

Contents

Acknowledgements	page viii
List of figures	ix
List of tables	x
Preface	xi
Preface to the first edition of 'The Machinery of Justice in England'	xiii
Abbreviations	xv

I Historical introduction

1 The courts	3
2 The common law	11
3 Trial at common law	19

II Civil jurisdiction

4 Civil law and criminal law	27
5 County courts	30
6 The High Court	36
i The Queen's Bench Division	43
Ordinary civil actions	43
Commercial cases: the Commercial Court	44
The Admiralty Court	46
Appellate jurisdiction	47
Supervisory jurisdiction	48
ii The Chancery Division	51
iii The Family Division	56
7 The mode of trial	69
8 Complaints about the civil courts	79
9 The enforcement of judgments and orders	86
10 The Civil Division of the Court of Appeal and the House of Lords	90
11 The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council	98
12 Arbitration	101

Contents

III Tribunals

13	The creation of tribunals	107
14	The Franks Committee	112
15	Tribunals today	118
	i Adjudication under the social security system	119
	ii The National Health Service	123
	iii Mental Health Review Tribunals	124
	iv Industrial tribunals and the Employment Appeal Tribunal	127
	v Immigration appeals	131
	vi Rent Tribunals and Rent Assessment Committees	133
	vii The Lands Tribunal	135
	viii Tax Commissioners	136
	ix Professional and other organisations	137
	x The Restrictive Practices Court	138
	xi Royal Commissions and committees of inquiry	141
16	The distinction between ministers' decisions, tribunals and law courts	144
17	Control by the law courts	152
18	The Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration	164

IV Criminal jurisdiction

19	Courts with original criminal jurisdiction	171
	i The Crown Court	176
	ii Magistrates' courts	183
20	Coroners' Courts	194
21	Courts with appellate criminal jurisdiction	197
22	The process of prosecution	213
	i Investigation and interrogation: the police	217
	ii The Crown Prosecution Service	227
	iii The decision to prosecute	237
	iv The position of the defendant	240
	Legal advice and representation	241
	Knowing the case that must be met	245
	Bail	248
23	Criminal procedure	255
	i Guilty pleas – plea bargaining	260
	ii The rules of criminal evidence	265
	iii The place of the victim	268
24	The process of sentencing (including probation)	272
25	Juvenile courts	305
26	The matrimonial jurisdiction of magistrates – the Domestic Court	317

Contents

V The personnel of the law

27	Solicitors	327
28	Barristers	336
29	Legal education	345
30	Should the profession continue to be divided into barristers and solicitors?	353
31	Judges	362
32	Juries	382
33	Lay justices and stipendiary magistrates	402
	i The appointment of justices	404
	ii The training of justices	408
	iii The retirement and removal of justices	410
	iv Stipendiary magistrates	412
	v Justices' clerks and court clerks	415
	vi The Magistrates' Association	419
34	The administration of the courts	421

VI The European dimension

35	The European Convention on Human Rights	429
36	The European Economic Community	434
37	The impact of Europe on the English legal system	440

VII The cost of the law

38	The finances of the law courts	443
39	'Costs'	449
40	Legal aid	463
	i Legal advice and assistance	464
	ii Legal aid for proceedings in civil courts	468
	iii Legal aid in criminal proceedings	473
	iv The duty solicitor scheme	479
41	Future prospects for legal aid	482

VIII Law reform

42	The process of law reform	493
	i The minister responsible	497
	ii Deciding what needs to be done	499
	iii Getting the proposals enacted	506

	Appendix A: The Report of the Civil Justice Review	511
	Table of Cases cited	520
	Table of Statutes cited	523
	Table of Stationery Office publications cited	527
	Index	534