heroism, 160
 Bulliet, Richard W., 8
 Burke, Edmund, 259 n31
 Caliph of Islam, 234-5
 camel: conversion into a mount of war, 8;
 personal instrument of aggression, 9,
 18-19; vulnerable domestic necessity, 17-18
 camel-herding nomadism: and long-distance trade, 8; and North Arabian camel saddle, 8; and poetic canons, 254 n2; as a crucial example, 100; as a way of life, 17-19, 25-6, 99; spread of, 8; see also mounted pastoral nomadism; Near Eastern pastoral nomadism; pastoral nomadism
 camel-herding nomads: and cult of saints, 241; and shrines, 209-10; first appearance in North Arabia, 8; in Cyrenaica, 205; Rwala, 3; self-expression and bestly energies, 128
 camel-theft, 19-20
 Cantineau, J., xiv, 5
 cattle-herding, 193, 203, 209
 centers of civilization, xi, 7-8, 9, 214

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-29399-0 - Literature and Violence in North Arabia

Michael E. Meeker

Index

More information266 Index

- Central Arabian Bedouins, 19, 23
 Central Asia, see arid zone
 Central Asian nomadism, and Arabian nomadism, 250 n18 ceremonial narrative, see narrative of raiding and warfare; oral traditions ceremonial poem, see oral traditions; poem of raiding and warfare ceremonial relationships, among groups of nomads, 17 ceremonies, wedding, 253 n11
 chief: and hero, 52-3, 58-9; and ideal behavior, 52-3, 90; and instruments of aggression, 133; and intertribal conflict, 190, 191-2; and peacemaking, 26; and saint, 241; and the tribal domain, 91; and tribesmen, 111; as a marginal leader, 51; as a reflective architect, 92; as a vehicle of peace and security, 98-9; good and bad, 68-76; in Morocco, 220 chiefly lineages, in Cyrenaica and in North Arabia, 201-2, 220 clarity, as a value in art and life, 136, 141 commerce and industry: and anarchy, 94, 96-7; and the state, 242-3 contrivances, and formal arrangements, 83-4 cooperation, among the camel-herders, 25 covenant, 227
 cult centers, 209-13, 258 n22
 cult of saints: and domestic interests, 211; and sheep- and goat-herders, 24; anthropological interpretation of, 210, 212; in Cyrenaica, 184-5; in Morocco, 221-2; in North Arabia, 23-4; in the Maghreb, 215; representatives of, 211-12; rituals of, 209-12; ritual specialists, 212, 258 n22; shrines of, 23-4, 209-11, 222
 cultural themes, 10
 Cyrenaican Bedouins: and segmentary politics, 11-12, 184-5, 192; and shrines, 209-11; compared with Moroccan peoples, 217-18; compared with North Arabian Bedouins, 193; dominant tribes, 194; names of tribal groups, 200-1; ties to land, 203-4; tribal genealogies, 200-8; tribes and chiefs, 194-5, 201-2
 Dana Muslim, 69, 71, 72, 75, 137, 188-9, 247
 Descendant of the Prophet, 234 dietary regimes, 252 n8
 discontinuity of experience, 228-30 disease and affliction, 141, 146, 147, 148, 236-8 domestication, of sheep and goats, 7 domestic experience, and political disorder, 95 domestic improprieties, 239
 domestic interests: and political association, 195-200; and shrines, 210; contradiction with political interests, 202, 208-9, 218 domestic interior, 227-8, 252-3; see also personal interior domesticity, in myth, 105-6 domestic life, 107, 229; and an afflicted humanity, 238; and political life, 20-1, 23, 25-6, 127-8; and the Sleyb, 22; harmonious forms of, 26-7; indolence and verbal strife, 25-6; North Arabia compared with Cyrenaica, 195 domestic scene, and personal desires, 131, 133 domestic structure, 106-7
 domination and exploitation: in Cyrenaica, 195; in Morocco, 218, 237
 Doughty, Charles M., 5, 19-22, 24-8, 98
 Draïoui, Bouzekri, see Eickelman, Dale F.
 Druses, 117, 162, 167
 Dunn, Ross E., 215-17
 dynasties, in Arabian towns, 19
 East Asia, 24
 Eben, see main part of proper name
 ecology, 202
 Eickelman, Dale F., 223-4, 232-3
 environment, 193
 epics, 113
 Eshâje'a, 60, 247
 esthetic values, 136; decisiveness and clarification, 140-3
 Evans-Pritchard, E.E., 11, 13-14, 189, 202-5, 209-10, 212-13 evolution, of artistic expression, 151-2 exchange, 20, 227
 expressive action, and political action, 35 expressive occasion, and political occasion, 34 faith, 231
 familial relationships: and biological facts, 186; and genealogies, 13; and political associations, 187-8, 196; see also paternal authority; patriarchy family: and a disorderly exterior, 11, 95-7; and an idiom of propriety, 77; and instruments of aggression, 133, 135; and the state, 251 n6; and the threat of political relationships, 186-7; of the saint, 232; the sanctity of, 75, 76 fanaticism, 96, 253 n12
 father, see familial relationships; paternal authority; patriarchy

267 Index

- father's brother's daughter marriage, 95-6, 252-3 n10
- Fed'ân, 52-9, 61, 124, 127, 129-35, 157, 161, 189-90, 245, 247
- fellowship and herds, 22-3, 45
- feud, within the tribe, 207
- Feyṣal eben Sha'lân, 136, 137, 144-5, 147, 149, 245
- fiction and fact, 52, 64-5; see also words and deeds
- filial unity, 13
- formal arrangements, 80-4, 86-7, 90-1, 93, 100-1, 135, 136
- formal expression and concrete action, 169-75; see also words and deeds
- formal life, 174-5, 178-9
- formulaic poetry, 113
- fortune, 160-2
- founding, of a religious community, 229, 232
- friendship, an idiom of propriety, 77, 81
- Geertz, Clifford, 255-6
- Gellner, Ernest, 258 n8, 258 n9
- genealogies: among the Cyrenaican Bedouins, 184-5, 200-8; and intertribal relationships, 191-2; and segmentary politics, 11-15; and the degeneration of the tribe, 202; and traditional peoples, 185; anthropological interpretation of, 208; as a cultural artifact, 14; as a paradigm of anarchy, 205-8; in the Near East, 186-8; misconstrued as a "primitive" system, 208; North Arabian Bedouin interest in, 189; of the tribe, 199-299; see also paternal ancestor; patrilineal descent
- genres, of Bedouin oral traditions, 255 n4
- goat-herding, 16, 19, 24, 193, 203, 256 n5
- God, 34, 38, 40, 42, 54, 58, 69, 73, 74, 75, 79-80, 92, 125, 162, 242-3; in myth, 106; problematic concept of, 100-4; Rwala conception of, 99; see also monotheism
- health and vigor, 146
- hedâwi*, 115
- hell, 105-6
- hemistich, 113, 254 n13
- heroic identity, and poetic identity, 172
- heroic performance: and literary metaphors, 166; and poem of raiding and warfare, 124; and poetic performance, 127-9, 164-5; and poetic structure, 128; and religion and authority, 123; and religious ideals, 122; and separation from poetic performance, 129; figured by the hand, 133
- heroic poetry, Western conceptions of, xvi
- heroic romances, 52, 255 n4
- heroism; and poetry, 167, 175; and pragmatism, 63-67; as a social norm, 156-7, 159-62; instruments of, 55; Saṭṭâm tainted by, 57
- holy man, see saint
- Holy War, 259, n32
- hunting, 16, 21
- Hwêtât, 77, 79
- hygienic practices, 252 n8
- Ibn Khaldûn, xi-xii
- ideogram, 30
- ideology, Arabian tribal, 208-9
- idiom: Arabian, 227; biological, 208; genealogical, 192, 201; of familial relationships, 186-8, 196; of patrilineality, 12-13; of progenitors and progenies, 187-8; politico-religious, 92; ritual, 232
- image: of agriculture, 123; of a problematic response, 37; of a textual line, 92; of beasts as men, 147; of camels as ostriches, 140-1; of men as beasts, 144-5; of men bent on killing men, 58-9; of mounts and riders, 58-9, 111, 119, 126-9, 138, 140-1, 153-4, 159-60, 254 n2; of power, 71, 73, 74; of problematic differences, 31; of space and time, 122-3; of the attachment of men and weapons, 144-5; of the fruits of plunder, 73; valued over reality, 67
- imagination, and involvement in political life, 23
- inarticulation, 75; see also articulation
- industry: among the camel-herders, 25; of the Şleyb, 21-2; see also commerce and industry
- interpretation and reality, 60, 62-7, 98-9, 186; see also words and deeds
- intricate and delicate skills: among the camel-herders, 18; among the Şleyb, 22
- investment, in personal instruments of aggression, 8, 18-19, 32-3, 166, 183, 243
- irony: in a story of a raid, 41, 42-5; in the poems, 123, 124, 130, 132, 146, 161; of genealogical interpretations, 208
- Islam: among Central Arabian Bedouins, 19; among North Arabian Bedouins, 23; and Bedouin experience, 252 n4; and Moroccan cult of saints, 226-7; and politico-religious movements, 6; and Rwala traditions, 254 n6; and the Arabian state, 259 n32; in Arabia, 10; in the arid zone, 7

268 Index

- Islamic civilization: and Near Eastern pastoral nomadism, 93; in Morocco, 217, 234–5
- Islamic empire, in northwest Africa, 233–4, 238
- Islamic scholars, in Cyrenaica, 212–13
- Islamic state: in Arabia and in Morocco, 244; saint as part of, 238, 239
- Islamization: and Arabian domination, 9–10; of the arid zone, 7
- Khalaf ʾal Idhen, 54, 58, 61–2, 103–4, 124, 126, 135, 136, 141, 167–8, 245–6
- Kharijites, 252 n5
- kinship and marriage, 94–6, 256 n1
- Koran, 93, 252 n4, 252 n5
- Kupper, Jean-Robert, 8
- Kurds, 117, 162, 163, 164
- Lacoste, Yvès, 259 n31
- Landberg, Count Carlo, 5, 11, 114–16, 254 n6
- Lane, Edward W., 3–5
- language: and community, 122; as a problematic construction, 30
- legitimacy: of poetic canons, 154; of political authority, 56–7, 67–8, 218, 240, 244; of the state, 234
- life crisis, of a saint, 224–5
- light of day, and political conflict, 85
- literary criticism, 29
- literary expression, and formal power, 155
- literary voice: and textual analysis, 29; as an aspect of uncertain relationships, 28
- literature: and political power, 156, 166; as a refuge, 155
- litigation, and political relationships, 142, 146, 147
- lodges, of religious brotherhoods, 212–13, 224
- long-distance trade, 8, 243
- loyalty and disloyalty, 143, 146, 148, 149
- makhzen*, 224, 234
- marabout, see saint
- Maraboutic Crisis, 223, 258 n11
- marginality: of heroism, 88; of moral principles, 99; of the power of saints, 212; of tribe and chief, 51, 91–2, 111
- market-centers, 243
- market-places, and shrines, 209, 213
- matrilineal descent, 256 n3
- mediation, 147, 212
- Mehḍa' al-Hebdāni, 124, 125, 129, 157, 161–2
- Me'jel, Eben, 70, 74
- menzil*, the Bedouin camp, 24–5
- metaphor, 14–15; and hostile relationships, 163; and poetic imagination, 132; literary, 166; of a domestic covering, 88–9, 94, 96; of a heroic performance, 162; of a poet, 174; of a poetic performance, 162; of a reading, 38–9; of a wedding ceremony, 132; of leaders and followers, 29; of paternity, 186–8; of political authority, 222; of scriptural signification, 77, 86, 90–3, 96–7; of signification, 31, 36, 38–9, 40, 41; of the role of saints, 230; of the voice, 30, 31, 33, 34, 91–2, 162–6, 169–75, 179, 252 n2
- metaphysics, and poetic irony, 122
- miracle, 230, 241
- Mongols, 249 n8
- monotheism, 99–100, 253 n1
- Montagne, Robert, 5, 191–2, 203–4
- morality: and anarchy, 96; of personal behavior, 68
- Moroccan rural peoples: and Arabians compared, 242, 243–4; and Cyrenaican Bedouins compared, 217–18
- mother, see familial relationships
- mounted pastoral nomadism: and Arabian urban and rural life, 9; and early Muslims, 9; and Islamization, 9–10; and North Arabian Bedouins, 16, 17; and the state, 251 n5; Arabia and Morocco compared, 243; as the climax of an historical process, 249 n14; see also camel-herding nomadism; Near Eastern pastoral nomadism; pastoral nomadism
- Muḥammad eben Smeyr, 117–19, 122–3, 137, 138, 139, 141–4, 157, 160–2, 246
- Musil, Alois: and Bedouin accounts of raiding, 32; and Bedouin oral tradition, 28; description of Bedouin raiding and warfare, 190; description of cult of saints, 23–4; description of intertribal relationships, 191; description of poetry recitations, 112–13; ethnography of Rwala, 3–6, 11; transcription of poems, 5, 111, 114–16; transcription of Rwala dialect, xiv–xv; translation of narratives and poems, xv–xvi, 5; travels in North Arabia, 3
- Muslims, 9
- mystery, and the cult of saints, 224, 226–7, 230, 237
- mystical power, and anarchy, 211, 222–3, 230, 231, 236–8, 240–1
- myth: and cultural truth, 106; and the life of forms, 106
- myths and rituals: among the Arabian settlers, 23–4; among the North Arabian Bedouins, 23–4, 105–7; of the cult of saints, 222–3, 233, 242–4, 258 n22

269 Index

- names, of tribal groups, 256–7
- narrative of raiding and warfare: and Bedouin historical experience, 183; and concept of authority, 98–9; and the marginal effectiveness of chiefs, 51–2, 90, 111, 192; as a documentary, 117; as a literary construction, 28; as a reaction to experience, 155; ceremonial narrative defined, 51–2; compared with narrative of saint's life, 223–4; compared with poem of raiding and warfare, 134–5; tradition of, 52
- narrative of saint's life, 223–5
- natural order, 98–9
- nature: and riders on mounts, 131–2; and men with weapons, 133–4
- Near East, as an ethnographic region, 11; see also arid zone
- Near Eastern civilization, and significance of North Arabian Bedouins, 31
- Near Eastern pastoral nomadism: and Arabian and Maghregian history, 235; and Arabians, 10; and ceremonial poems, 151; and father's brother's daughter marriage, 252 n10; and instruments of aggression, 8; and Islamization, 10; and monotheism, 100, 253 n2; and North Africa, 214; and phonetic writing, 31; and sedentarization, 196; and sedentary society, 8, 9; and the state, 215; and vulnerable domestic wealth, 7–8; defined, 8–11; North Arabian Bedouins as example of, 183, 249 n14; political and religious traditions of, 93, 100; tribes and chiefs, 194; see also camel-herding nomadism; mounted pastoral nomadism; pastoral nomadism
- Near Eastern traditions: and pastoral nomadism, 93; and phonetic scriptures, 252 n1; and popular political turmoil, 11, 250 n17; and sense of propriety, 76
- Near Eastern tribal rhetoric, 14
- North Arabian Bedouins: and Central Arabian Bedouins, 19; and genealogies, 189; and Islam, 23; and monotheism, 99–100; and mounted pastoral nomadism, 16, 17; and political adventurism, 32; and political segmentation, 188–92; and political violence, 16, 18; as a crucial example, 15–16, 31, 185; ceremonial life, 24; limitation of artistic expression, 151–2, 156; military capacities, 8; myths and rituals, 104–7; names of tribal groups, 200–1; narrative and poetic traditions, 111–16, 180; political culture, 18–19; politico-religious idiom of, 92–3; tribes and chiefs, 5, 90, 190–2; see also Arabian Bedouins
- Nuer, 11, 249 n8
- An-Nûri eben Sha'lân, 3, 62, 66, 68–75, 77–87, 88–93, 135, 189–90, 202, 245, 246, 253 n1
- Oppenheim, Max Freiherr von, 191
- oral traditions: and Bedouin thoughts and passions, 5–6; and formulas, 113; and North Arabian tribe, 190; and political experience, 28
- Ottomans, 3, 117, 119, 120, 123, 137, 142, 162, 259 n34
- Pacific Northwest, 24
- paradise, 105–6
- pastoral nomadism: and aggressiveness, 6–7; and anarchy, 8; and Arabian traditions, 19; and centers of civilization, xi, 7–8; and genealogies, 13–14; and idiom of familial relationships, 186; and political alliances, 6–7; and the arid zone, 6–7; in North Arabia and in North Africa, 214; see also camel-herding nomadism; mounted pastoral nomadism; Near Eastern pastoral nomadism
- paternal ancestor, 186–7, 189, 197–200; see also genealogies; patrilineal descent
- paternal authority, 13, 74, 187–8; see also familial relationships; patriarchy
- patriarchy, 95, 256 n2; see also familial relationships; paternal authority
- patrilineal descent, 189, 200 256 n3; see also genealogies; paternal ancestor
- peasants, 6, 10; see also sedentary peoples; settlers, of Arabia
- person: and idiom of propriety, 77; central conception, 27; sanctity of, 10
- personal desires, and the domestic scene, 131–2, 133
- personal health, and communal conventions, 96
- personal identity: and ceremonial narratives, 52; and story of a raid, 32, 33, 36–8, 39–40
- personal interior, 228; see also domestic interior
- Peters, Emrys, 200, 202, 205–8, 209–12
- phonetic writing, 30, 93, 252 n1; see also metaphor: of a reading; of scriptural signification; of signification
- pilgrimage, 226–7, 229
- pilgrimage center, 224; see also cult centers

270 Index

- poem of raiding and warfare: and Bedouin historical experience, 183; and classical Arabic poetry, 254 n2; and evaluative statements, 119, 120, 122-4; and instruments of aggression, 124, 152-6; and political experience, 128; and power, 152; and religion and authority, 124; as a construction, 113, 136; as a reaction to experience, 155; as verse-narrative, 112-13, 117, 119-21; Bedouin poetry in general, 111-12; blocks of verses, 120-1, 124; ceremonial poem defined, 111-12; color and lyric, 155-6; compared with narratives, 134-5; decisiveness, 142; depletion, 39, 176-7; discursive reading of, 116-17, 124; inversion, 161, 176-7; melody, 116; meter, 113-16, 254 n2; musicality, 113; musicality and conceptual structure, 114, 115-16, 127-8; parody of a poem, 114; rajaz, 115-16, 127, 254 n16; recitation of, 112, 113, 115-16; redundancy and repetition, 116, 121 124; reversal, 139, 146, 171; rhyme, 113-14, 153, 254 n5; transcription of, 114-15; two-part verse, 113, 153, 254 n2
- poetry, and heroism, 167, 172, 175
- political adventurism: and Bedouin accounts of raiding, 32, 46, 47; and camel-herding nomadism, 18; and domestic activities, 25-6; and elementary form of genealogy, 188; and fanaticism, 96; and intertribal alliances, 192; and sedentarism, 196
- political alliances: among the Cyrenaican Bedouins, 184-5; among the North Arabian Bedouins, 192; and anarchy, 205; and genealogies, 12-14; and pastoral nomadism, 6-7; and sedentarization, 196-201; fracturing of, 77
- political association, and agonistic rhetoric, 10
- political experience: and poetic structure, 128; in North Arabia and in Cyrenaica, 205; in North Arabia and in Morocco, 220-1
- political fiction, and genealogies, 200
- political history, in Arabia and in Morocco, 242-3
- political language, 14-15
- political metaphor, 15
- political philosophy, and political experience, 102
- political rhetoric, 15
- political segmentation, 14
- political theory, and political experience, 102
- politico-religious movements, 212-13, 242
- polity, and instruments of aggression, 133
- power: and Bedouin poetry, 152; and literature in general, 166; and mystical power, 239-41; of the person, 71
- pragmatism, in political experience, 63-7, 99, 124, 165-6, 244
- pre-Islamic tradition, 252 n3
- procedures, see resources and procedures
- progenitor and progeny, see familial relationships
- propriety, 75, 76, 77
- psychological drives, and involvement in political life, 23
- public prosperity, 96, 243
- qasīde*, 112, 113
- raiding: and peacemakers, 26; and self-identity, 32; and tyranny, 218; ceremonialized and ritualized, 20, 21, 29; personal accounts of, 32; within the tribe, 207
- reading, see metaphor
- realism, 62-3
- reality, 38, 134, 145-6, 149-50; see also interpretation and reality; truth
- recitations, see oral traditions
- religion: and heroic performances, 122-3, 227; and political metaphors, 97; of worldly political performances, 100
- religious brotherhoods, in Cyrenaica, 212-13
- resources and procedures, 35-40, 62-7, 80
- rituals, and political actions, 93; see also myths and rituals
- romance, of heroism, 165-6
- sacred district, see cult centers
- sacred Law of Islam, 244, 259 n32
- sacred writing, 252 n1
- sacrifice, 230-2
- Sa'dūn al-Ashqar, 68-76, 135, 136, 251 n6
- saint: and founding of a religious community, 233; and Moroccan state, 241; and political power, 235-8, 258 n30; in Cyrenaica, 209-13; in Morocco, 222-3; narrative of, 223-33, 235-41; see also cult of saints
- saj'*, 258 n20
- Šakhr, Beni, 77-80, 85-7, 167
- Sattām eben Sha'lān, 52-9, 60-7, 77, 79, 80-1, 86, 100-4, 124, 125, 131, 134, 189-90, 202, 245
- Sba'a, 32, 189, 247
- scriptures, 92; see also metaphor: of scriptural signification; phonetic writing

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-29399-0 - Literature and Violence in North Arabia

Michael E. Meeker

Index

More information271 Index

- sedentary peoples, 183, 250 n16; see also peasants; settlers, of Arabia; townsmen; urban societies
- segmentary political system: and cult of saints, 210, 212; classical form of, 189, 199–200; deviation from a classical form of, 201; elementary form of, 187–8
- segmentary politics, 12, 184–5, 196, 206–8, 215
- segmentary representations, 196–200, 218–19, 220
- segmentary structure: of Cyrenaican tribes, 202; of Moroccan tribes, 218–20
- segmentary theory, 11, 14
- self-identity, see personal identity
- self-interest, 142–3, 146–9
- semiology, 29–30
- settlers, of Arabia: and anarchy, 252 n7; and heroic romances, 255 n4; and Islam, 23–4; and patrilineal descent, 256 n3; and poetic canons, 254 n2; and scriptures, 92; and the state, 241–3; social norms of, 94–7; see also peasants; sedentary peoples
- sexual desires, 131, 132, 134
- Sha'lân, Eben, 68, 69, 70, 72, 74, 80, 89–90, 101, 119, 137, 149, 189, 202, 245
- Shammar, 41, 45, 191–2, 247
- Sharârât, 77–9, 247
- sheep-herders, 8, 203
- sheep-herding, 16, 19, 24, 193, 257 n2
- siba*, 234
- signifiers, 30, 39, 86, 92
- slaves, 61, 65, 66
- Şleyb, 21–2, 60, 63, 253 n1
- Smeyr, Eben, 70, 74
- social contract, and segmentary politics, 206–8
- social forms, strategic in their design, 29
- social life, and political life, 23
- social norms, and political experience, 10, 94–7, 242
- society, and political metaphors, 97
- Somali nomads, 12
- sound, violence and poetry, 163–4
- South Asia, 24
- South Seas, 24, 254 n1
- sovereignty, see state
- space and time, 160–1
- speech and action: and political experience, 18; consciousness of difference between, 156; see also words and deeds
- state: and mounted pastoral nomadism, 251 n5; in Arabia and in Morocco, 241–4; in the Maghreb, 214–15
- structural linguistics, 30
- structure: ideology of, 221; of differences, 40
- substitution, and absence, 80–1
- succession, 237–8; see also substitution
- sultan, and religious legitimacy, 238–41, 258 n30
- Sultan of Morocco, 217, 223–4, 233–5
- Swâlme, 79, 88, 189, 247
- symbol: of a response to experience, 229; of chiefly authority, 91; of heroism, 64; of personal mortality, 210–11; of political violence, 57; of power, 71, 92; of the tribe, 85
- textual analysis, 29–30
- time, see space and time
- townsmen, 6, 92; see also sedentary peoples; settlers, of Arabia; urban societies
- Trâd eben Zeben, 79–80, 88–90, 101
- tradition, and political violence, 250 n24
- tribalism, 234, 259 n31
- tribe: as a marginal political association, 51; degeneration in Cyrenaica, 202, 208; transformation in Cyrenaica, 194
- truth, 38, 43, 74, 134, 145–6, 149–50; see also reality
- Tuareg, 249 n8, 256 n3
- Turcomans, 117, 162
- Turki eben Mheyd, 52–9, 60–7, 101–4, 124, 125, 126, 127, 134–5, 167, 245
- Turkiyye, 53, 56, 60, 62
- tyranny, and anarchy, 218, 257 n3; see also domination and exploitation
- urban societies, 10
- values and ideals, as a form of discourse, 30
- vengeance, 206–7
- visual perception, 102
- voice: and an idiom of propriety, 77; and Bedouin political life, 27; and letter of an-Nûri, 81; and phonetic writing, 30, 31; and political violence, 31, 91; and uncertainty of experience, 30; and uncertainty of relationships, 31; confrontation of, 37; feature of a simple humanity, 45; of an-Nûri, 69, 73; of the domestic interior, 227–8; prominence of, 28; structure of, 29–31; see also literary voice
- Wahab, Beni, 117, 136, 137, 139, 143, 145, 147, 148, 149, 157, 162, 189–90
- Weld 'Ali, 117, 119, 157, 162, 189, 246, 247
- Weld Sleyman, 247

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-29399-0 - Literature and Violence in North Arabia

Michael E. Meeker

Index

More information272 Index

Western civilization, 30, 93

women: and domestic activities, 25;

chastity of, 95; ethnography of, 252 n6;

killed in raids, 53, 55, 57; participation in battle, 70, 75; saved Turki from death, 61, 65; seclusion of, 10, 94-6;

warriors' abstention from, 125

words and deeds: and political experience,

27; in an account of raiding, 36, 42-5,

46-7; in a poem, 129-31, 134, 136; of chief, 77, 80; of saint, 222-3; reflection upon the value of, 41; see also fiction and fact; formal expression and concrete action; interpretation and reality; speech and action

Yakuts, 249 n8

zawya, see lodges, of religious brotherhoods