

Cambridge University Press

0521348900 - Politics, Work, and Daily Life in the USSR: A Survey of Former Soviet Citizens

Edited by James R. Millar

Index

More information

Index

- Abdolali, Nasrin, 61
- abortion, 213–14; response disparities, 381
- Abramson, Paul R., 75, 100
- absenteeism: frequency, 246, 263, 273; by occupation, 265–66; perception of, 241–43, 248–50; and productivity, 253–59
- absorption: survey focus on, 11, validation of survey results, 3
- Academy of Sciences: confidence in, 156–60
- active population, 174; income, 184–89
- age: and abortion, 213–14; and attentiveness to science, 145; and career continuity, 227–28; and childbearing, 207, 212f; and collective–individual rights, 117–23; and compliant behavior, 83; and education, 208–10; and employment, 222–25; and ethnic relations, 316–17; and fertility, 216–17; and health care satisfaction, 49–51; and income, 236–37; and job satisfaction, 45; and labor-force participation, 205f; and marital status, 207, 210–11; and material satisfaction, 130–32; and political interest, 88; and political participation, 73, 76–81; and productivity, 251–54; and reason for emigration, 107–08; and regime support, xi, 26–27, 125; of respondents, 358; and response rates, 364–66; and sample frame, 356–58; and sample selection, 355; and satisfaction with quality of life, 33–36, 51–53, 55–56; and scientific attentiveness, 153–55, 166; of scientists, 151; and second job, 271; and state–private control, 117–19, 122, 125; and social values, x; and support for regime norms, 118–22; and time theft, 268; and wage, 199, 225t, 232–34; weights, 367–69; see also generation
- agriculture: confidence in scientific improvement of, 161–65; support for private, 22
- alcoholism: extent of, 246, 263, 272–73; by occupation, 265–66; and productivity, 248–50, 253–59; at the workplace, 241–43
- Aleksandrova, A., 177
- Andropov, Iuri: influence of KGB, 91
- arrest: and unconventional behavior, 86–87
- artifacts: testing, 372–73, 374n
- attentiveness: methodology, 145–46; see also scientific attentiveness
- attentive public: defined, 142–43
- Australia: distribution of wealth, 193
- Axelrod, Robert, 322
- Azrael, Jeremy, 4n, 72, 82, 100, 101
- Bauer, Raymond, 4, 91, 95, 114, 281–82, 286, 299
- Belgium: fertility, 215
- Berbaum, Michael, 322
- Bergson, Abram, 171–72, 177, 181, 190, 192, 194, 242
- Berliner, Joseph, 26, 61, 171, 241–42, 279
- Bialer, Seweryn, 72, 100, 102, 302
- bias, 18–25, 388; detection, 139; emigrant, 19–20, 104, 108, 138–39, 173, 297; ethnic, 104, 173, 303, 376, 384, 388; interviewer country, 373, 376–77; interviewer sex, 376–77; memory decay, 22–23, 104, 351; and the referent population, 371; reluctant participants, 375–76; response, 361, 361n; and sample selection, 371; sample stratification, 23–24; structural, 173; time lapse, 375–79
- Big Deal, 102; success of, 128
- birth control: response disparities, 388; see also abortion, fertility
- black market, see na levo
- blat: and career advancement, 48; and employment, 349–53; increase of, 28; job advancement, 48

Cambridge University Press

0521348900 - Politics, Work, and Daily Life in the USSR: A Survey of Former Soviet Citizens

Edited by James R. Millar

Index

More information

Index

413

- blind backtranslation: questionnaire pre-testing, 11
- Blinov, M. N., 73
- Bolshevik revolution, 61, 91, 203, 279, 299; and regime support, 26
- bourgeoisie: and social stratification, 283
- Bowles, Samuel, 279–80
- Bradburn, Norman, 375
- Breslauer, George, 102
- Brezhnev, Leonid, 27, 346; criticism of youth, 73; and KGB, 95; privilege gap, 95; and “welfare state authoritarianism,” 102
- Brezhnev era: economic concerns, 88; and employment, 347; and KGB, 91; privilege gap, 91; success of, 72, 102
- Brezhnev generation: characteristics, 71; defined, 74; and KGB, 92f; Komsomol membership, 79f; political participation, 77f; political risk, 90f; privilege gap, 93f; voting behavior, 83–84
- Brzezinski, Zbigniew, 339
- Buckley, Cynthia, 100, 203, 354
- Bushnell, John, 102
- Canada: distribution of wealth, 192–93; ethnic relations, 324
- Canadian link file, 8, 18
- career advancement, 241–43; and CPSU membership, 266, 273; and education, 266; factors influencing, 248–50, 266–67; and material incentives, 274; by merit, 266, 272–73; and occupation, 273; opportunity, 246; and productivity, 253–55, 273; and time theft, 267–71, 274
- career contingencies: defined, 206
- career continuity: by age, 227–28; and childbearing, 226–32, 235; and education, 226–30; factors influencing, 229t; and income, 226–35; public sector employment, 226–32; and religion, 228, 231–32, 235; by sex, 226–27; and spouse's income, 226–32
- census, 184, 367
- Chapman, Janet G., 171–72, 177, 241
- childbearing, 206; by age, 207, 212f; and career continuity, 226–32, 235; and employment, 223–24; and labor-force participation, 204, 235; and life course, 219–20; and marital status, 212; number of children, 210–14; and religion, 231–32, 235; and wage, 232
- CIA: and SIP funding, 9
- city size: and childbearing, 214; and distribution of wealth, 195; and health care satisfaction, 51; and material satisfaction, 129–31; of referent population, 361; and regime support, 132–33; of respondents, 360–61, 365t; of sample, 362–63; and sample frame, 174–75, 359–60; and sample selection, 354–55; and satisfaction with goods, 42–43; and satisfaction with quality of life, 35t, 42t, 55–56; and scientific attentiveness, 143–45, 155; and social status, 296; and wage estimates, 199
- civil defense: shelter recall, 343–46
- class: and access to CPSU, 308–09
- clerical workers: defined, 334–35
- Coale, Ansley J., 212
- Coble, Mike, 100, 203, 354
- cohort of birth, see age
- collective farmers, see kolkhozniki
- collective–individual rights: by age, 118–23; defined, 110; descriptive statistics, 137; by education, 116–23, 127t; by material satisfaction, 123–25; methodology, 116; by political behavior, 135t; by political interest, 127–28; questions answered, 137; questions asked, 136; support by generation, 88; support for, 109–13
- collective rights, see collective–individual rights
- collectivization, 61
- Collier, Irwin, 241
- Colton, Timothy, 102–03, 103n
- co-migrants: and political activism, 82; and unconventional behavior, 87
- compliant behavior, see conventional behavior
- compliant citizen: and decision to emigrate, 66; defined, 63; political influence, 82–83
- comrades' courts: and mobilization, 337–39; participation, 345
- confidentiality: measures to ensure, 18; and response rates, 364
- Connor, Walter, 72
- constitution: and nationality, 302; and regime norms, 110; and social class, 283
- conventional behavior, 62, 71; and age, 83; analyzed, 76–83; co-migrants, 87; by education, 66–67; by generation, 76–77; and mobilization, 333; by occupation, 66, 346–47; and regime support, 26; representativeness of sample, 64–65

Cambridge University Press

0521348900 - Politics, Work, and Daily Life in the USSR: A Survey of Former Soviet Citizens

Edited by James R. Millar

Index

More information414 Index

- Converse, Philip, 74
 Cook, Paul, 4n
 CPSU: criticism of, 73; leadership, 334; mobilization of political participation, 332; and productivity, 248–50; and regime norms, 110; and working conditions, 48, 247
 CPSU membership, 63; access, 308–12; and career advancement, 248, 266, 273; and social stratification, 280, 288–96 credentials effect, 101
 Cromwell, J., 172
 cultural services: satisfaction with, 132–33
 Czechoslovakia: distribution of wealth, 172
 Dallin, Alexander, 4n
 Dallin, David, 281
 decile ratio: distribution of wealth, 190–92; public wages, 182, 189; wage inequality, 175 decision to emigrate, 106; by behavior patterns, 66; by blat, 351; by employment in specialty, 347; by ethnic discrimination, 323–24; by ethnicity, 315, 318; by ethnic relations, 323–25; factors influencing, 19–20, 106–08; by foreign radio listenership, 342–43; by generation, 94; by job satisfaction, 48–49; by political activity, 82; and samizdat, 340; and sample, 363; by voting behavior, 336–37 demographic variables: defined, 315; and ethnic discrimination, 316–17, 324; and ethnic relations, 316t, 324 Desai, Padma, 242
 de-Stalinization, 61; and support for individual rights, 88
 Deutsch, Karl, 333, 336
 Dhanak, Harriet, 100 diet, 44t
 dissent, 63n; and emigration, 87
 dissident, 63n
 distribution of wealth, 190; by city size, 195; compared to West, 172, 174, 181–82, 192–95, 197; by education, 197–98; by ethnicity, 192, 195; by family size, 192; financial assets, 195–97; Gini coefficient, 190; by household, 172–74, 189, 191t, 198; ISIP findings, 189, 192; by labor-force participation, 192, 198; methodology, 171; private income, 177, 189–90, 197; public income, 197; Social Consumption Fund, 189, 192, 194; success, 198; taxes, 194; trends, 190–92; wages, 172–76, 180–82, 197
 Dobson, Richard, 279
druzhinniki, 65
 Duke, Kathleen, 100, 203
 Duncan, Beverly, 206
 Duncan, Otis Dudley, 206
 Dunham, Vera, 100, 102
 Easterlin paradox, 43n
 Eastern Europe, 72; distribution of wealth, 171–72; support for aid to, 156 education: and access to CPSU, 309t; and access by ethnicity, 304, 307f; by age, 208–10; and attentiveness to science, 143–45, 147–50; and career advancement, 266; and career continuity, 226–30; and collective–individual rights, 116–23, 127f; and conventional behavior, 66–67; and distribution of income, 194; and distribution of wealth, 197–98; and employment, 347–49, 220–24; ethnic access, 308; and ethnic consciousness, 325; and ethnic privilege, 311, 326; and ethnic relations, 316–17, 325; and fertility, 214–19; by generation, 71; and health care satisfaction, 49–51; and income, 233–37; and job satisfaction, 48; and KGB, 92f; and Komsomol membership, 79f; and labor-force participation, 235; and life course, 219–21; and material incentives, 257f; and material satisfaction, 129t; and mobilization, 100–02; and nationality, 302; and occupation, 347–48; and political activism, 78–82; and political interest, 88; political risk, 90f; and privilege gap, 93f; and productivity, 253, 256–58; and reading choices, 146–48; and reason for emigration, 107f; of referent population, 361; and regime support, xi–xii, 26–28, 103, 125f, 131; of respondents, 360–61, 364–65; and response disparities, 376, 381, 384; and response rates, 364–66; of sample, 362; and sample frame, 174–75, 356; and sample selection, 354–55; and satisfaction with quality of life, 37t, 53, 55–56; and scientific attentiveness, 153–55, 166; of scientists, 151, and second job, 271; by sex, 203, 206, 208–10; and social stratification, 284–96, 300; and state–private control,

Cambridge University Press

0521348900 - Politics, Work, and Daily Life in the USSR: A Survey of Former Soviet Citizens

Edited by James R. Millar

Index

More information

Index

415

- 116–23, 127t; support for, 111; support for regime norms, 116–22, 126–28; and support for science, 166; and time theft, 268–70, 274; and unconventional behavior, 87–88; and voting behavior, 84f; and wage, 176–77, 232–34; and wage distribution, 182; weights, 367–69
- educational specialty: and employment, 347–49
- elections, see voting behavior
- election work: participation in, 62–63
- emigrant: bias, 6, 19–20, 104, 108, 173, 297
- emigration: through political dissent, 87; year of and sample frame, 356
- emigration decision, see decision to emigrate
- “employee”: defined, 282; and social stratification, 282, 285
- employment: by age, 222–24; and blat, 349–53; and career continuity, 227f; by educational specialty, 347–49; ethnic access, 306–08; factors influencing, 223f; hours worked, 23; and life course, 219–21; by religion, 222–24; and retirement, 224–25; and sample frame, 356–58; second job, 175; by sex, 222–24; in specialty, 347–49; see also labor-force participation
- energy: confidence in scientific improvement of, 161–65
- ethnic access: education, 308; employment, 308; political positions, 308–12; regional variation, 309
- ethnic affiliation score: and decision to emigrate, 318; defined, 317; and ethnic discrimination, 318–19, 322, 325–26; and ethnic preferences, 317–18; and ethnic relations, 319, 322, 325–26
- ethnic attitude score: defined, 319–20; and ethnic discrimination, 321–22, 325–26; and ethnic relations, 321t, 325–26
- ethnic bias, 104, 303, 315, 372–73, 376, 384; findings on, 21–22
- ethnic consciousness: and education, 325; Harvard Project, 325
- ethnic discrimination: and bias, 21; by decision to emigrate, 318, 323–24; by demographic variables, 316t; by ethnic affiliation score, 318–19, 322, 325–26; by ethnic attitude score, 321–22, 325–26; by ethnicity, 322, 325–26; by ethnic preferences, 320–21; and ethnic relations, 319t; and job satisfaction, 322–26; by political interest, 322–26
- ethnic elites: development of, 302–03
- ethnic intermarriage, 320
- ethnicity: and access to CPSU, 308–12; and access to education, 304, 307f; and access to employment, 306f; and access to political positions, 304; and bias, 173; and conventional behavior, 65; and decision to emigrate, 315; and distribution of wealth, 192, 195; and education, 302; and ethnic discrimination, 319t, 322, 325–26; and ethnic privilege, 310, 312; and ethnic profile variables, 317; and ethnic relations, 319t, 325–26; and fertility, 214–15; and job satisfaction, 315; and Komsomol membership, 79f; and occupation, 304; and occupational mobility, 302; and political activism, 82; as reason for emigration, 106–08; of referent population, 361; of respondents, 360–61, 364–65; and response disparities, 383–86, 391; and response rates, 364–65; of sample, 362–63; and sample selection, 354–55; and social stratification, 280, 283–84, 288–96, 300; and socioeconomic advancement, 304
- ethnic preferences: by ethnic affiliation score, 317–18; and ethnic discrimination, 320–21; by ethnic profile variables, 317; and ethnic relations, 320–21
- ethnic privilege, 304–06; by education, 311, 326; by ethnicity, 310, 312; and ethnic relations, 326–28; factors influencing, 311; and job satisfaction, 326; by job satisfaction, 311–12; by political interest, 311, 326; in union republics, 326–28
- ethnic profile variables: defined, 315, 317; and perception of ethnic discrimination, 315–16
- ethnic relations: by age, 316–17; and decision to emigrate, 323–25; by demographic variables, 316t, 324; by education, 316–17, 325; by ethnic affiliation score, 319, 322, 325–26; by ethnic attitude score, 321t, 325–26; by ethnicity, 319t, 325–26; by ethnic preferences, 320–21; by ethnic privilege, 326–28; factors influencing, 314, 326; by job satisfaction, 322, 324–26; and political disenchantment, 324–25; by political interest, 322–26; quality

Cambridge University Press

0521348900 - Politics, Work, and Daily Life in the USSR: A Survey of Former Soviet Citizens

Edited by James R. Millar

Index

More information416 Index

- ethnic relations (contd.)
 of, 312–15; by sex, 316–17; by union republic, 303, 314
 exposure effect, 101
- Fainsod, Merle, 68, 100–01, 132
- family, 185; and decision to emigrate, 106, 108; definition of, 182–83, 185;
 and sample frame, 359; size, 23; see also household income, household size
- family background: and social stratification, 143
- family income: source of, 174–75
- family life: decision making, 38; and female labor-force participation, 204
- family size: and distribution of wealth, 192
- Farley, Reynolds, 203
- Featherman, David L., 206
- Federovskaia, E., 177
- Ferber, Marianne, 31, 52n
- fertility, 208; analyzed, 214–19; methods of limiting, 213; reasons for limiting, 214–15
- financial assets: compared to West, 197;
 and distribution of wealth, 195–97;
 Gini coefficients, 197
- food: satisfaction with distribution of, 43–45
- Ford Foundation, 5
- foreign aid: to Eastern Europe, 156
- foreign policy: response disparities, 387;
see also civil defense, foreign aid, military service, national security
- France: distribution of wealth, 192–93;
 wage distribution, 182
- Frey, William, 203
- Friedberg, Maurice, 4n
- Friedgut, Theodore, 336
- Friedrich, C. J., 339
- gender, see sex
- General Survey: assumptions, 25; bias, 18–24; formulation of, 7; questionnaire development, 10–11; questions asked, 13; sample frame, 16–17; second, 29; structure of, 13–14; temporal structure, 13
- generation: and conventional behavior, 76, 85; and decision to emigrate, 94;
 defined, 74; and individual rights, 88; and KGB, 89–92; and KGB contact, 86f; and Komsomol membership, 68t, 76, 79; and media choices, 89, 89n; and political activity, 76–78; and political divergence, 72, 76; and political interest, 76; and political risk, 90f; and privilege gap, 91, 93f;
 and regime expectations, 91–95; testing divergence, 62, 75; unconventional behavior, 85; and voting behavior, 83–84; vs. life-cycle effects, 74–76; see also age, Brezhnev generation, post-Stalin generation, postwar generation, purge generation, wartime generation
- generation gap, 61; characteristics, 94– 96; and public behavior, 62; questions concerning, 73; and unconventional behavior, 76
- Gibbs, Jack P., 279
- Giessler, Fred, 4n
- Gini coefficient: distribution of wealth, 193–94; and financial assets, 197;
 household income, 193t; income distribution, 189; public sector wages, 189; wage distribution, 175, 177
- Gintis, Herbert, 279–80
- GNP: and space expenditure, 156; and working conditions, 242
- Group participation: and mobilization,
 333, 335–36, 345
- Gubin, Sandra, 322
- Gustafson, Thane, 61
- Harasymiw, Bogdan, 61
- Harris, Jonathan, 72
- Harvard Project, vii, 71, 332; agriculture, 113; compared to SIP, viii–xi, 113;
 data cards, 30; description of, 4; education, 111; ethnic consciousness, 325;
 funding, 5; generation gap, 95;
 health care, 111; hostile responses,
 114; Komsomol membership, 68–69, 78; methodology, 5–6; recording, 29;
 regime performance, 91–94; regime– society relations, 332; regime support, 26; satisfaction with quality of life, 56; social stratification, 281
- health care: confidence in scientific improvement of, 161–65; and distribution of income, 194; factors influencing satisfaction, 54f; private, 49;
 question asked, 134; satisfaction, 109– 12; and satisfaction with quality of life, 55; source of, 50–51; support for public, 20, 28, 49
- Holland, Bert, 61
- hostile respondents: and support for regime norms, 114–15
- Hough, Jerry, 70, 74, 82

Cambridge University Press

0521348900 - Politics, Work, and Daily Life in the USSR: A Survey of Former Soviet Citizens

Edited by James R. Millar

Index

More information

Index

417

- household income, 185; and distribution of wealth, 172–74, 191t; Gini coefficient, 193t; per member, 188t; public sector wages, 183, 189; questions asked, 173
- household size: and distribution of wealth, 198
- housing: factors influencing satisfaction, 54f; living space, 23; and marital satisfaction, 128–31; and regime support, 132; satisfaction, 25, 39–42; and satisfaction with quality of life, 55; source of, 40f; type, 40–42
- Hsu, Amy, 100, 203, 354
- illegal market, see na levo
- income: accuracy of reported, 194; active households, 185–87; by age, 236–37; and career continuity, 226–35; distribution, 189, 198; by education, 233–37; and fertility, 215; Gini coefficient, 189; by household, 184–85; per household member, 188f; ISIP findings, 183; and job satisfaction, 48; and labor-force participation, 235; and life course, 235; and material satisfaction, 128–31; and regime support, xii; and satisfaction with goods, 43; and satisfaction with quality of life, 55–56; by sex, 236–37; and social stratification, 286, 296, 299; Soviet research, 185; see also material welfare “income revolution,” 172, 174
- individual rights, see collective–individual rights
- industry: support for state ownership of, 28
- Inglehart, Ronald, 75
- Inkeles, Alex, 4, 91, 114, 281–82, 286, 299
- Instrumentalist: defined, 301–02
- intelligentsia: and education, 143; and social stratification, 284–86
- interest in politics, see political interest
- Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research, 30
- interview: quality control, 17
- interviewer: bias, 373, 376–77, 388; country, 15; instructions, 136; response disparities, 384–91; sex, 15; training, viii, 14–16, 372
- ISIP: and accumulation of wealth, 195–97; compared to SIP, 173; description of, 173; distribution of wages, 177–80; distribution of wealth, 189–92; income, 183, 194; public sector wages, 189
- Israel: emigration to, 173; and ISIP, 173
- Jackman, Robert W., 100
- Japan: wage distribution, 182
- Jennings, M. Kent, 75
- job: and satisfaction with quality of life, 55–56
- job satisfaction: and ethnic discrimination, 322–26; by ethnicity, 315; ethnic privilege, 311–12, 326; and ethnic relations, 322–26; factors influencing, 45–49, 54f; by sex, 51–52
- Jowitt, Ken, 351
- Kennan Institute, 3
- KGB: contact with, 85–86; power of, 89–92, 95; prestige of, 294; response disparities, 381, 387, 392
- Khrushchev, Nikita, 4, 27, 29, 95
- Khrushchev era: and KGB, 91; privilege gap, 91
- Kim, Jae-on, 75
- King, Gary, 61
- Kingdom, John, 322
- Kissinger rule: and SIP funding, 5
- Kluckhohn, Clyde, 4, 91
- Kogan, L. N., 66
- Kohlhase, Janet, 241
- kolkhozniki*, 335; and distribution of wealth, 172; and social stratification, 282, 284–86
- Komsomol: commitment to, 73; leadership, 334; membership characteristics, 65–71, 76–79; and political activism, 78; role of, 72
- Komsomol membership: Harvard Project, 68–69
- labor-force participation: and childbearing, 204–06, 235; and distribution of wealth, 192, 198; and education, 235; efforts to increase, 204; and family life, 204; and income, 235; survey reliability, 237–38; and wage, 232–34; women, 203–08; see also employment
- labor redundancy: extent of, 241–42, 248–50; methodology, 245–46
- Lane, David, 61
- leadership: confidence in, 156–60, 165–67
- legal market, see rynok
- leisure activities: satisfaction with, 45
- Lewis, Robert, 354
- life course: and income, 235; and political participation, 78; sex, 219–21; sig-

Cambridge University Press

0521348900 - Politics, Work, and Daily Life in the USSR: A Survey of Former Soviet Citizens

Edited by James R. Millar

Index

More information418 Index

- life course (contd.)
 nificance of, 76; and unconventional behavior, 86; vs. generational effects, 74–76 life cycle, see life course
- McAuley, Alastair, 172, 177, 190–92, 194
 Maier, V. F., 172
 management: and productivity, 248, 255–58, 273; and supply disruption, 272 managers: defined, 334–35; see also occupation
- Mannheim, Karl, 61, 71, 74
 Manthorpe, William, 4n
 marital status: by age, 207, 210–11; and childbearing, 212; and goods satisfaction, 55; and material satisfaction, 129t; and political activity, 78; productivity, 251–53; and sample frame, 359; and satisfaction with quality of life, 34–35t; by sex, 207, 210–11
- Markowski, S., 172
 Martin, Ricardo, 242
 Marx, Karl, 25
 material incentives: and career advancement, 274; by education, 257f; productivity, 248, 255–59, 273; and regime support, 26, 28, 100, 102–03; satisfaction with, 259; and time theft, 274; and unconventional behavior, 87; by wage, 258–59 material satisfaction: analyzed, 128–32; and collective–individual rights, 124–25; defined, 123–24; descriptive statistics, 138; methodology, 138; and regime norms, 122–26; and regime support, 125–26, 131–33; and state–private control, 123–25; see also quality of life material welfare: defined, 123–24; and material satisfaction, 128–31; and regime support, 131f
- Matthews, M., 194
 media: choice by generation, 89; letters to, 63; and mobilization, 333, 336, 345–46; on news source, 340; preference by occupation, 339–50; Western, 63 medical care, see health care, quality of life memory decay: and bias, 22–23, 372 Migranov, L. A., 172
 military: confidence in, 156–59; and mobilization, 336 military service: effort to avoid, 343–44, 351–53; and sample selection, 355 militia: mobilization, 337; participation, 345; participation by occupation, 339t mobilization: avoidance, 333; and conformity, 333; by CPSU, 332; group participation, 333–36, 345; and the media, 333, 336; and the military, 336; and national security, 345; by occupation, 333; by political interest, 333; trends, 333, 347, 351–53; types of, 335–36; voting behavior, 333, 335; West Germany, 346
 Morrison, Christian, 172
 Mullin, Judy, 203
 multivariate analysis: and SIP data, 371; use of weights, 370n
- na levo*, 29; participation, 44–45; participation by age, 53; response disparities, 387
 Narrigan, Deborah, 279
 National Council for Soviet and East European Research, 4n; and SIP funding, 6–7, 9; and SIP oversight, 9 national defense: support for, 156 nationality: and the constitution, 302; see also ethnicity national security: and mobilization, 345 neo-Stalinists, 27
 news: attentiveness by occupation, 339–40; readership, 339–40, 346; source of, 340
 Niemi, Richard, 75
 NKVD, see KGB
nomenklatura: and political activism, 81; and unconventional behavior, 87 nonconformist: defined, 63; see also unconventional behavior nonconformity: defined, 63–64n; see also unconventional behavior
 NORC (National Opinion Research Center): interviewer training, 15, 384; and questionnaire development, 10–11; and response rates, 364; selection of sample frame, 16–17; studies on occupational prestige, 288; and survey confidentiality, 8, 18
- occupation: and absenteeism, 265–66; and access to official car, 335; and alcoholism, 265–66; and career advancement, 273, 302; and civil defense participation, 345–46; and comrades' court participation, 337–39, 339t, 345; and conventional behavior, 66, 346–47; and education, 335, 347–48; and ethnicity, 304; and

Index

419

- foreign radio listenership, 342–43, 346; and KGB prestige, 294; and media preference, 339–40; and military service avoidance, 344t; and militia participation, 337, 339t, 345; and mobilization, 333, 336–39, 345–46; and news attentiveness, 339–40; and newspaper readership, 339–40, 346; and people's control participation, 337–39; and political activity, 78–82; and private work, 175, 178t; and productivity, 256–59, and redundant labor, 260–62, 273; of referent population, 361; and regime support, 26, 299; and samizdat readership, 340–41, 346; and satisfaction with quality of life, 36t; and scientific attentiveness, 150–52, 155, 166; and scientific literature readership, 146–47; and second job, 271; and social stratification, 25, 280, 286–300; standard of living, 259; and supply disruption, 264–65; and time theft, 268–70, 274; and unconventional behavior, 87; and voting behavior, 336–38, 346; and wages, 179t, 259; work committee participation, 337–38; and work slack, 261
- Office of Net Assessment: support for SIP, 6
- organized science: defined, 143n
- Ossowski, Stanislaw, 287
- parochial, 71; analyzed, 76–77; defined, 63
- “passports,” 10
- Pavlov, B. S., 66
- Pearson, Robert, 142
- peasant: educational opportunity, 143
- people's control participation, 337–39
- political behavior: and collective–individual rights, 135t; mobilization, 333; and state–private control, 135t
- political interest: by age, 88; and collective–individual rights, 127–28; by education, 88; and ethnic discrimination, 322–26; and ethnic privilege, 311, 326; and ethnic relations, 317, 322–26; and foreign radio listenership, 342–43; by generation, 76; and mobilization, 333; and political activity, 81–82; by sex, 88; and state–private control, 127–28; and support for regime norms, 127–28; and unconventional behavior, 87
- political leaders: defined, 334; see also occupation
- political positions: ethnic access, 304–05, 308–12
- political profile variables: defined, 315; and ethnic relations, 316
- political risk: perception of, 90f
- Porter, Jim, 142
- Portugal: fertility, 215
- post-Stalin era, 61; and ethnic elites, 302; and mobilization, 83
- post-Stalin generation: conventional behavior, 83, 89; defined, 74; education, 87; and KGB, 95; and KGB power, 92f; Komsomol membership, 79f; political activity, 76–78; political risk, 90f; and private economy, 88; privilege gap, 93f, 95; unconventional behavior, 85–87, 89; voting behavior, 83–84
- postwar generation: conventional behavior, 83; defined, 74; and KGB power, 92f; Komsomol membership, 79f; political activity, 76–78; political risk, 90f; privilege gap, 93f; and regime support, 118–22; voting behavior, 83–84
- poverty: by age, 53; attitude toward, 45; feminization of, 25; perception of, 259–60, 273
- praktika*, 167
- Pravda*, xii
- primordialist: defined, 301
- private control, see state–private control
- “private-individual” position: defined, 109–10
- private sector: analyzed, 177–78; employment, 271; income, 189–90, 197; Soviet studies, 185; wages, 175, 190
- privatization: of personal life, 28–29
- privilege: and support for regime norms, 126
- privilege gap, 95; by education, 93f; by generation, 91, 93f
- productivity, 241–42, 244; and absenteeism, 253–59; by age, 251–54; and alcoholism, 253–59; and career advancement, 253–55, 273; and economic system, 255–58, 273; by education, 253, 256–58; factors influencing, 28, 242–43, 248, 254–59, 273; and management, 256–58, 273; by marital status, 251–53; and material incentives, 255–59, 273; and merit advancement, 266; methodology, 244–45; and occupation, 253–59; resource deficiencies, 255; by sex, 251–53; and supply disruption, 253–55, 273; by

Cambridge University Press

0521348900 - Politics, Work, and Daily Life in the USSR: A Survey of Former Soviet Citizens

Edited by James R. Millar

Index

More information420 Indexproductivity (contd.)

supervisory responsibility, 251–53, 256–58; and time theft, 268–69; and wages, 273; and worker efficiency, 253–58 professionals: defined, 334–35; see also occupation proletariat: and social class, 283

propaganda: and regime support, 100 proteksia, see blat

protests, 62, 85; participation by generation, 76; punishment for, 95–96

Pryor, Frederic L., 172

public issues: and attentiveness, 145

public officials: contact, 62–63; contact by generation, 76

public organizations: ability to influence, 82–83; participation, 62–63 public sector: employment, 226–32; income, 189, 197; wage, 174–75, 182, 189 punishment: for unconventional behavior, 95–96

purge generation: conventional behavior, 85–86; defined, 74; KGB power, 92f; Komsomol membership, 79f; political activity, 77f; political risk, 90f; privilege gap, 93f; unconventional behavior, 87; voting behavior, 83–84 quality of life: diet, 44t; factors influencing satisfaction, 56; food distribution, 43–45; goods availability, 260t; goods satisfaction, 42–45, 55, 55f, 105, 259; Harvard Project, 56; health care satisfaction, 49–52, 54f; housing satisfaction, 39–42, 54f, 105; job satisfaction, 32, 45–49, 54f, 105; leisure activity, 45; and marital status, 32; response disparities, 388; satisfaction, 33t; satisfaction by age, 33–36, 52–53, 55; satisfaction by city size, 35–36, 42t; satisfaction by decision to emigrate, 38; satisfaction by education, 37t, 53, 55; satisfaction by ethnicity, 38; satisfaction by marital status, 34–36; satisfaction by occupation, 36t; satisfaction by region, 38; satisfaction by sex, 35t; working conditions, 48; see also material satisfaction, standard of living questionnaire: bias, 388; development, 10–11

Rabkina, N. E., 172, 177

radio: as news source, 340; listenership of foreign, 340–43, 346; listenership by occupation, 340t

Rakowska-Harmstone, Teresa, 327

reading choices: and scientific attentiveness, 145–46, 165–66; of scientists, 151; by sex, 153 redundant labor: extent of, 272–73; by occupation, 273; perception of, 241–42, 260–63

referent population, 354; bias, 371; characteristics, 356–58, 361; defined, 23, 104; sample frame, 174–75; satisfaction with quality of life, 55–56 regime norms: defined, 109, 109n; support, 110, 112f; support by age, 118–22; support by education, 116–22, 126–28; support by hostile respondents, 114–15; support by material satisfaction, 122–26; support by political interest, 127–28; see also collective-individual rights, state-private control regime–society relations: Harvard Project, 332 regime support, 26; by age, 125; by agitation, 100; by city size, 132–33; and cultural services, 132–33; by education, 27–28, 100–02, 125f, 131; by housing, 132; by material incentives, 100, 102–03; by material satisfaction, 125–26, 131–33; by occupational mobility, 299; by political activity, 135t; by propaganda, 100; questions asked, 134–36; by voting behavior, 133, 133n region: of referent population, 361; of sample, 362–63; and sample frame, 358, 360; and sample selection, 354–55; and weights, 367–69 religion: by career continuity, 228, 231–32, 235; and childbearing, 231–32, 235; and decision to emigrate, 106–08; and employment, 222–24, 349; and fertility, 214–19; and sample selection, 355; scientific attentiveness, 143–44, 153–55, 166; of scientists, 151; by sex, 154; and social stratification, 284 reluctant participants: and bias, 372–76; response disparities, 379–83, 391 rent: distribution of income, 194 research team: selection of, 7

resettlement agencies: cooperation with SIP, 16–17; and survey confidentiality, 18

resettlement organizations: cooperation with SIP, 6, 8 residence permits: support for, 109–10, 112–13; survey question, 136

Cambridge University Press

0521348900 - Politics, Work, and Daily Life in the USSR: A Survey of Former Soviet Citizens

Edited by James R. Millar

Index

More information

Index

421

- resource deficiencies: and productivity, 255
- respondent: characteristics, 356–58, 360–61, 364–65; concern with confidentiality, 8; reliability, 20, 22
- response disparities, 387, 391; analyzed, 374–77; defined, 373; by education, 384; by ethnicity, 383–86; by interviewer country, 384–88; by interviewer sex, 388–90; methodology, 391–93; reluctant participants, 379–83; significance of, 393; summary, 378t, 393–404t; time lapse, 377–81
- response effects: analyzed, 389–91; defined, 373; testing, 22–23
- response rate, 8, 17–18; factors influencing, 363–66
- retirement: and employment, 224–25; wages, 225t
- Rimashevskaja, N. M., 177
- robbery: response disparities, 388
- Roberts, Jim, 142
- Rossi, Alice, 91, 95
- Rothschild, Joseph, 301
- Rukavishnikov, V. O., 284
- Rutkevich, M. N., 284
- ryuk*, 29; participation, 44–45
- samizdat*, vii, 85; punishment for distribution, 95; readership, 20, 340–41, 346; risk, 340
- sample: characteristics, 356–58, 362–63; size, 362
- sample frame: characteristics, 174–75, 356–60; defined, 355; selection, 8, 22–24
- sampling frame, see sample frame
- Sawyer, Malcolm, 192, 194
- Schroeder, Gertrude, 171
- Schwartz, Janet, 142
- Science: ability to solve social problems, 163–67
- science fiction: readership of, 146–48, 151; and scientific attentiveness, 151–53
- scientific attentiveness: and confidence in problem solving, 161–65; and confidence in scientific leadership, 156–60, 165; by education, 147–50; factors influencing, 145–46, 149–55, 166; methodology, 145–46; by reading choices, 165–66; and support for free scientific inquiry, 160–62; and support for research, 155–56, 165–67; and support for space exploration, 156–57; in U.S., 151–52
- scientific inquiry (freedom of): support for, 160–62, 165
- scientific leaders: confidence in, 156–60, 165–67
- scientific literature: readership, 146–48, 151; and scientific attentiveness, 152–53, 165
- scientific research: praktika, 167; support for, 155, 160–61, 165–67
- scientific-technical revolution, viii
- scientists: characteristics of, 151; confidence in problem solving, 164–65; confidence in scientific leaders, 159–60; reading choices, 151, 166; scientific attentiveness, 151–52, 166; support for free scientific inquiry, 160–61; support for research, 160
- second economy: activity, 267; participation, 271
- second job: factors influencing, 271–72
- secret police, see KGB
- selection effect: defined, 101
- sex: and attentiveness to science, 145, 153–54; and career continuity, 226–27; and CPSU membership, 309t; and employment, 222–24; and ethnic relations, 316–17; and health care satisfaction, 51; and income, 236–37; of interviewer, 15; and interviewer bias, 373; and job satisfaction, 45; and Komsomol membership, 79f; and life course, 219–21; and marital status, 210–11; and nonconformity, 86; and political activism, 78; and political interest, 88; and post-retirement employment, 225; and productivity, 251–53; and reading choices, 153; and reason for emigration, 107–08; and redundant labor, 263; and response rates, 364–65; and sample frame, 174–75, 358–59; and sample selection, 355; and satisfaction with health care, 52; and satisfaction with quality of life, 35t, 51–52, 55; and scientific attentiveness, 153–55, 166; of scientists, 151; and second job, 271; and social stratification, 296, 300; and time theft, 268–70; and wage, 175, 178t, 182, 232–35; see also women
- Sharrard, George, 61
- Shatz, Marshall, 87
- Shkaraton, O. I., 284–86, 297
- Shliapentokh, Vladimir, 299
- Shubkin, V. N., 286
- SIP: goals, 9

422 Index

- SIP Data Management Center: test of response effects, 20, 22–23
- social class, see social stratification
- Social Consumption Fund, 185; defined, 183; and distribution of wealth, 189, 192, 194
- social services, see Social Consumption Fund
- social status: defined, 279n; see also social stratification
- social stratification: bourgeoisie, 283; by city size, 296; and the constitution, 283; by CPSU membership, 280, 288–96; by education, 280, 288–96, 300; “employee,” 282, 285; by ethnicity, 280, 283–84, 288–96, 300; factors influencing, 280; and family background, 143; Harvard Project, 281; by income, 286, 296, 299; intelligent-sia, 284–86; and kolkhozniki, 284–86; by Komsomol membership, 79f; by occupation, 280, 286–300; by personal achievement, 284; proletariat, 283; purpose of, 299–300; by religion, 284; by sex, 283–84, 296, 300; and social values, x–xi; survey reliability, 288–90, 297; transformation of, 299; in the U.S., 279, 283; in the West, 280, 300; working class, 284–86, 300
- Solomon, Susan Gross, 142
- Soviet Central Statistical Administration, 184–85
- space research: support, 166; support by scientific attentiveness, 155–157
- Spaeth, Joe, 31
- spectator, 71; defined, 63; by generation, 77f
- Sputnik, 155
- Stalin, Joseph, 4, 29, 85, 89; Big Deal, 102; Big Deal beneficiaries, 94; blat under, 349; and egalitarianism, 279; the Great Retreat, 71; and KGB, 95; military mobilization, 343; perception of, 27; science since, 167; society under, 332
- Stalin era: and KGB, 91; mobilization, 351–53; privilege gap, 91
- Stalin generation, 61
- Stalinism, 85; as a formative experience, 72; perception of, 27
- standard of living: satisfaction with, 53–56, 259–60; and time theft, 268–71; see also quality of life
- Starr, S. Frederick, 4n
- “state-collective” position: defined, 109
- state control, see state–private control
- state–private control, 20, 27, 88; by age, 117–19, 122, 125; agriculture, 109–13, 136; defined, 110; descriptive statistics, 137; by education, 116–23; industry, 109–14, 134; methodology, 116; by political behavior, 135t; by political interest, 127–28; by privilege, 126; questions answered, 137; support by education, 127t; support by material satisfaction, 123–25; see also regime norms
- stratification: and bias, 23–24; methodology, 354
- strike, 62, 85; participation by generation, 76; punishment for, 95; question asked, 136; support for right, 109–13
- study groups, 62, 85; participation by generation, 76
- Sudman, Seymour, 375
- supervisory responsibility: and career advancement, 266–67; and productivity, 251–53, 256–58; and redundant labor, 262
- supply disruption: by occupation, 264–65; perception of, 241–43, 246, 248, 263–65, 272; and productivity, 253–55, 273
- survey design, 372
- Sweden: civil defense, 344; distribution of wealth, 193
- Switzerland: civil defense, 344
- tamizdat*, 85; punishment for distribution, 95
- taxes: and distribution of wealth, 194
- television: viewership, 340
- Third Wave Emigration, 65
- Thornton, Judith, 242
- time lapse: bias, 375–79; response disparities, 375–79, 391–92
- time theft, 28, 241–42; factors influencing, 267–71, 274
- Tong, James W., 100
- Toumanoff, Vladimir, 4n
- trade unions: leadership, 334; and wages, 248; and working conditions, 48, 247, 248–50
- unconventional behavior, 26, 61, 69, 71; by age, 28; and arrest, 86–87; civil rights activists, 75; by education, 87; factors influencing, 80–81t; by generation, 62, 76–77, 85, 87, 89; by life cycle, 86; by occupation, 87; participation, 20; and political interest, 83,

Cambridge University Press

0521348900 - Politics, Work, and Daily Life in the USSR: A Survey of Former Soviet Citizens

Edited by James R. Millar

Index

More informationIndex

423

- 87; sample reliability, 64–65; by sex, 86
- union republics: and ethnic privilege, 326–28; and ethnic relations, 303, 314
- United Kingdom: distribution of wealth, 193; financial assets, 196t; wage distribution, 182
- United States, 56, 373; civil defense, 344; distribution of wealth, 193–94; and emigrant bias, 138–39; female labor-force participation, 203–05; financial assets, 196t; health care, 49; income of women, 237t; perception of, 20, 28, 53, 114; and reluctant respondents, 372; scientific attentiveness, 145–50, 153–55; social stratification, 236–37, 279, 283; wage distribution, 182
- University of Illinois, 7; archive, 30; Institutional Review Board, 18
- U.S. Air Force: Harvard Project funding, 4, 6
- U.S. Department of Defense: SIP funding, 6, 9
- U.S. State Department: SIP funding, 9
- Velkoff, Victoria, 100, 203, 354
- Verba, Sidney, 75
- Volkov, Iu. E., 73
- voting behavior, 62–63, 69; and conventional behavior, 83; by decision to emigrate, 336–37; by generation, 83–84; mobilization, 333–38, 345–46; by occupation, 84f, 336, 346; participation, 62–63, 236–37; and regime support, 133, 133n
- wages: by age, 225t, 232–34; and child-bearing, 232; deciles, 176–77, 180, 197–98; distribution, 175–77, 180–82; and distribution of wealth, 172–74, 197; by education, 176–77, 182, 232–34; and material incentives, 258–59; methodology, 199; by occupation, 179t, 259; by participation, 232–34; and productivity, 273; public sector, 183; questions asked, 173; by sex, 176–77, 232–34; source of, 174–75; Soviet studies, 185
- wartime generation: defined, 74; KGB power, 92f; Komsomol membership, 79f; political activity, 77f; political risk, 90f; privilege gap, 93f; voting behavior, 83–84
- Weber, Max: social stratification, 25
- weights: and multivariate analysis, 370n; purpose of, 365–69; research implications, 370–71
- Western Europe, 72; interviewer's country, 373
- West Germany: mobilization, 346; political activity, 69–70
- Wiles, Peter, 171–72, 190
- women: childbearing age, 207, 212f; education, 208–10; income, 236–37; labor-force participation, 203–08; marital status, 207; see also sex
- work committees: membership, 337–38
- worker efficiency: and productivity, 253–58
- working class: prestige, 25; and social stratification, 284–86, 300
- working conditions: descriptive statistics, 249–50t; questions asked, 246–47
- work slack: by occupation, 261
- World War II, 61, 68, 102, 281, 286; effect on labor force, 203; as a formative experience, 72; generational effects, 71
- Yarsike, Deborah, 332
- Young, Crawford, 301
- Zaslavsky, Victor, 302
- Zeiss, Carol, 142