

Subject index

Page numbers in italics indicate material in tables or figures.

- ability, 15–16, 206
- ability group, 63, 231n2
- ability grouping
 - alternatives to, 215–20
 - arguments for and against, 213–15
 - effects of, 202, 212–13
 - research on effects of, 210
- ability group placement, 86
 - effect of, in infant school on junior school, 52
 - in English and mathematics, 231n2
 - school type and, 85, 86
 - in secondary schools, 70–1, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76
 - sex segregation and school type and, 64–5
 - teachers' ratings of students and, 52–3
 - test scores and, 64
- ability groups
 - continuity of placement in, 59
 - in junior schools, 47, 50–1
 - socioeconomic status and placement in, 43
 - see also* tracks within schools
- academic achievement
 - best predictor of, 206
 - structural effects on postsecondary, 106–11
- academic success, socioeconomic status and, 8–9
- access to resources and opportunities, 198
- achievement
 - discontinuities between, in school and in labor force, 131
 - effects of structural location on junior school, 55–8
 - measures of, 19, 31
 - structural effects on, in labor force, 20, 81–3, 84, 85, 86, 128–32, 136, 171–2
- see also* academic achievement
- advanced (A-level) examinations, 82
- advantages due to school type and ability group placement, 83
- age-homogeneous classes in infant school, 46
- A-level examinations, 82, 102
 - avenues to, 99
 - as prerequisite to university education, 90
 - public vs. private sector employment and, 122
- alternative pathways, 91
- analysis used in the study
 - logic of, 32–4
 - schematic outline of, 32
- analytic strategy of the study, 29–34
- apprenticeships, 91, 94
- attainment, see status attainment
- British–American comparisons, 90, 113, 220–3
 - alternatives for adolescents and, 4
 - public vs. private employment and, 121
- British school system, sequential structure in, 27–9
- British secondary schools, organizational structure of, 62
- career
 - as central life course concept, 13–15
 - deflection of, 208
 - firm size and, 119–20
 - institutional structure and individual's, 223–4
- career line, 137, 154, 160, 201
 - as central life concept, 13–15
 - continuity of level in (during educational career), 163
 - most frequent four-stage, 163

Cambridge University Press

0521433975 - Diverging Pathways: Social Structure and Career Deflections

Alan C. Kerckhoff

Index

More information250 Subject index

- career line (cont.)
 during three stages of school career, 154–7 see also linkages
- career stages
 continuity across, 15
 multistage structural linkages and four, 157, 158, 159
- Certificate of Secondary Education (CSE) examinations, 82
- cohort in study, 23–7
- colleges of education, 94, 102
- comprehensive secondary schools, 62 ability group placement in, 71, 72 higher education for women in low- to middle-ability groups in, 102 as primary secondary schools, 67
- control variables, 31
- cumulative effects of structure, 166, 201 on achievements, 187–96 additive vs. interactive, 167 common metric for, 167–9
 during educational career, 173–5 educational policy and, 210–20 effects of educational and labor force structures on, 175–9 measurement of, 169–73
 on occupational prestige by age twenty-three, 182–5 prospective analysis of, 185–7 on qualifications by age twenty-three, 179, 180, 181–2 reasons for, 204–6 reductions in regularity of, 208
see also structural effects
- data
 missing, 67
 used in study, 1
- data collected after age sixteen, analysis of, 29
- data sets covering extended portion of life course, 22
- education effects of organizational divisions in, 199–201 status attainment and, 5
 educational attainment models of, 10
 social inequality and, 7 educational credentials, 219
see also qualifications education–occupation relationship, 197 elementary school, 38–9 bases for infant school teachers' ratings of students and, 53, 54, 55 distribution of students in infant school structure and, 39, 40, 41 and effects of structural location on infant school achievement, 44–6 and effects of structural location on junior school achievement, 55–8 and placement process in infant schools, 41–4 sorting and processing in, 58–61 elite schools, 70
 ability group placement in, 74, 75
 further education of men from high-ability groups in, 102 employers' responses to employees' taking postsecondary courses, 130–1 employment stability in industrial sectors, 124 public sector and, 122 size of firm and, 119–20
 English, ability group placement in, 231n2 equal educational opportunity, 7–8 examinations, see General Certificate of Education (GCE) examinations; names of specific examinations, e.g.,
 A-level examinations
- firm size, 118–21
- further education, 94
- General Certificate of Education (GCE) examinations, 82 effect of single sex school on, 86 grammar schools, 62, 107 talented students in public sector and, 67
- hierarchical position at secondary school stage, measures of, 168–9
- higher education, 91, 94 high academic achievement and entry into, 102 secondary school examinations and teachers' ratings and entry into, 111
- inequality, theories of, 6–8
- infant school analysis, limitations of, 43, 45, 46
- infant schools
 age-homogeneous classes in, 46
 private, 39, 40, 41
see also elementary school
- infant school structures, effects of background on placement in, 42–3
- institutional arrangements, individual attainments and, 198
- institutional inertia, 52, 59, 70, 88, 200, 205–6

Subject index

251

- institutional processes, 60
 instructional processes, 60
- junior school factors in placement of students in ability groups in, 50–1, 52 locations in secondary school and in, 140–1, 142–3 streaming in different types of, 47
 structural location in, 46–7, 48, 49, 50–1, 52–3
- junior school achievement, effects of structural location on, 55–8
- labor force
 age of entry into, 117–18 entry into, at age sixteen, 90 experience in (by age twenty-three), 119 impact of location of first job in, 132 measure of achievement in, 114–15 postsecondary qualifications and experience in, 117–18 return to school from, 91
 structural location in, 115
- labor force achievement, structural effects on, 128–32
- labor force entry level structural locations, 126–8
 firm size and, 118–21
 industrial sector and, 123–6
 public or private employment and, 121–3
- labor force structural effects, sources of, 208–10
- labor force structural location, postsecondary school location and, 148–51
- labor force structure, effects of, 206–8
- labor markets, internal, 9–10, 130
- life course
 continuity of structural level across, 20 data sets covering extended portions of, 22
 deviations from continuity in, 16–17
 National Child Development Study and stages in, 27–9 patterns of, 11
 stages in, after leaving secondary school, 28–9
- life course analysis, 2–6
- life course concepts, “career” and “career line” as central, 13–15
- linkages between junior and secondary school locations, 139–41 multistage structural, 33–4, 152–63 between postsecondary school courses and industrial sector, 150–1
- between postsecondary school courses and size of firm, 149–50
- between secondary and postsecondary school locations, 141, 144–5, 146–7
- two-stage structural, 139–41, 142–3, 144–5, 146–7, 148–52
see also career line
- mathematics
 ability group placement in, 63, 231n2 separating students by month of birth and achievement in, 44–6 single-sex school effects on examination in, 86
 structural effects on achievement in, 56–8, 83 test scores in (as measure of academic achievement), 81–3, 84
- mathematics ability, teachers’ ratings of infant school students’, 53, 230n6
- missing information, 67
- month of birth, separating students by, 44–6
- National Child Development Study (NCDS), 23–4 analytic strategy and, 29–34 data collection phases of, 28 and sample and sample attrition, 24–7 stages in life course and, 27–9
- National Children’s Bureau (NCB), 23
- new structuralism, 9–11
- number work, see mathematics ability
- nursery schools: private, 41 test performance and previous attendance in, 44
- occupational prestige effects of firm characteristics on, 128–30 factors in, 131–5
- occupational rewards, effect of postsecondary courses on, 130–1, 207–8
- on-the-job training, 91, 94, 115–16
- Open University, 94
- opportunities, structural location and, 9, 18
- ordinary (O-level) examinations, 82
- paper persons, 205–6
- part-time schooling, 91, 115
- personal characteristics, social structure and, 12
- person–structure interaction, 15–17
- polytechnical schools (“polytechnics”), 94

Cambridge University Press

0521433975 - Diverging Pathways: Social Structure and Career Deflections

Alan C. Kerckhoff

Index

More information252 Subject index

- postsecondary course work
 - effect of, on occupational rewards, 130–1, 207–8
 - effect of various kinds of, 203
- postsecondary educational opportunities, 90–1
- postsecondary educational programs
 - antecedents to entry into, 99, 100–1, 102–3
 - voluntary nature of, 114
- postsecondary school structural location, work location and, 148–51
- private schools, 62, 64, 67
 - continuity of attendance in, 70
 - sex difference in attendance in, 194
- private sector, less credentialed students absorbed by, 122
- qualifications
 - added after entering first job, 120–1, 125
 - adding to (after secondary school), 107–8
 - avenues to and sources of additional, 91, 95, 96–7, 98, 109, 110–12, 233n1
 - British, 90
 - distribution of, at age twenty-three, 93
 - factors affecting postsecondary, 112
 - labor force experience and postsecondary, 117
 - postsecondary institutions and levels of, 92, 94–5, 96–7, 98
 - secondary school factors and, 110
 - socioeconomic status and women's gains in, 110
- qualifications—prestige association, 131
- reading ability, teachers' ratings of infant school students', 53, 230n6
- reference category, one type of secondary school as, 67
- research
 - and different emphases on education and work, 19
 - see also data entries; National Child Development Study (NCDS); status attainment research
- sample of cohort in the study, 24–7
- schools
 - ability group placement in, 17, 43, 59
 - inequalities created by, 9
 - internal organization of, 8
- school stages, multistage structural linkages and three, 154–7
- school types
 - advantages due to placement in different, 83
 - and effect on ability group placement, 85, 86
 - factors influencing distribution of students within each of the, 87
 - placement in hierarchy of, 86
- Scotland, school system of, 233n1
- secondary education
 - comprehensive schools as primary site for, 67
 - reorganization of (mid-1960s), 62
 - school types for, 67–8, 69, 70
- secondary modern schools, 107
 - ability group placement in, 71, 73, 74
 - entry into higher education and, 98–9
 - less talented students in public sector and, 67
- secondary school examinations, 82, 86
 - qualifications by age twenty-three and level of passed, 108, 109
- secondary schools
 - ability group placement in, 70–1, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76
 - distributions of structural locations in, 63–5
 - elite, 64
 - factors in assignment of students to different types of, 68, 69, 70
 - junior school teachers' ratings of students and, 76–8, 79, 80, 81
 - measures of academic achievement in, 81–3, 84
 - missing information about type of, 67
 - single-sex, 65–7
 - structural effects on achievement in, 81–3, 84, 85, 86
 - types of, 62, 67–8, 69, 70
- separating students on basis of ability and achievement, effects of, 89–90
- sex differences, 64
 - in access to further education, 195
 - in consistency in career lines, 192–3
 - in effects of working in public vs. private sectors, 132
 - in employment stability in industrial firms, 124
 - in fit between postsecondary and labor force structural locations, 195
 - in increase in qualifications after entering labor force, 120–1
 - in industrial sectors where employed, 126
 - in labor force experiences, 207
 - in linkage between postsecondary and industrial sector locations, 162, 208

Subject index

253

- in postsecondary schooling, 112, 181, 184, 208, 234n7
- in prestige associated with industrial sector, 132
- in private school attendance, 194
- in qualification gains after entering labor force, 125
- in qualification gains for those with poorer academic backgrounds, 181–2, 189–90, 192, 194–5
- in structural deflections of occupational prestige, 208
- in structural effects on occupational prestige by age twenty-three, 17, 184–5
 - see also* women
- sex segregation, 62–3, 64, 65–7
- skill, 16
- social class, 185
 - see also* socioeconomic status
- social inequality, educational attainment and, 7
- social mobility, individual differences and, 10
- social mobility analysis, 5
- social structure, personal characteristics and, 12
- society, structural nature of, 9
- socioeconomic status, 59, 60, 61
 - ability group placement and, 43, 58
 - academic success and, 8–9
 - bias according to, 52
 - location in infant school structure and, 43
 - single-sex schools and, 66–7
 - teachers' assessment of students' academic ability and, 52–3, 58
 - test performance and, 58, 83
- status attainment, 4–6, 9–10
 - Duncan model of, 11
 - societal context of, 6–9
- status attainment model, 11–13
- status attainment research, 5–6
 - basic data in, 14
- streams within schools, see tracks within schools
- structural deflections, 201, 208
- structural effects, 9–11, 17–20, 60
 - on academic achievement in secondary schools, 88
 - additive, 167
 - diverging achievements and, 20–1
 - major contributions to, 153
 - measuring (across career stages) of cumulative, 169–73
 - see also* cumulative effects of structure
- structural information, ability inferred from, 16–17
- structural linkages, see linkages
- structural locations
 - computing cumulative effects on individual's successive, 168
 - continuous, across life cycle, 20
 - effect of prior stage's, 205–6, 208
 - effects of, on achievement, 33, 84, 85
 - effects of, on personal characteristics, 18–19
 - entry-level labor force, 118–28
 - of first jobs, 207
 - in infant schools, 39, 40, 41, 44–6
 - in junior schools, 48, 55–8
 - linkage between junior school and secondary school, 140–1, 142–3
 - linkage between secondary school and postsecondary school, 141, 144–5, 146–7
 - measuring cumulative effects of, 167–73
 - opportunities and, 18
 - rewards and, 18, 19
 - in secondary schools, 63–5, 81–3, 84, 85, 86
- structural placement, 33
 - students' backgrounds and infant school, 42–3
- structure, see person–structure interaction
- student performance, consistency of, 206
- student self-determination, 203
- teachers' expectations, students' cumulative records and, 205
- teachers' ratings of students
 - criteria for, 206
 - effects in secondary school of junior school, 76–8, 79, 80, 81, 102
 - effects of, on ability group placement, 52–3
 - entry into higher education and, 102, 103
 - infant school, 53, 54, 55, 78
 - influence of students' previous structural locations on, 205–6, 208
 - in junior school, 76–8, 79, 80, 81, 87
 - in secondary school, 103, 104, 105–6
 - shaping of students' academic careers and, 112
 - socioeconomic status of students and, 52–3, 58, 105, 111
 - unjustified consistency in, 81
- test performance, effects of socioeconomic status on, 58, 83
- tracks within schools, 8–9, 10, 11, 47

Cambridge University Press

0521433975 - Diverging Pathways: Social Structure and Career Deflections

Alan C. Kerckhoff

Index

More information

254 Subject index

training, 94

firm size and additional, 120

see also apprenticeships; on-the-job training

universities, 94

university education, A-level examinations as prerequisite to, 90 vacancy chains within companies, 10 variables, description of, 225–7

see also control variables

Wales, school system of, 233n1

Wisconsin model, 5, 6

women

distributions of, in labor force, 191–2 from low- or middle-ability groups in comprehensive schools, 102

see also sex differences work structural locations, postsecondary school locations and, 148–51