

Contents

| | Page |
|--|-----------|
| From an analytical perspective CHARLES TAYLOR AND ALAN MONTEFIORE | I |
| Introduction | 25 |
| 1 The Problem | 31 |
| 2 Hegel and the speculative structure of Critical Theory | 34 |
| 1 The metacritical import of Hegel's concept of experience | 34 |
| 2 The metacritical disposition of Critical Theory | 41 |
| 3 Habermas and Enlightenment | 48 |
| 1 Dogmatism, reason and decision | 49 |
| 2 The justification for a critical theory of society | 55 |
| 3 The critique of the positivist understanding | 58 |
| 4 Knowledge and interest | 70 |
| 1 The primacy of practical reason in Kant and Fichte | 74 |
| 2 Kantian critique and Hegelian metacritique | 79 |
| 3 Marx's metacritique | 85 |
| 4 From epistemology to social theory | 93 |
| 5 The self-reflection of science | 100 |

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-29618-2 - Metacritique: The Philosophical Argument of Jurgen
Habermas

Garbis Kortian

Table of Contents

More information

| | | |
|----------|---|------------|
| 5 | The practical perspective of Critical Theory and its aporias | 109 |
| 1 | Freud's metapsychology and universal pragmatics | 110 |
| 2 | The limits of Enlightenment | 126 |
| | Index of names | 135 |