

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-38183-3 - The Price of Health: Australian Governments and Medical Politics
1910–1960

James A. Gillespie

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

| | |
|--|----------|
| List of Tables | viii |
| Preface | ix |
| Acknowledgements | xiv |
| Abbreviations | xvi |
| | |
| Part I Medicine and the State: 1900 to 1939 | 1 |
| 1 'A Game of Animal Grab', Medical Practice, 1920-1939 | 3 |
| General practitioners and the medical market | 4 |
| 'The crux of present medical practice': the friendly societies | 7 |
| General practitioners, specialists and the 'closed' hospital | 15 |
| The dissolution of charity: outpatients and insurance | 24 |
| Appendix | 30 |
| 2 National Hygiene and Nationalization: the Failure of a Federal Health Policy, 1918-1939 | 31 |
| Progressives, liberals and national hygiene | 32 |
| The Commonwealth Department of Health and national health policy | 36 |
| National hygiene or social welfare? | 43 |
| The National Health and Medical Research Council and the new social medicine | 48 |

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-38183-3 - The Price of Health: Australian Governments and Medical Politics
1910–1960

James A. Gillespie

Table of Contents

More information

vi THE PRICE OF HEALTH

| | | |
|---|---|-----|
| 3 | Doctors, the States and Interwar Medical Politics | 57 |
| | The states and medical practice | 58 |
| | The hospital question | 60 |
| | Tasmania: the BMA defeated | 64 |
| | Queensland and nationalization: the first phase | 68 |
| | Cilento and the Queensland model | 73 |
| 4 | The Defeat of National Health Insurance | 87 |
| | Bacon and eggs for breakfast: the Kinnear scheme | 90 |
| | The campaign against NHI | 98 |
| | Employers, trade unionists and the death of national insurance | 105 |
| | The rural revolt | 109 |

Part II The Reconstruction of Medicine? Planning and Politics, 1940 to 1949

| | | |
|---|---|-----|
| 5 | The BMA Wins the War | 115 |
| | The politics of medical mobilization: the Central Medical Co-ordination Committee | 116 |
| | War and the BMA | 120 |
| | The BMA and the control of planning: the Emergency Medical Service | 126 |
| 6 | From 'Sales and Service' to 'Cash and Carry': the Planning of Postwar Reconstruction | 130 |
| | Wartime planning: the NHMRC from Menzies to Curtin | 131 |
| | Better than Beveridge?: the Joint Parliamentary Committee on Social Security | 144 |
| | The abandonment of salaried medicine | 154 |
| | Towards a national health service? | 162 |
| 7 | Paying the Doctor: the BMA Caught Between Salaried Medicine and Fee-for-Service | 166 |
| | The Federal Council and professional unity | 169 |
| | The Bell–Simmons report | 173 |
| | The BMA and a salaried service | 176 |
| | The BMA and the NHMRC scheme | 182 |
| | The ascendancy of fee-for-service | 185 |
| | Appendix | 195 |

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-38183-3 - The Price of Health: Australian Governments and Medical Politics
1910–1960

James A. Gillespie

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS vii

| | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 8 | Relieving the Patient, Not the Doctor: the Hospital Benefits Act | 196 |
| | Honoraries and equity: the ALP and hospital reform | 197 |
| | The Hospital Benefits Act and the medical profession | 200 |
| | The states and the Hospital Benefits Act | 203 |
| 9 | A War of Attrition: the Fate of the Pharmaceutical Benefits Scheme | 209 |
| | Pharmacists and friendly societies | 211 |
| | The BMA and the Pharmaceutical Benefits Act | 214 |
| | Fighting the socialist tiger | 220 |
| 10 | The Limits of Reform: the Chifley Government and a National Health Service, 1945–1949 | 233 |
| | The end of reconstruction | 234 |
| | Medical benefits and the BMA | 241 |
| | 'Free and complete?': the fate of the national health service | 246 |
| | Part III The Public and the Private | 251 |
| 11 | Private Practice, Publicly Funded: the Page Health Scheme | 253 |
| | The planning of the Page scheme | 255 |
| | Pharmaceutical benefits | 256 |
| | Towards residualism?: the Pensioners' Medical Service and cost control | 260 |
| | Medical benefits | 264 |
| | The BMA counter-attack and the end of contract practice | 271 |
| | Towards fee-for-service | 273 |
| | Hospital benefits | 276 |
| 12 | Conclusion | 280 |
| | Notes | 289 |
| | Bibliography | 334 |
| | Index | 349 |

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-38183-3 - The Price of Health: Australian Governments and Medical Politics
1910–1960

James A. Gillespie

Table of Contents

More information

viii THE PRICE OF HEALTH

Tables

| | | |
|-----|--|-----|
| 1.1 | Employment Status of Australian Medical Practitioners, 1921 | 5 |
| 1.2 | Membership of Friendly Societies, 1910–1949 | 10 |
| 1.3 | Expenditure of Friendly Societies, 1920–1949: Medical Attendance and Medicine | 11 |
| 1.4 | Expenditure of Friendly Societies, 1920–1949: Medical Attendance and Medicine at 1925–7 Prices | 12 |
| 1.5 | Public Hospital Outpatients, 1920–1950 | 24 |
| 1.6 | Numbers of Registered Medical Practitioners by State, 1920–1945 | 30 |
| 1.7 | Population per Registered Medical Practitioner by State, 1920–1945 | 30 |
| 2.1 | Employees of the Commonwealth Department of Health, 1922–1940 | 56 |
| 7.1 | BMA Branch Membership | 195 |
| 7.2 | BMA Membership as a Percentage of Registered Medical Practitioners in Each State | 195 |