

Contents

List of illustrations	page vii
List of musical examples	viii
Preface	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
Notational conventions	xiv
PART I HISTORY, MUSIC AND TECHNIQUE	1
1 The revival	1
Arnold Dolmetsch	1
Other developments	4
Rediscovery of recorder making	5
Mass-production	7
Design problems	9
2 The contemporary recorder	11
Personalities	12
The recorder worldwide	17
3 The recorder	20
Derivation of the name	20
Description of the instrument	21
Musical characteristics	25
Material	26
Acoustics	27
Recorder design	28
The craft of recorder making	32
Design innovations	34
A 'modern' recorder?	35

Contents

4	Conventional recorder music and the heritage of the Baroque	37
	Early compositions	38
	The 1950s and after	44
5	The avant-garde	50
	Earliest examples	51
	New techniques	57
	Other significant compositions	59
6	The theatrical element	64
	Focus on the performer	66
	Vocal/instrumental techniques	70
	Graphic scores	72
	Electro-acoustic music	77
7	Modern techniques	82
	Non-standard fingerings	84
	Articulation	91
	Vibrato	94
	Special effects	97
8	Conclusions	116
	The recorder in amateur and educational music	116
	Repertoire	117
	Compositions of stature	118
	The recorder now	119
	Settling down	122
	New ground	124
	Appendix Non-standard fingerings	127
	PART II SELECT CATALOGUE OF TWENTIETH-CENTURY RECORDER MUSIC	137
	Index to catalogue	166
	Publishers and Music Information Centres	169
	Bibliography	171
	General index	175