

CONTENTS

Preface	page vii
INTRODUCTION	I
I The literary character of the Cato	I
(a) Circumstances of composition, and general character of the work	I
(b) The dialogue form	5
(c) Rhetorical features	9
(d) The popular philosophical tradition	12
(e) The Roman setting and historical background	16
(f) Language and style	22
II Old age in the philosophic tradition	24
(a) Philosophical writing on old age before Cicero	24
(b) The later tradition	27
III The text and the manuscripts	30
(a) The manuscript tradition	30
(b) Testimonia to the text in ancient grammarians, etc.	44
(c) The present text and apparatus	48
TEXT	55
COMMENTARY	93
APPENDICES	267
1 The date of composition	267
2 Aristo Chius or Aristo Ceus?	269
3 The Cato as a historical source	273
BIBLIOGRAPHY	280
INDEX	288