Note: in the text several terms have been presented in bold-face italics; in this index there has not been an attempt to locate each and every instance when they appear but, rather, I have indexed the following of these terms (cottage economy, Industrial Revolution, involutionary entropy, peasant demography model, proletarian demography model, proto-industrialization, respectability) in such a way that the index will provide a guide to their usage. In addition, I have not indexed either people or places which occur once or even several times if they appear only in passing; thus, I have referred to people and places when they are substantively important and relevant to the argument.
