

INDEX

Page numbers in italics refer to the sections of 'Related reading' at the end of each chapter.

- Ablaut, 138
  - 'accidents', 189–90
  - affixation, affixes, 131–3
  - Agau, 220
  - agglutinating languages, 4, 20f., 168–70, 204
    - basically agglutinating, 169
    - illustrated by Turkish, 107–14
  - allomorphs, allomorphy, 107, 121
    - basic, 146
  - alternation, alternants, 14, 114–19
    - and iconicity, 230–3
    - interdependence of, 197–8, 205
    - of parts of allomorphs, 114f.
    - suppletive, 140
      - types of, 115–17, 120
  - ambiguity of formatives, 203–4, 205
  - analogy, 8, 79–80, 81, 90–1, 192f.
  - ancient grammar, grammarians, 3, 24, 44, 186, 188–97, 200–4, 208
    - Indian, 3, 150
  - Ancient Greek
    - in ancient grammars, 3, 195–7
    - consonant alternations, 147–50, 160
    - eletykte*, 171–8, 180–1
    - as flexional language, 20f. 169–81
    - fusions, 151–7, 169f., 180
    - Noun endings, 170–1, 175, 179
    - reduplication, 133–5, 177
    - traditional and structuralist treatments, 185–8, 196f.
    - vowel gradation, 138–40, 170
  - Arabic, 138–40, 144, 209
  - arbitrariness, 223–5, 244
  - assimilation, 150
  - Athapaskan, 19, 132, 227
  - automatic alternation, 117
  - back-formations, 65–6
  - base, 131
  - basic forms, 146–9, 166
    - as basic allomorphs, 146
  - Birom, 141
  - blocking, 76 8, 81
  - Bloomfield, L., 4, 23, 90, 105, 142, 166, 185, 210f.
  - bound forms, 210
  - Burchfield, R. W., 31
  - Caesar, 149
  - 'categorial complexes', 41
  - categories, 13–14, 38 40, 41
    - as 'accidents', 190
    - central and peripheral, 226–33
    - marking of, 14; see also exponece
    - morphosyntactic, 38
    - vs properties, 39–40
    - semantic markedness, 236ff.
  - central and peripheral categories, 226–33
  - Chinese, 4, 20, 22, 206–7
  - Chomsky, N., 5–7, 20, 23, 32, 103, 120
  - clitics, 218–19, 221f.
  - cohesiveness, 210–11
  - collocations, 35f.
    - idiomatic, 95–7
    - lexicalised vs institutionalised, 100
  - competing formations, 69–75, 77
  - complementary distribution, 106f.
  - complex lexemes, 37
    - vs simple, 17f., 57–9
  - compound lexemes, 37
  - compounds, compounding, 14–15, 37f., 42, 82–101
    - vs constructions, idioms, 94–100
    - endocentric, exocentric, 90–2, 101
    - in inflectional paradigms, 220
    - minimalist and maximalist treatments, 91–2
    - as phonological units, 15, 97–8, 101
    - productivity, 83–4
    - root and synthetic, 101
    - as semantic and syntactic units, 82 3, 92, 95, 101
    - vs simple lexemes, 17, 93

INDEX

- and syntax, 85ff., 100f.
 vs word-formation, 37–8, 84, 93–4, 101
- concordances, 34–5
 conjugation vowels
     in Italian, 241f.
     in Spanish, 199f.
 contrastive distribution, 106
 conversion, 65, 81
 creativity, 62f., 69–70, 75–80 lexical vs syntactic, 76
 cumulation, cumulative exponents, 179f., 181, 184
- Darwin, C., 3 deep structure, 6, 87f., 101 ‘derivational morphology’, 41, 59, 61–3;
     see word-formation
 derivational structure of paradigms, 194 vs semantic, 194–6
 design features, 11, 23
 diachrony, see language change vs synchrony, 78–80
 diacritic features, 165, 167
 diagrammatic relations, 224; see iconicity dictionaries, 2, 15–16, 25–6, 31–2, 83 vs grammars, 43, 49–54
 discontinuous morphs, 140
 dissimilation, 150 distributional analysis, 106f., 120 domain of alternations, 117 Donatus, 189–91, 204
 double articulation, 9–11, 20, 23, 28
 duality, see double articulation
- ease of articulation, 149
 enclitics, 218
 endocentric compounds, 90–2, 101
 English
     Adjectives in -able, 70, 81
     Agent Nouns, 17–18, 67–8
     Comparatives, 49–51
     compounds, 14f., 82–100
     as flexional language, 169
     Negative Adjectives, 66–81 passim
     Nouns in (at)ion, 16f., 43, 50–4, 57,
         62–78 passim
     Nouns in -ess, 75–6
     Nouns in -th, -ness, -ity, 57, 70–9, 81
     n't, 207, 219, 221
     Participial Adjectives, 15–16, 55–6, 60,
         74
     Past Participles, 13–14, 105–7, 115–20, 122–30, 145–6
     Plurals, 12–13, 118, 122–30
         -'s, 118, 219, 221
     stress shift, 141–2
- Verb phrases, 4–6, 23, 219f.
 Vowel changes, 125, 128–9, 136f., 144
 epenthesis, 151
 established vs potential lexemes, 76–8, 81
 ‘euphony’, 149
 exceptions, 130
 exemplary paradigms, 190–2, 197f.
 exocentric compounds, 90–2, 101
 exponence, exponents, 175 assigned by rules, 175–9, 183
     types of, 179–83
 extended exponence, exponents, 180–2
- first articulation, 10 fixed ordering, 212–13
 flexional languages, 4, 20f., 169ff., 204 formal principles, 20f.
 formations, 63
     inflectional, 126
     rules for, 63–9, 126–30
 formatives, 42, 63, 127
     ambiguous, 203–4
     in Chomskyan usage, 200
     as exponents, 175ff.
     inflectional, 127
     lexical, 63
 free forms, 210
 French
     Adjectives in -al/-el, 58f., 60
     clitics, 218–19, 221
     compound Tenses, 219–21
     Feminine Adjectives, 142f., 144
     problem of word, 216–21
 fused marking, 180
 fusion, 151ff., 169, 180
 fusional languages, 169
- generative grammar, 7, 63
 generative phonology, 7, 8, 23, 60, 142, 144, 166
 German, 93, 99–100, 182, 212
 Goodwin, W. W., 149 grammar vs dictionaries, 43, 49–50
     vs phonology, 10f.
     ‘grammatical words’, 30, 40
     grammatically conditioned alternation,
         116, 181, 230ff.
 Grassmann’s law, 148
 Greek, see Ancient Greek, Modern Greek
 Grimm, J., 139
- Harris, Z. S., 5, 7, 104, 119
 historical morphology, see language change
 Hjelmslev, L., 4, 23

INDEX

- Hockett, C. F., 21f., 119 homonymy, 27–9, 33, 42; see also syncretism
     lexical, 28f.
- iconicity, 223, 45
     as explanatory principle, 243–4 laws of, 228
     syntagmatic vs paradigmatic, 225
     in syntax, 224–5
- idioms, 95–7
 idiosyncratic meanings of complex lexemes, 16f., 52f., 67
     of compounds, 83, 92, 95
     of idioms, 95f.
- indeterminacy, 42, 54–9, 93ff.
- Indo-European, 54f., 131, 138–40, 148, 171, 227
- inflection, infixes, 131–2
- inflection, inflections, 13–14
     in ancient grammar, 190ff.
     vs clitics, 217–19
     interdependence of, 197–8, 205
     order of, 19, 212–13, 226ff.
     regular and irregular, 130, 143
     as syntactically determined, 46–51, 59
- inflectional classes, 129f.
- inflectional formations, 126
     rules for, 127–30, 143, 175–9
- inflectional formatives, 127
- inflectional morphemes, 102
- inflectional morphology vs compounding, 37–8, 42 vs lexical morphology, 36–8 vs syntax, 206–22
     vs word-formation, 37–8, 42–57, 59f.
- inflectional stems, 176–9, 230–3
- isolating languages, 4, 20f., 206–7
- Italian
     consonant and vowel length, 158
     Gender, Number, 44–9, 53, 59, 61–2, 65
     iconicity in, 226–31, 241–4 nasals, 158–60
     palatalisation, 163–5, 167
     Past Tense and Participles, 157–63
     –sc-, 54f.
     soccombufo?, 53f.
     word in, 209–11
     word stress, 140f., 241–3
- Item and Arrangement, 22, 126, 145, 168–70, 174f., 181, 208, 216
- Item and Process, 22, 126, 145, 170, 183 vs ancient and traditional treatments, 185ff.
     rules for, 126–30, 145f., 175–8
- labelled bracketing, 63
- language change, 7–9, 42, 54f., 207–8, 243–4
     and indeterminacy, 55, 93
- Latin
     Adjectives in -id-, 64f.
     in ancient and traditional treatments, 3, 21f., 44, 188–95
     clitics, 217–18
     compounds, idioms, 95–7
     Future Participles, 200–1
     Inchoatives, 54f.
     lact→lac, 149f.
     lexemes, words, word-forms, 24ff.
     nasal infix, 132f.
     Noun paradigms and endings, 39, 191–4, 197–8, 234, 241
     periphrastic forms, 220, 236–8 reduplication, 135f.
     syncretism in Neuters, 27–8, 202f.
     Verb inflection, 231–3, 244
     vowel change, 136, 138
     word in, 209–15
- Latinate forms in English, 57, 71–80 passim
     in French, 58f., 60
- laws vs tendencies, 20, 228, 243, 245
- leading forms, 191, 205
- learned forms, see Latinate forms
- Lewis, G. L., 149
- lexemes, 26, 40
     complex, compound, simple, 37 in concordances, etc., 34–6 established vs potential, 76–8, 81 vs words, word-forms, 24–31
- lexical formations, 63; see also compounds, word-formation lexical formatives, 63
     as central elements, 229–31
- lexical vs inflectional morphemes, 102
- lexical morphology, 37; see also lexicalist
     morphology
- lexicalisation, 100
- lexicalist morphology, 40f., 59–60, 101
- lexically conditioned alternation, 116
- lexically restricted alternation, 117
- lexicography, see dictionaries
- limits of analysis, 17f., 23
- Luxembourgish, 182–3
- Lyons, J., 36
- main exponents, 181, 230–3
- markedness, 234–44, 245
- marking of categories, 14; see also exponence
- fused, 180
     and semantic markedness, 236ff.
- Martinet, A., 8
- Meillet, A., 138f.

INDEX

- Merguet, H., 34
 metarules, 201–3, 205
 minimal free forms, 210f.
 minus formation, 142 models of analysis, 21; see also Item and Arrangement, Item and Process Modern Greek, 209, 238–41
 modification, 136–43
     accentual and tonal, 140–2 direction of, 137–40
 morphemes, 12, 20 2, 102–21
     bound, 210
     as distributional unit, 103–4 history and senses of term, 120 inflectional vs lexical, 102 vs morphs, allomorphs, 107 and proportional analysis, 104–5
     as sames of form and meaning, 105, 113–14
 morphemically conditioned alternation, 116 morphemically restricted alternation, 117 morphological processes, 122–44
     types of, 130–43, 143
 morphological transformations, 193f., 198–201, 205
     vs metarules, 203
     of stems, 200–1 morphologically conditioned alternation, 116
 morphology
     in antiquity, 3, 188–97
     in Chomskyan linguistics, 5–9; see also generative phonology combined with syntax, 4–6, 12, 102–3, 208
     general theory of, 19–22
     historical, see language change lexical vs inflectional, 36–8, 42–57
     in nineteenth and twentieth centuries,
         2 9
     scope and limits, 9–19
     structuralist vs traditional treatments, 185ff.
 morphophonemic processes, 146
     phonetically natural, 165 and phonology, 158ff.
     as sandhi, 150
 morphophonemics, morphophonology, 145–67
     vs morphology, phonology, 157–65, 166 rules of, 161
 morphosyntactic categories, 38–40, 194;
     see also categories
 morphosyntactic features, properties, 40 ‘morphosyntactic word’, 40 morphs, 107
 motivation, 19f.; see also iconicity
     phonological, 161
 Müller, M., 3 natural vs arbitrary relations, 223–5 natural languages, 223f.
 natural morphology, 205, 245
 Navaho, 19, 132–3
 neutralisation
     in phonology, 159–61, 166
     = syncretism, 28
 non-fusional languages, 169 non-recurrent alternations, 115 norm vs system, 81
 operations, see formations, Item and Process, morphological processes, morphological transformations order of inflections, 19, 212–13, 226ff.
 overlapping markers, exponents, 180–1, 230–3
 ‘paradigm economy’, 205 paradigmatic iconicity, 225, 234–44 paradigmatic relations, 225, 244 paradigms, 38–40, 185–205
     derivational vs semantic structure, 194–6
     exemplary, 190–2, 197f.
     gaps in, 53f.
     in learning languages, 187f., 233
     periphrasis in, 219–20
 ‘parasitic formations’, 183, 205
 ‘parsing’, 189
 partially independent elements, 18, 23 parts of speech, 43–4, 189 ‘percolation’, 183–4 peripheral and central categories, 226–33
 periphrastic forms, periphrasis, 220, 236–8
 phonaesthesia, 18, 23
 phonemes, 11, 24, 106
 phonemically conditioned alternation, 116; see also morphophonemics
 phonetic naturalness, 165 phonetics, 2
 phonological motivation, 161, 167
 phonological word, 218 = word-form, 30
 phonologically conditioned alternation, 116; see also morphophonemics
 phonology, 2
     distributional, 106
     generative, see generative phonology and morphophonemics, 157ff.
     as criterion for word, 209f.
 Plato, 223

INDEX

- popular etymology, 83
- Portuguese, 214
- potential lexemes, 76–7
- pragmatics, 2
- prefixation, prefixes, 131f.
- primary articulation, 10
- Priscian, 193–4
- proclitics, 218
- productivity, 69–80
  - of compounding, 83f.
  - as variable, 69–74, 78
- progressive assimilation, 150
- properties vs categories, 39–40
- proportional analysis, 13–14, 104–5, 122, 192
- Quirk, R. et al., 44, 91–2, 142
- recurrent alternations, 115
- recursiveness, 213–14
- reduplication, 133–6, 143
  - in compounding and syntax, 143
  - partial, complete, 134f.
- regressive assimilation, 150
- regular forms, 130, 143
- root compounds, 101
- roots, 26, 64ff., 80f., 127
- rules vs analogy, 79–80, 90–1
- rules of sandhi, 150
- Russian, 179f., 234–6
- sandhi, 149–57, 166, 180
- sandhi forms, 150
- Sanskrit, 3, 26
- Sapir, E., 211
- Saussure, F. de, 7, 78, 225
- second, secondary articulation, 11
- semantic structure of paradigms, 194
  - vs derivational, 194–6
- semantically marked, unmarked, 236
- semantics, 2
- semi-productivity, 69, 76f., 81, 83f.
- Semitic, 138f.
- simple exponence, exponents, 179
- simple lexemes, 37
- Spanish, 198–200, 203
- stems, 26, 64ff., 80f., 127
  - inflectional, 176–9, 230f.
- stress change, 140–2
- subtraction, 142
- suffixation, suffixes, 131
- superfixes, 142
- suppletion, suppletive alternation, 59, 139–40
- synchrony vs diachrony, 78–80
- syncretism, 27–8, 40, 202–4
- syntagmatic iconicity, 225–33, 245
- syntagmatic relations, 225
- syntax
  - and compounding, 85ff., 100f.
  - as criterion for inflections, 46–51, 59
  - vs inflectional morphology, 206–22
  - transformational, 6, 87f.
- synthetic compounds, 101
- system vs norm, 81
- tendencies vs laws, 20, 228, 243
- terminations, 176
- Theodosius of Alexandria, 195–7
- tmesis, 99
- tokens vs types, 32, 40
- tonal modification, 141
- Turkish
  - as agglutinating language, 4, 20, 107–17, 170
  - Causatives, 214
  - consonant alternations, 112–15
  - soft g, 112f., 151, 169
  - structure of Nouns, 108–14 passim, 228–9, 234–6
  - vowel harmony, 110–12, 114f., 146f., 149
  - word in, 213, 215–16
- transformations, 87f.
  - morphological, see morphological transformations
- types vs tokens, 32, 40
- typology of languages, 3f., 20–2, 22f., 168–70
- Umlaut, 182
- universals, 20, 205
- unmarked terms, 236ff.
- unproductive formations, 70
- Varro, 75
- vowel change, 125, 128–9, 136–8
- vowel harmony, 111; see also Turkish
- Welsh, 235–6
- Word and Paradigm, 21f., 183
- word counts, 32–4
- word-formation, 15–18, 37, 42–57, 59f., 61–81
  - vs compounding, 37f., 84
  - as ‘derivation’, 41
  - vs etymology, 17, 23
  - gaps in, 51f., 60, 69
  - as lexeme-formation, 37, 63f.
  - marked centrally, 229–31
  - meaning in, 16f., 52–4, 66–9, 81
  - productivity, 69–80, 81

INDEX

- recursiveness, 214
- rules for, 63–9
- word-forms, 30f.
- words
  - in ancient grammars, 188ff.
  - characteristics of, 209–15
  - vs clitics, 218–19
  - in defining morphology, 9, 207
  - grammatical representations of, 29, 102f., 125–6, 168
  - vs lexemes, word-forms, 24–31
  - as minimal free forms, 210
  - phonological, 218
  - problem of definition, 4, 207–10, 215–19, 221
  - related as wholes, 186ff.
- zero morphs, 123–4, 143
- zero-derivation, 65, 81