

CONTENTS

List of tables and figures	page x
Preface	xi
1 Introduction: Hospital medicine in eighteenth-century London	1
The setting	5
Transformations	12
Hospital medicine	19
PART I. INSTITUTIONS AND EDUCATION
2 The London hospitals: Virtue and value	33
Charity and the hospitals	36
Hospital practitioners	55
3 The Corporations, licensing, and reform, 1700–1815	74
The London corporations: Membership and licensing	76
Education at the halls and college	81
Education, war, and the colleges: Reform and responses, 1780–1815	91
4 Walking the wards: From apprentices to pupils	107
Apprentices and pupils, character and cash	110
On the wards: Increasing numbers, blurry boundaries	134
Learning on the wards	148
5 London lecturing: Public knowledge and private courses	162
Private and public: Business, knowledge, access, and authority	165
The London system: An overview	167
Entrepreneurs: Entertainment and expertise, 1700–1760	175
Bodies and businesses: Hospital lecturing, 1760–1820	188

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-36355-6 - Charitable Knowledge: Hospital Pupils and Practitioners in
Eighteenth-Century London

Susan C. Lawrence

Table of Contents

More informationviii Contents

PART II. COMMUNITY AND KNOWLEDGE

6	Gentlemen scholars and clinical cases, 1700–1760	215
	Public persona: Publishing	218
	Publicity and polemics	222
	Ancients and moderns	225
	Gentlemanly knowledge: Nature, medicine, and the Royal Society	227
	Clinical knowledge: Public and private	234
	Hospital knowledge	241
7	London hospital men and a medical community, 1760–1815	250
	Public platforms: Publishing and status	254
	Gatherings of like-minded men	259
	Diffusing useful knowledge	271
	Observing practitioners and men of science	276
8	Hospital men make medical knowledge, 1760–1815	289
	To observe – and “make the tryal”	293
	Clinical territory: Whose case? Whose knowledge?	301
	Men of science: The lures of experiment	310
	Dangerous disputes	327
	Conclusion	335
	Appendix I: London hospital men, 1700–1815	343
	I.A: Physicians, surgeons, and accoucheurs elected to Guy’s, St. Thomas’s, St. Bartholomew’s, the London, the Westminster, St. George’s, and the Middlesex	343
	I.B: Numbers of positions for staff physicians and surgeons at the general hospitals, ca. 1700–1825	351
	I.C: Numbers of physicians elected to the general hospitals: Fellows, Licentiates, and nonmembers of the Royal College of Physicians, 1700–1820	352
	I.D: Numbers of physicians elected to each hospital: Fellows, Licentiates, and nonmembers of the Royal College of Physicians, 1700–1820	353
	I.E: Hospital surgeons and the Court of Assistants, Corporation/Royal College of Surgeons, 1745–1815	355
	Appendix II: London hospital pupils, 1725–1820	356
	II.A: Population growth and hospital pupils, 1771– 1821, indexed on 1771 at 100	356

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-36355-6 - Charitable Knowledge: Hospital Pupils and Practitioners in
Eighteenth-Century London
Susan C. Lawrence
Table of Contents
More information

Contents	ix
II.B: Hospital pupils and Army medical entrants, 1750–1820	357
II.C: St. Thomas’s Hospital: Entering pupils, 1725–1820	358
II.D: The London Hospital: Entering pupils, 1745–1820	359
II.E: St. George’s Hospital: Entering pupils, 1756–1820	359
II.F: The Middlesex Hospital: Entering pupils, 1765–1820	360
II.G: Guy’s Hospital: Entering pupils, 1778–1820	360
Appendix III: London medical lecturers, 1700–1820	361
Index	379