

Cambridge University Press

0521312124 - The Making of Great Men: Male Domination and Power Among the New Guinea Baruya

Maurice Godelier

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

Preface	page ix
1 Introduction to Baruya society	1
Part One
Social hierarchies in Baruya society	7
2 Women's subordinate position	9
The signs of male domination: bodies, space, gestures	10
The place of men and women in their various activities	11
Magic in the production processes	16
The subordination of women in the production of relations of kinship	19
One woman equals one woman	23
A last look at the principle of female equivalence	28
3 The institution and legitimization of male superiority: initiations and the separation of the sexes	31
The male life cycle	31
The woman's life cycle	40
Are the women's initiations genuine initiations?	46
The Baruya vision of the process of the reproduction of life; the significance of bodily substances	51
Female powers and the ambivalence of woman	63
Part Two
The production of great men: powers inherited,     powers merited	77
4 Male hierarchies	79

Cambridge University Press

0521312124 - The Making of Great Men: Male Domination and Power Among the New Guinea Baruya

Maurice Godelier

Table of Contents

More informationContents

Hereditary status and interlineage hierarchies:
the kwaimatnie -owners	81
Warriors, shamans, cassowary hunters: status for the taking	96
5 The discovery of great men	100
The aoulatta : the great warrior	103
The koulaka : the shaman	112
The kayareumala : the cassowary hunter	126
The tsaimaye : the salt maker	130
6 General view of Baruya social hierarchies	136
7 The nature of man/woman relations among the Baruya:
violence and consent, resistance and repression	141
Forms of female resistance and rebellion	149
Male violence and repression	151
8 Great men societies, big men societies: two alternative logics of society	162
The paradigm of the big man	163
Part Three
Recent transformations of Baruya society	189
9 The colonial order and independence	191
Conclusion	225
10 The ventriloquist's dummy	227
Bibliography	239
Index	245

Twelve unnumbered pages of photographs appear between pp. 188 and 189.