

Index

- abolition of slavery: abolitionist movement, 159–60; effects by province, 167–8; reaction by business interest groups, 168–9; rural credit, effect on, 150
- Abrantes, Miguel Calmon du Pin e Almeida, Marquis, 23
- Agricultural, Commercial, and Industrial Society of Bahia, 23–5
- Agricultural Congress of Rio de Janeiro in 1884, 162
- agricultural credit: 132–3, 144–52; factors as source, 94–5; reasons for lack of, 144–6; reform of legislation, 149–50; see also crop collateral
- Agricultural Industrial Center: and annulment of binding labor contracts, 167; and commercial associations, 219; dates of activity, 55; history, 219–20; rural land tax advocacy, 219; Special Tariff for Rio Grande do Sul, 219–20
- agricultural interest groups, 55–7; reasons for scarcity of, 57; see also agricultural societies and clubs
- agricultural societies and clubs, 56, 161, 162
- agriculture: business interest group impact on, 120–1; and business interest groups, 4, 332–3; commercial association concern for, 93–4; commercial associations as spokesmen for, 93–4; innovations, 9, 97–8; technological backwardness, 96–8, 332; see also planters
- Agriculture Auxiliary Society of Pernambuco: and central sugar mills, 108; coffee growing in province, promotion of, 117; legislation protecting borrowers, 146; low exchange rate advocacy, 141; membership and aims, 56–7; mortgage bank, 135; Political Center for Farming, Commerce, and Industry, 325; proslavery congress organizer, 163
- Agriculture Club of Campinas, São Paulo, 56
- Agriculture and Commerce Club, 160
- Aid to Agriculture bill, 150–1
- Aid to Industry bill, 223–4
- Alagôas (province and state), 103–4, 222; see also Commercial Association of Maceió
- Amazonas (province and state), 197, 198–9, 247; see also Commercial Association of Amazonas
- Amazon Navigation and Commerce Company, 247–8
- Amazon region, 118–19, 128–31, 247–8
- Amazon Steam Navigation Company, 248–9
- annual reports, 46–7, 71, 299
- Araújo, José Antônio de, 277
- Arcos, count dos, 18
- arson, 291
- Auxiliary Society for National Industry: activities, 55; applications for patents evaluation, 58; Brazil's foremost learned society, 24; as supporter of industrialization, 214–15; tariff debate of 1877, 215
- aviadores*: and Commercial Association of Pará, 128, 130–1; conflict against exporters, 89, 128–31; importance in Amazon, 128–9; see also factors
- Bahia (province and state): cacao, 118; coffee, 114, 116, 118; and Commercial Association of Bahia, 75; coronelismo, 326; cotton, 104; counterfeiting, 291–2; European goods in, 202–3; federalism in, 23–4; immigration, public support for, 171, 172; industrialization, 203, 204, 208–9; industrialization, provincial aid for, 207–8; provincial export tax rates, 198; provincial tariffs, 186–90; public debt, 189–90; Republic, early years of, 325–8; rural credit lacking, 144; slavery, transition from, 167; statistics, lack of, 298; tobacco, 117–8; traveling salesmen, tax on, 294–5; usina, 109; see also Commercial Association of Bahia
- Bahian Immigration Society, 172
- Bahian Navigation Company, 31

- Bank of Brazil: Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro leaders, 62; foundation, 134, 137; Republic makes rural loans available through, 154; rural credit, restriction by, 148; rural credit, source of, 146
- Bank of Land Credit of Brazil, 143, 148
- Bank of Land Credit of Pernambuco, 148
- Bank of the Republic of Brazil, 135, 152, 223–4
- bankruptcy, 290; fraudulent, 290–1
- banks: business interest group creation of, 133–5; and business interest group leaders, 62
- Bank of South America, 135
- Bank of the United States of Brazil, 225, 226
- Barbosa, Rui: Commercial Association of Santos, hosted by, 267, 318; on foreigners in overseas trade, 79, 318; import duties in gold, 224–5; Mercantile Company, aid for, 131; reelection defeat in 1884, 163; Santos customs house, 267; statistics, publication of, 299
- Bastos, Manuel José, 39
- Belém, Pará: Amazonas, commercial domination of, 198; docking facilities problem, 264; Mediterranean, steamer connection to, 252, 253; rail linkage prospect for trade, 239; rail linkage threat to trade, 242; street paving and Commercial Association of Pará, 303; trade area, 236, 247; United States, steamer connections to, 252–3; yellow fever, 304; see also Commercial Association of Pará
- Birckhead, James, 158
- Bittencourt, Carlos Machado, 307, 321
- Boards of Inspection of Sugar and Tobacco, 16
- Bom Fim, José Francisco de Mesquita, marquis, 61
- Bragança, Pará, 242
- Brasiliense, Américo, 322
- Brazilian-United States reciprocity treaty of 1891, 36–7
- Brazilian Warrant Company, 126
- bribery, 70, 180–1
- British banks, 136–7
- brokers, 292–4; Brokers' Board, 293, 294; of coffee, 115–16; commercial association control over, 292–4; of public funds, 294; zangões, 293
- Bueno, Manuel Antônio Pimenta, 39, 248
- business elite: agriculture, relations with, 42, 93–6; changes in public perceptions of, 88–90; concept of class solidarity, 81–3; diversity of economic interests, 330–1; Empire, emergency funding for, 312; examination through business interest groups, 4–5, 329–31; foreignness, effects of, 329–30; foreign majority in, 2, 8–9, 34–5, 79–81; images of piety and patriotism, 87–8; Luís Vianna, aggression by, 327–8; merchant, profession of, 295–6; mistrusted in Luso-Brazilian culture, 2; nationality, 35–6, 38, 330; political views, 5; public image, 76–81; status, 11, 77–8, 91; see also business interest group leaders
- business interest group leaders: authority, 30–1; economic interests, diversity of 37–43, 330–1; economic interests, minority, 43–4; foreign majority, 32–6, 45, 45–6; kinship ties, 60; personal relationships, 60–3; reasons for service, 31–2
- business interest group organization: accounts committees, 47; boards of directors, 30–46; extraordinary general assembly, 47; fees and dues, 52; finances, 50–3; lack of nationwide representation, 58; membership, 46–50, 53; oligarchic domination, 30–1, 46–7; size of groups, 49–50
- business interest groups: advisory and regulatory powers, 58–60; agriculture, 120–1, 332–3; and banking, credit, and currency, 154–5, 332; and communications, 258–62, 333; development role summarized, 337–8; disunity among, 337; economic integration, 302, 310, 331–2; electoral activity, 65–7; emergence and disappearance of, 26–9; and export taxes, 200–1; industrialization, 230–1, 334; influence, evaluation of, 73–6; influence, potential for, 54, 331; and manpower policy, 176; and middle-class ideology, 85–6; monetary conservatism, 141–2; political assets, 2–3; political non-partisanship, 65; port efficiency and safety, 282–3; as protectors of the common man, 83–4, 225; public relations, 76–7, 91, 334–5; public services, 86–7; and the Republic, 328; Republic, transition to the, 311; slavery, preservation of, 156, 333; small farmers, support for immigration of, 170; taxation, attitudes toward, 178–9; and taxation policy, 200–1; urban integration, 302, 310, 331–2; see also business interest group leaders, business interest group organization, business services of business interest groups
- business personnel: auxiliary agents of commerce, 49, 292–3; commercial association control over, 292–6; translators, 294; traveling salesmen, 294–5; see also brokers
- business practice: coffee trade, 123, 280; enforcing honesty, 289–92; letters of exchange, 280, 288; payment by check, 288; regulation and standardization of, 285–8; usages and customs of the business community, 287–8

- business public relations, 76–7, 91, 334–5
business services of business interest groups:
business information exchange, 300–1; commercial libraries, 300; current prices, 299–
300; evaluation of machines, 107, 114–15, 301; information, 297–301; maritime information, 300; private tribunals, 288–9;
schooling, 301–2; see also statistics
- caixeiros*, 49, 80, 327; tax on foreign, 80
- Campos, Bernardino de, 125–6, 271, 272, 274–5
- Canudos, Bahia, 326
- Capanema, Guilherme S., 255
- Carvalho, Felipe Nery de, 25, 53
- Caxias, Luís Alves de Lima e Silva, duke of, 60
- Ceará (province and state): 161; see also Commercial Association of Ceará
- Center for Coffee Agriculture and Commerce:
Aid to Agriculture bill, support for, 151;
antiabolition campaign, 161–2; brokers’
fees, 293; Chinese contract laborers, campaign for, 175; coffee expositions, 121–3;
creation of, 28; demise, 28, 113; foundation, 161; founders of, 95–6; and planter societies and clubs, 113; railroad freight on coffee, 244; railroad freight to Santos, 245;
revenue sharing plan, opposition to, 188–9;
rural credit reform, 149; statistics, demand for publication of, 298
- Center for Sugar Industry and Commerce: Agricultural Bank of Brazil, founded, 135; creation and demise, reasons for, 28;
foundation and career, 110–11
- Central of Brazil Railroad, 244, 245
- central sugar mills, 107–9; business elite investment in, 96; business interest groups advocate diffusion of ownership, 109; Northeastern business interest groups, promotion of, 107–8; see also usina sugar mills
- Cezimbra, João Gonçalves, 24–5
- chambers of commerce, 19–21; parallels with commercial associations, 21, 235
- charity, 87, 307–9; business interest group capability in, 307
- Chermont, Justo, 130, 317–18
- coastal shipping: business interest group prerogatives, 249; communications importance, 249; restriction to Brazilian vessels, 250–1;
restrictions delayed by commercial associations, 251; stopovers, 249
- coercion, by business interest groups, 72–3
- coffee: business interest groups based on, 113;
business interest groups impose standards, 115; business interest groups work to cut exportation costs, 116; crisis of the early 1880s, 113; crisis of the late 1890s, 114; history of production, 112–14; statistics on production, 299
- coffee factors: agricultural and business interests, 95–6; and Bank of Land Credit of Brazil, 148; business practice, Rio de Janeiro and Santos, 123, 280; circumvention of, 90, 125–7; commercial association failure to support in crisis, 127–8; conflict with exporters, 123–8; conflict with exporters, weakness in, 124; perceived as native, 124; see also factors
- coffee valorization, 128
- Commercial Agricultural Association of Per-nambuco: and Barbosa Lima, 323–4; closes in protest, 73, 193, 324; coffee growing in province, promotion of, 117; creation of,
26, 28; current prices, furnisher of, 299–
300; and Delmiro Gouveia, 82–3; and the Empire, 315–16; export standards, 105; expositions, sponsorship of, 121; free labor mobilization, 166–7; legal location for business activities, 12; mortgage banks, failure to found, 135; paper money, new issue of, 141; Political Center for Farming, Commerce, and Industry, 325; rail line completion, 240; Republic, early years of, 323–5;
Rosa e Silva, 193–4, 324–5; rural credit, demands Northeast receive, 146–7; Second Agricultural Congress of Recife, 163; sugar market manipulation, 111–12; tax on reex-portation, 185–6; urban area, layout of, 302
- Commercial and Agricultural Association of São Paulo, 28
- Commercial and Agricultural Bank, 144
- Commercial Association of Amazonas: Amazon
Steam Navigation Company, 248–9; Belém, commercial domination of, 198–9; river
transportation, 247–8
- Commercial Association of Bahia: abolition, reaction to, 168; Bahian Immigration Society, 172; beggars’ asylum, 308; board of directors removed, 327; and British banks, 136; business school, 301; charity, 307–8; coastal shipping restrictions, 251; Commercial Bank of Bahia, founded, 133–4; commercial strike, 72–3, 188, 225–6; conflict among directors, 39; coronelismo, 326; Cotegipe’s agricultural bank plan, endorsement of, 147;
creation of companies, 31–2, 306; credit practice, 289–90; Count d’Eu, 313; counterfeiting, 291–2; Dantas, Manuel Pinto de Sousa, 62, 64, 69–70; Dantas Project, 162;
elections in, 30–1; Emperor entertained, 1859, 312–13; and the Empire, 315–16;
export standards, 105; fire department,

- Commercial Association of Bahia (cont.)
 foundation and operation, 306; foundation, 17–18; immigration society, 172; and Imperial Agricultural Institute of Bahia, 94; import duties in gold, 225–7; incorporation, 287; and industrialization, 207; influence, 1, 75; lighter anchorage at night, 265; lower city defense battalion, 325; Luís Vianna, 327–8; native dominance, 32; Pedro II death, 320; plurality of issue, 138, 150; police for lower city, 306; port modernization, 277; and provincial tariffs, 186–90; provincial tariffs, prerogatives with, 185; railroad to diamond area, 240; railroad to São Francisco River, 239–40; relief, 309; Republic, early years of, 325–8; Republic, policy of adhesion to, 325–6; republican uprising, 317; restores imperial coat-of-arms, 320; revenue sharing plan, support for, 186; rural land taxation, 195; slavery, statements defending, 159–60, 162; steamer connection with United States, 253; steamer schedules, 254; stock exchange, 294; sugar technology, 107; telegraph line funding, 255; textile manufacture and bagging, 207–8; tobacco, coffee, and cacao, 117–18; traveling salesmen, 294–5; warehouse owners, conflict with, 265
- Commercial Association of Campos, 128
- Commercial Association of Ceará: coastal shipping discrimination, 250; coffee growing in province, promotion of, 116; inactive, 1878–1897, 27; on Law of Free Birth, 160; province's first bank, fails to found, 134–5; relief, 310; stamp tax on goods, 179
- commercial association leaders: economic and personal interests, 37–44; manufacturers a minority, 43; see also commercial associations
- Commercial Association of Maceió: cotton inspection, 103–4; creation of, 103; export standards, 105; Royal Mail Line, 252
- Commercial Association of Maranhão: abolition, opposition to, 159; abolition, prepares local agriculture for, 165; bills of exchange, 288; on Chinese immigration, 174–5; coastal shipping discrimination, 250; coastal shipping restrictions, 250–1; immigration conference, 173; influence, 75; railroad construction, 239; relief, 309; road building, 238; school financing, 301; stamp tax on goods, 179; steamer connection with United States, 253; telegraph line construction and rivalry, 256; trade area of São Luís, 236–7; underseas cable promotion, 257
- Commercial Association of Pará: agricultural aid to Pará, forces extension of, 151; Amazon Steam Navigation Company, 248; Asian labor, introduction of, 175; conflict among directors, 39; creation of, 27; docking and loading facilities, 264; foreign economic domination, resentment of, 230; influence, 74, 75; land sale to local poor, advises, 171; metric system, 296, 297; monopoly rubber marketing, 129–31; native dominance, 32; overseas shipping promotion, 252–3; Pará River Company, 248; quarantine station, arranges for, 305; railroad construction, 239; Republic, favor of, 319; Republic, support for, 317–18; revenue sharing plan, opposition to, 188–9; river transportation, 247–9 and rubber, 118–19, 128–31; street paving, 303
- Commercial Association of Pelotas: customs house bid, 269–71; Patos Lake bar, 276; and smuggling, 181–2; telegraph line funding, 255
- Commercial Association of Pernambuco: abolition, congratulates Princess Regent for, 166; agricultural aid to Northeast, forces extension of, 151; and Agriculture Auxiliary Society of Pernambuco, 94; artificial wine, 209; banks, attempts to attract to Recife, 135; and Barbosa Lima, 73, 193, 323–4; and Baron Lucena, 323; beggars' asylum, 307; 'beneficent,' title, 87, 309; on British banks, 136; brokers, 293; business curriculum for public schools, 301; closes in protest, 73, 193, 324; coffee growing in province, 116–17; Commercial Bank of Pernambuco, founds, 31–2, 134; commercial strike, 72, 187–8; and Conservative Party, 186; cotton and sugar containers, determines size of, 297; creation of, 26, 26–7; current prices, furnisher of, 300; and Delmiro Gouveia, 82–3; and economic liberalism, 85, 279; elections in, 31; electoral participation, 66; Emperor entertained, 1859, 312; and the Empire, 315–16; evaluation of agricultural machines, 107; export inspection, promotion of, 101–2; export standards, 105; expositions, sponsorship of, 121; fire department, organization of, 306; foreign or obsolete coins as legal tender, 139; foreign predominance in, 33; free labor mobilization, 166; immigration in province, obstacles to, 171–2; import duties in gold protest, 225; incorporation law, 287; José Mariano Carneiro da Cunha, 186, 323, 324; José Mariano Carneiro da Cunha, gift of townhouse to, 70, 187–8; land acquisition by poor Brazilians, calls for, 172–3; Law of Free Birth, 160; metric system, 296, 297; monetary policy inconsistency, 140; mortgage bank creation, refusal to support, 135;

- and official export inspection, 102–3; pilots, 273; plurality of issue, 138; Political Center for Farming, Commerce, and Industry, 325; port modernization, 277–9; port workers, 273–4; Praieira Revolution, 312; provincial tariffs, 185–91; provincial tariffs, prerogatives with, 185; and punctuality, 85; rail line completion, 240; railroad to São Francisco River, 239–40; on Recife's harbor, 278; relief, 309; Republic, early years of, 323–5; republican uprising, 317; revenue sharing plan, 186, 187, 188–9; Rosa e Silva, 193–4, 324–5; rural credit for Northeast, 146–7; rural land taxation, 195; slavery, attitudes toward, 159, 163, 165; state tariffs, 192–4; stock exchange, 294; sugar market manipulation, 111–12; tax on reexportation, 185–6; telegraph line funding, 255; telegraph lines kept open in 1893, 256; textile manufacture and bagging, 208; traveling salesmen, 294–5; urban area, layout of, 302
- Commercial Association of Pôrto Alegre: British banks, 136; customs house retained, 271; foreign predominance, 32; German immigration, restoration of, 172; immigration of small farmers, 173; mail brought by Brazilian warship, 258; overseas shipping promotion, 252; Patos Lake bar, 276; and smuggling, 181–2; telegraph line funding and rivalry, 255; Torres, artificial port at, 276–7
- Commercial Association of Rio Grande: Aid to Industry bill protest, 223; customs house monopoly, 269–71; Patos Lake bar, 276; and smuggling, 181–2; telegraph line funding, 255
- Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro: abolition, opposition to, 161, 162–3; abolition, reaction to, 166; Aid to Agriculture bill, 151–2; artificial wine, 209; and Bank of Brazil, 137–8; banking, credit, and currency, disagreement with other groups on, 132, 155; Bank of Land Credit of Brazil, tepid support for, 148; Brazilian Steam Navigation Company, prerogatives with, 249; British banks, 136; brokers' strike, 293; business curriculum for public schools, 301; Central Bank of Agricultural Credit, 135; coastal shipping line, organizes, 249; coffee information, 298; Commercial Bank of Rio de Janeiro, founds, 133; Commercial Code of 1850, 286; companies, foundation of, 31–2; and Cotegipe ministry, 164; creation of, 25–6, 26; credit practice, 290; currency shortage, 1891–2, 153; currency shortage, obstacle to remedy for, 139–40; debt problem, 51–2; directors, nationality of, 32, 33; duplicate consular invoices, 179–80; embezzlement of funds, 47–8; and the Empire, 315; factor-exporter conflict, 125, 127; Federation of Commercial Associations, 58; first lasting business interest group, 3; foreign predominance, 32, 33; gifts to government figures, 70; Home for Disabled Veterans, 308–9; immigration of Asians and Africans, 175; immigration for plantation labor, 173–4; import duties in gold, 225, 227; incorporation law, 287; on industrialization, 206; influence, 74; intermediary with government, 69; International Immigration Society, 171; labels in Portuguese on imports, 230; metric system, 296–7; military academy, donation for, 308; monetary conservatism, 140–1, 153–4, 337; Pedro II, death of, 320; Petropolis or Mauá railroad, 238–9; plurality of issue, 138, 150; plurality of issue, recommends changes in, 151–2; Princess Isabel, 70, 313; proslavery declaration of 1884, 162–3; railroad freight on coffee, 244; Republic, hostility of, 319; revenue sharing plan, opposition to, 188–9; Rio de Janeiro bank leaders, convokes, 152; Royal Mail Line, 251–2; rural credit, guaranteed interest on, 147; rural credit reform, 149; São Paulo customs house, 271; school financing, 301; sixty-kilogram coffee bag established as standard, 115, 297; statistics, compilation, 298; statistics, need for publication of, 298; steamer connection with United States, 253; steamer schedules, 254; stock exchange, 294; as tariff adviser, 210; tariff of 1879, 215–16; tariff of 1889 protest, 222; tariff of 1897, 227; tariff of 1900, 228; tax on land to stimulate immigration, 172; telegraph lines kept open in 1893, 256; telegraph rate assessment, 256; telegraph stations in, 254–5; telephone service, 257; traveling salesmen, 295; underseas cable promotion, 256, 257; and Viscount Ouro Preto, 67–8, 315, 320
- commercial associations: boards of directors, 5, 30–44; British influence in, 36–7; competing organizations, lack of, 54; and conservative classes, 1; dates of foundation, 26; decline in power, 6–7; foreign influence, transmission of, 6, 38, 42–3, 335–7; foreign majorities, 32–4; foundation of companies, 31–2; general aims, 8; histories of, 1–2; industrialization, resistance to, 230–1, 334; influence, evaluation of, 74–6; leaders, data on Bahia and Rio de Janeiro associations, 39–44; legal location assigned for business activities, 12; legal position, 59–

- commercial associations (cont.)
60; membership, 48–9; pensions, 52–3; Portuguese influence in, 21, 37; Republic, influence weakened under, 328, 335; subscriber membership status, 50; transportation versus manufacturing, 208; warehouses for goods cleared by customs, 265; see also commercial association leaders
- Commercial Association of Santos: abolition, opposition to, 161; abolition, reaction to, 166; bubonic plague, 305; coffee bagging improvement, 115; coffee information, 300; coffee theft, 292, 306–7; creation of, 27; customs house inadequacy, 266–7; directors serve as municipal council, 303, 322; factor-exporter conflict, 126–7; financing of exportation, 280; forwarding duty, 266; immigration of small farmers, 174; influence, 75; labor disputes, 274–5; Liberian labor, calls for, 175; mail service improvement, 258; monetary conservatism, 140–1; municipal finances, 303; naval revolt, 322–3; payment by check, 288; police protection, subsidizing of, 306–7; port modernization, 279–82; port modernization criteria, 280; railroad freight on coffee, 244; railroad freight on cotton, 244; Republic, early years of, 321–3; Republic, favor of, 319; Republic, support for, 318, 321; republican board members, 315, 321–2; revenue sharing plan, opposition to, 188–9; Rio de Janeiro, rivalry with, 244–5, 315; and Rui Barbosa, 318; San [sic] Paulo Railway Co., 241–2, 243, 245; Santos Dock Company, 274–5, 281–2; São Paulo customs house, 271–2; statistics on coffee production, 299; telephone service, 257; textile bagging, 115, 208
- Commercial Association of São Paulo: creation of, 27; customs house bid, 271–2; factor-exporter conflict, 126–7; founding members, 49; and fraudulent bankruptcy, 291; inauguration of, 272; industrial exposition, 121; manufacturer members leave, 231; money supply increase, demand for, 141, 153; nationalism in, 34; Republic, favor of, 319; stamp tax on goods, 179
- Commercial Bank of Bahia, 133–4, 144
- Commercial Bank of Pernambuco, 134
- Commercial Bank of Rio de Janeiro, 133–4, 137
- Commercial Board, 288
- Commercial Center of Rio de Janeiro: and the Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro, 127, 128; creation and demise, reasons for, 28; foreign economic domination, resentment of, 230; labels in Portuguese on im-ports, 230; rise and dissolution, 127–8; spokesman for coffee factors, 90; tariff of 1900, 228
- Commercial Code of 1850: auxiliary agents of commerce, 292; brokers, 292–3; business activity, effect on, 286; business courts, 288; business interest group participation in creating, 286; commercial association role in business practice, defines, 297; usages and customs of the business community, 287–8
- Commercial Court of São Paulo, 271
- commercial strike: in Bahia and Pernambuco, 187–8; nationwide, 225–6; use of, 72–3
- Commercial Tribunal, 288, 295
- Commercial Union Company, 129
- Committee, the, 21–2
- communications: business interest group policy results, 258–62, 333; business interest group prerogatives in, 234–5; innovations, 9, 333; integration of, 261, 333; state role in introduction of, 234; state weaknesses and business interest group compensation, 235; summary of business interest group role in, 4
- conservative classes, concept of the, 1, 94
- consulados*, 13–14, 20–1, 235
- coronelismo*, 326
- corporations, 1, 2, 8, 76
- Correia, Inocêncio Serzedelo, 192, 194
- Correio Mercantil*, 138
- Cotegipe, João Maurício Wanderley, baron: abolitionist activity suppression, 164; agricultural bank plan, 147; on Chinese immigration, 174; Commercial Association of Bahia ties, 64; commercial association defense of, 68; commercial association leaders, relationship with, 62; Pelotas customs house, 270; on provincial tariffs, 184
- cotton: commercial association inspection of, 103–5; decline of exportation, 104; decline in prosperity, 99–100; technological backwardness, 100–1; and the United States Civil War, 100, 207
- counterfeiting, 291–2
- Cox, Edmund Penley, 277
- crop collateral, 145–6, 149
- O Cruzeiro*, 161
- Cunha, José Mariano Carneiro da, 70, 186, 187–8, 323, 324
- currency: inconvertible paper, 143–4; liquidity crisis, 149–52; plurality of issue, debate over, 137–8; plurality of issue, late Empire, 151–2; shortages of, 132, 133, 138–40, 153, 154
- customs house: authority over harbors and waterfront, 263; dishonesty and commercial associations, 181; entrepôt defined by, 269;

- inadequacy, 266–7; obstacles to movement of goods, 266–8; personnel, 267–8; personnel, business interest group influence over, 268–9; regulations, 268; Rio Grande do Sul struggle over, 269–71; of Rio de Janeiro, 180–1; São Paulo state struggle over, 271–2; taxes and fees, 266
- Dantas, Manuel Pinto de Sousa, 62, 64, 69–70, 161
- Dantas Project, 161–4
- Dean, Warren, 231
- De Mornay, Edward, 278
- dependency, 6, 335–6
- development: business interest group role summarized, 337–8; definition of, 3; goals of business interest groups, 336; shift in public opinion concerning, 91, 233; see also industrialization
- Diário de Santos*, 282
- diplomatic crisis of 1863 [‘Christie Affair’], 87–8
- Dom Pedro II Railroad, see Central of Brazil Railroad
- Drummond, João Batista Viana, baron, 86
- economic integration: business interest group role in, 4, 285, 331–2; business interest group role diminishes, 310; problem of, 284
- economic liberalism: and the Brazilian state, 77; Brazilian use of, 232; and business elite self-images, 83–6; business interest group disregard of tenets, 239, 334–5; Commercial Association of Pernambuco and, 85, 279; and economic policy, 270, 334; industrialists and, 84
- Edward Johnston & Co., 125
- Empire, the: business elite loyalty to, 311–13, 316–17; and business interest groups, 311–16; business interest groups and the overthrow of, 317–20; commercial association nostalgia for, 320–1; commercial associations, favor toward, 313–14; and decentralization, 314; foreign business support for, 314; Pará under, 314; Pedro II, outlook after death of, 316–17; Regency Period, 311–12; São Paulo under, 314–15
- Encilhamento*: currency increase, 152, 155; exchange depreciation and inflation, 311, 319; and industrialization, 222–3; speculation, attempt to curb, 293–4
- Engineering Club: Aid to Industry bill support, 223–4; Brazilian Central Railroad, conferences on, 243; Congress of Engineering and Industry, 218; creation of, 27; and the Empire, 315; engineers enrolled, 235, 285; Exposition of Brazilian Railways, 218; history of, 218–19; industry, advocacy of, 55; inventions, evaluation of, 301; leadership, 218; municipal health, evaluation and planning, 302; as professional association, 57; Railway Congress, 218
- English Line, see San [sic] Paulo Railway Co.
- entrepôts: coastal shipping and rivalry, 249–50; communications and rivalry, 9; customs house essential for, 269; customs regulations and rivalry, 268; freight rates and rivalry, 243, 244; overseas shipping, importance to, 252–3; provincial export taxes and growth, 198–9; railroads, 261, 333; Recife, shrinking role of, 184, 185, 192; Rio Grande versus Pelotas, 269–71; Rio Grande versus Pôrto Alegre, 269; Rio de Janeiro versus Santos, 244–5, 266, 279–80, 282, 315; Santos versus São Paulo, 271–2; telegraph construction and rivalry, 255–6; transportation costs and rivalry, 236; see also trade area
- Estrêla, Joaquim Manuel Monteiro, count, 61
- Eu, [Louis Gaston d’Orleans], count d’, 313, 316
- exchange depreciation, 5, 140–2, 220, 228–9, 319
- exchange rate, 110, 143, 316; and sugar exportation, 110, 111; see also exchange depreciation
- exporters, see overseas merchants
- exports: inspection of, 101–5; marketing of 121–3; official inspection by province, 102–3; private inspection systems end, 104–5; standards, establishment of, 105–6
- export taxes, 194–9; Bahia, 198; business interest group attitude toward, 179, 195–6; business interest group drive against, 196–7, 200–1; condemned by economic theory, 179; pauta, 199; Pernambuco, 198; provincial, 197–9; provincial rates, 197–8; reasons for, 194–5; Republic system, 199; on sugar, 197; theoretically passed on to others, 10–11, 195
- expositions and congresses, 71–2
- factor groups: boards of directors, 44–5; industrialization, resistance to, 206, 334; purpose for creation, 8, 10; share leaders with commercial associations, 45
- factors: basic entrepreneurial element in development, 41, 330–1; commercial associations, role in, 43–4; credit for agriculture, 94–5, 144; description of, 8, 43–4; exporters, relations with, 123–4, 131; export sector, conflict within, 89–90; native proportion among, 44, 45, 80; planters, relations with, 94–5; see also aviadores; coffee factors

- Faria, Augusto Silvestre de, 325, 327
 Farming Council of Bahia, 55, 133–4, 138
 Federation of Commercial Associations, 58
 Ferraz, Angelo Muniz da Silva, 62
 Ferreira, João Gonsalves, 277
 Figueiredo, Francisco de Figueiredo, count, 61, 62, 315
 fire protection and business interest groups, 305–6
 Fishlow, Albert, 228
 Fonseca, Deodoro da, 317, 322, 323
 food: importation, importance of, 41, 119;
 production of, 119–20, 332–3
 forced adjudication, 145
 foreign influence: in commercial associations, 32–7, 38, 42–3; commercial associations as transmitters of, 6, 335–6; denounced, 79– 80, 88–90; foreign businessmen as role models, 34, 330; goals of, 336–7; resentment of, 88–91, 328; Rui Barbosa, denounced by, 318
 Fortaleza, Ceará, 250; see also Commercial Association of Ceará
 Fourth Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, 180
 Franco, Bernardo de Sousa, 138
 Freyre, Gilberto, 124
 Funding Loan, 154, 227–8
 Fund of Porto, 14–15
 Furtado, Celso, currency thesis, 140, 142

 Gafree, Guinle, and Company, see Santos Dock Company
 General Warehouses proposal, 126
 General Welfare Board of Bahia, 15–16
 General Welfare Board of Lisbon, 15–16
 Gillmer, John S., 158
 Gondoriz, João Caetano Gonçalves Vianna, baron, 129–31
 Gouveia, Delmiro, 82–3 government: cabinet members, 63; Council of State, 286; emperor, 63; employment and business interest groups, 178; 190, 320;
 Imperial Parliament, 63–4; provincial presidents, 64; reliance on business interest groups, 58–60; structure of, 63–4
 Great Britain, 36–7; 87–8
 Greene, Edward, 114, 125, 126
 Guai, Joaquim Elisio Pereira Marinho, viscount: campaigns for National Deputy, 66;
 commercial association leader, 37; commercial strike aftermath, 188; election to Chamber of Deputies, 66; major creditor of Baron Cotegipe, 62

 Hawkshaw, Sir John, 278–9
 Historical Republicans, 303, 321, 322, 323

 Home for Disabled Veterans, Rio de Janeiro, 308–9, 319
 honorary membership, 67

 Iberian corporatism, 11–12, 13, 81–3, 285
 immigration: Asian and African labor, 175–6;
 business interest group promotion of, 170–
 4; Chinese, 174–6; to 1885, 170–1;
 Northeast region, 172–3; reasons for business interest group involvement, 169–70;
 Southeast and South regions, 173
 Imperial Agricultural Institute of Bahia, 55–6, 58, 150, 162
 Imperial Agricultural Institute of Rio de Janeiro, 55–6
 Imperial Agricultural Institutes, 55–6, 57
 importers, see overseas merchants import taxes, see tariffs
 incorporation, 5, 286–7
O Industrial, 216, 217
 Industrial Association: arguments for industrialization, 216–17; and the Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro, 217; creation of,
 27; dates of activity, 55; financial problems,
 217; history, 216–18; and Industrial Center,
 224; as tariff adviser, 210
 Industrial Center of Brazil, 55, 224, 231
 Industrial Center for the State of São Paulo, 231
 Industrial Exposition of 1881, 216, 217 industrial interest groups: appeals to nationalism, 89–90; boards of directors, 45–6; relative lack of, 54–5; small groups arise at turn of century, 6, 231; success of appeals, 89–90, 91, 335
 industrialists: in Agricultural Industrial Center, 219; Aid to Industry bill committee, 223–4; commercial association boards, lack of representation on, 43, 205; in Engineering Club, 45; foreignness, 45, 80, 329–30;
 growth in numbers, 214; in Industrial Association, 216; Industrial Center for the State of São Paulo formed by, 231; nonindustrial interests, 205; obstacles to promoting views, 79; self-portrayal of role, 86
 industrialization: artificial wine, 209; attitudes toward, 9, 79, 89–91, 203; in Bahia before the Republic, 208–9; business interest group attitude toward, 205–8; business interest groups central to, 3–4, 202, 334–5;
 early history of, 203; foreign patents, 209;
 government tasks in, 204; growth to 1881, 213–16; growth in 1880s, 220–2; growth in 1890s, 222–3, 228–9; handicaps, 19, 204; importation, Brazilian reliance on,
 202–3; inflation and exchange depreciation, effect on, 220, 228–9; in Maranhão before

- the Republic, 208–9; mercantile versus industrial capital, 334; merchant role in, 221, 330; nontariff aid for, 207–9; in Pernambuco before the Republic, 208–9; potential for, 204; support increases for, 214, 230; tariff impact on, 229–30; and tax revenue needs, 230–1
- inflation, 152, 220, 228–9, 319
- Interest rates, 132–3
- International Bank of Brazil, 135
- International Immigration Society, 171
- interstate tariffs, 194
- Isabel, imperial heiress and princess regent, 70, 313, 316
- Jacobinos*, 320, 321
- Jaguaribe, Hélio, 232
- Jardim, Leopoldo de Bulhões, 227
- João VI, king of Portugal and Brazil, 17, 19
- Jones, Charles, 334
- Joppert, Hermano, 48
- Journal do Comércio*, 138, 275
- labor: disputes, 272–5; mobilization of, 166–7, 168–9; pilots, 273; port workers, 273–5; post-1888 problems, 168–9; Santos strikes, 274–5; wages, 273
- labor unions, 57, 272–3
- Lacerda, Antônio Francisco de, 38, 158
- Lacerda, J. F., 125
- Law of Free Birth, 160–1
- Leff, Nathaniel, 119, 232
- Lewis, Sir Arthur, 232
- Lima, Alexandre José Barbosa: as governor of Pernambuco, 323–4; local business interest groups, hostility toward, 323–4; local business interest groups close in protest against, 73, 193, 324
- lobbying: direct, 68–70; indirect, 70–2; through legislative spokesmen, 69–70; through newspapers, 71; through publications, 71
- London and Brazilian Bank, 31, 137
- London Chamber of Commerce, 36
- Love, Joseph, 232
- Loyo Junior, José da Silva, 325
- Lucena, Henrique Pereira de, baron, 323
- Macedo, Manuel Buarque de, 71, 278–9
- Maceió, Alagôas, 103–4, 242, 252; see also Commercial Association of Maceió
- mail service, 257–8
- Manaus, Amazonas, 199, 247
- manufacturers, see industrialists
- Maranhão (province and state): immigration plan for, 173; industrialization in, 208–9, 222; provincial spending, 190; slavery, transition from, 167–8; traditional outlook, 75; see also Commercial Association of Maranhão
- Matarazzo, Francisco, count, 37–8, 231
- Mattos, Manuel Gomes de, 165, 324, 325
- Mauá, Irineu Evangelista de Sousa, viscount: and agricultural interest organizations, 94; commercial association leader, 37; diplomatic crisis of 1863, 88; and economic liberalism, 77; nation's first rail line, head of, 238–9; predecessor of Bank of Brazil, head of, 137; President of Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro, 64; Salvador port remodeling project, 277; underseas cable company organizer, 256–7
- Mayrink, Francisco de Paula: Bank of Land Credit of Brazil, 143, 148; Bank of the United States of Brazil, 225; commercial association leader, 37; holdings and activities, 38; import duties in gold, 225, 227; President of Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro, 64, 225, 227; and Viscount Ouro Preto, 315
- Melo, Custódio de, 322
- Mercantile Company, 130–1
- merchant houses: British economic dominance of, 36; retail credit, attempt to limit, 289; specialization, 40–1
- Mesquita, Jerônimo José de Mesquita, count, 61, 62
- metric system, 296–7
- Milet, Henrique Augusto, 141, 145–6
- Morais [e Barros], Prudente [José] de, 70, 245, 321
- Murtinho, Joaquim [Duarte], 154, 227, 231, 267–8, 282, 337
- Nascimento, Alexandre Cassiano de, 271
- National Society of Agriculture, 57, 135
- New Christians, 77
- New York Chamber of Commerce, 20
- Northeast region: agricultural backwardness, 96–8, 120; agricultural modernization, 106–10, 332; Aid to Agriculture bill extended to, 151; central sugar mills, 107–9; cotton, 99–101; creditors, safeguards for, 146; crop collateral, 145–6; and the Empire, 316–17; and export taxation, 200; fiscal crisis, 189–90; government favoritism toward Southeast and South, 146–7, 237; immigration, 172–3; interest rates, 132–3; planter monetary views, 141, 142; railroad, effect of; 259; slavery in, 158; sugar, 99; urban violence, 79
- North region: government favoritism toward Southeast and South, 237; interest rates, 132–3; railroad, effect of, 259
- Novis, Aristedes, 62

- Oliveira, João Alfredo Correia de, 69
- Otonni, Teófilo Benedito, 37, 64
- Ouro Preto, Afonso Celso de Assis Figueiredo, viscount: and agricultural credit, 150–1; and the Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro, 67–8, 320; Rio de Janeiro interests, 315
- overseas merchants: basic entrepreneurial element in development, 41, 330–1; export sector, conflict within, 89, 90; factors, relations with, 123–4, 131; and industrialization, 231–3, 330; planters, relations with, 42, 94–5, 331, 332–3; shift into manufacturing, 221, 330
- overseas shipping: Brazil–United States connection, 253; business interest group promotion of, 251–3; business interest group regulation of, 253–4; importance for entrepôt status, 252–3
- O País*, 272
- Pará (province and state): agricultural technology in, 97; Aid to Agriculture extended to, 151; Amazonas, rivalry with, 198–9; and Commercial Association of Pará, 75; and the Empire, 314; export tax on rubber, 197; health conditions, 303; steamer route subsidies, 247, 252; see also Commercial Association of Pará
- Pará and Amazonas Company, 248
- Paraguayan war: and commercial associations, 88; raises tariff levels, 213
- Paranaguá, João Lustosa da Cunha, marquis, 187
- Pará River Company, 248
- Pedro I, emperor of Brazil, 19
- Pedro II, emperor of Brazil: Commercial Association of Bahia, hosted by, 312–13; Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro headquarters, inauguration of, 25, 313; commercial associations, honors for, 313; commercial associations observe death of, 320–1; and foreign influence, 336; and older commercial associations, 311–12; outlook after death of, 313, 316–17; powers, 63; Santos port facility tour, 280–1
- Peixoto, Floriano, 323, 324, 325
- Pelotas, Rio Grande do Sul, 219, 269–71; see also Commercial Association of Pelotas
- Pernambuco (province and state): coffee, 116–17; cotton, 104; export inspection, 102–3; Historical Republicans, 323; immigration, public support for, 171; industrialization in, 208–9, 222; provincial spending, 190; provincial tariffs, 183, 185–91; public debt, 189–90, 192; railroad freight rates, 243; Republic, early years of, 323–5; republican movement in, 323; slavery, transition from, 164–5; state import taxation, 192–4; sugar prosperity revived, 111; traveling salesmen, tax on, 294–5; see also Commercial Agricultural Association of Pernambuco, Commercial Association of Pernambuco
- planters: and agricultural modernization, 97–8, 120, 332; business elite, attitude toward, 78, 94–5; business elite, convergence with, 95–6; commercial association membership, 49; export fraud, 101; export sector, conflict within, 89; and industrialization, 204–5; monetary policy views, 141
- Platt, D. C. M., 74, 232
- police protection and business interest groups, 305–7
- Political Center for Farming, Commerce, and Industry, 325
- political parties, 65
- Pombal, Sebastião José de Carvalho e Melo, marquis, 15–16
- port areas and harbors: business interest group control over, 263–6; docking and loading facilities, 264; port services, 264–5; wharf warehouses, 265–6; see also port modernization
- Port Authority, 263
- Portella, Manuel, 279
- port modernization: business interest group prerogatives, 275–6; business interest group success in, 282; Patos Lake bar, 276; Recife, 277–9; Salvador, 277; Santos, 279–82
- Pôrto Alegre, Rio Grande do Sul: 182, 269, 271; see also Commercial Association of Pôrto Alegre
- Portugal: see Portuguese
- Portuguese: in Amazon, 35–6; attitudes toward Brazil, 33; business interest group influence, 37; numbers in the business elite, 33, 35, 44, 81; violence against, 80–1, 90, 320; working-class hostility toward during Regency, 312
- praças do comércio*, 12, 15, 17–19; creation under João VI, 17–19; Rio de Janeiro praça protest of 1822, 19
- Prado, Antônio da Silva, 281
- protective tariffs, 6–7, 10, 90, 206–7, 228, 336–7
- provincial tariffs: in Bahia, 187–8; business interest group prerogatives, 185; impact on economic history, 183–4; as obstacles to prosperity, 179, 183; in Pernambuco, 185–91; revoked, 187–9; rise of 184; state tariffs, 192–4; substitutes for, 190–1; see also interstate tariffs
- public debt bonds, 147

- railroad regulation: business interest group prerogatives, 242–3; and freight charges, 243–6; freight charges, Santos-Rio de Janeiro conflict, 244–6
- railroads: absence of overall planning, 259–60; business interest group expectations on, 238; business interest group promotion of, 238–42; business interest groups and localism in construction, 242; government role in expansion of, 237–8; guaranteed interest, 259–61; and public finances, 260–1; see also railroad regulation
- Recife, Pernambuco: abolitionist activity, 163; British influence in, 84, 163; business schooling, 301; fire department and Commercial Association of Pernambuco, 306; labor relations, 273–4; port modernization, 277–9; Praieira Revolution, 312; rail line northwestward, 240; rail linkage threat to trade of, 242; São Francisco River railroad, 239–40; shrinking role as entrepôt, 184, 185, 192, 236–7; transcontinental rail line, 261; urban area layout and business interest groups, 302; see also Commercial Agricultural Association of Pernambuco, Commercial Association of Pernambuco
- Recife Agricultural Congress of 1878: monetary policy discussions, 141; obligatory labor discussed, 166–7; planter-merchant disagreement on credit, 146; scope defined by Recife trade area, 94, 235
- relatórios*, see annual reports
- relief, 87, 307, 309–10; business interest group capability, 307
- Republic, the: assumption of power and business interest groups, 317–21; business interest groups, attitude toward, 318–19; business interest groups, policy changes under, 311; events under, and business interest groups, 319–20; foreign economic domination, resentment of, 311, 318–19; Jacobino influence weakens, 321
- retailer interest groups, 54
- retailers: commercial association membership, 43, 49; credit for, 289–90; credit habits, 289; debt, overdue payment for, 290; status of, 43
- Revenue Board, 269; of Pelotas, 269
- Ribeiro, Honório Augusto, 48, 125, 151, 223
- Rio Branco, José Maria da Silva Paranhos, baron, 62
- Rio Branco, José Maria da Silva Paranhos, viscount, 62, 195, 215
- Rio Branco Law, see Law of Free Birth
- Rio Grande, Rio Grande do Sul, 182, 269–71; see also Commercial Association of Rio Grande
- Rio Grande do Sul (province and state): agricultural technology in, 97; business leaders finance suppression of rebellion in, 312; commercial associations, rise in, 27–8; customs house question, 269–71; German immigration, 36; immigration, 170–1, 173; smuggling, 181–3; special tariff for, 181–3, 219, 220, 229; see also Commercial Association of Pelotas, Commercial Association of Pôrto Alegre, Commercial Association of Rio Grande
- Rio de Janeiro (city): business schooling, 301; cash shortage, 153; coffee factor numbers, 127; customs house scandal, 180–1; financial interests, 137–8; health conditions, 303; industrialization, 220; opening to world trade, 21; praça protest of 1822, 19; rivalry with Santos, 27, 244–5, 266, 280, 282, 314–15; school financing and the Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro, 301; slavery in factories, 157; trade area, 236; and Viscount Ouro Preto, 315; see also Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro
- Rio de Janeiro (province and state): agricultural technology in, 97; industrialization, 220; labor costs, 169; Paraíba Valley land values, 148; slavery, transition from, 167; see also Commercial Association of Rio de Janeiro
- Rio de Janeiro Dock Company, 280
- Rios, José Alvarez da Cruz, 158
- road building, 238
- Rosa e Silva, Francisco de Assis, 193–4, 324–5
- Rostow, W. W., 204
- Rothschild, banking house of, 228
- Royal Boards of Commerce, Agriculture, Manufactures, and Navigation, 17
- Rural and Mortgage Bank, 144
- Sales, Manuel Ferraz de Campos: and the Commercial Association of São Paulo, 67; Funding Loan, 154, 227–8; Recife port modernization, 279; Santos bubonic plague, 305; tariff of 1900, 228, 231, 337
- Salvador, Bahia: business school, 301; Commercial Association lower city defense battalion, 325; fire department and Commercial Association of Bahia, 306; health conditions, 304; lighter assault, 265; mail service, 258; Pedro II, death and Commercial Association of Bahia, 320; police and Commercial Association of Bahia, 306; port modernization, 277; racial struggle during Regency, 312; republican uprising, 317; São Francisco River railroad, 238, 239–40; trade area, 236; urban mob violence, 79; see also Commercial Association of Bahia

- San [sic] Paulo Railway Co., 241–2, 243, 244–5, 280, 281, 315
- Santos, Antônio Felício dos, 224
- Santos, São Paulo: abolitionism, 166; coffee firm bankruptcy, 125; coffee theft, 292; Commercial Association of Santos board serves as municipal council, 303, 322; customs house, 266–7; health conditions, 303, 304; labor relations, 274–5; municipal finances and the Commercial Association of Santos, 303; police protection and the Commercial Association of Santos, 306–7; port conditions, 280, 281; port modernization, 279–82; post office, 258; quarantine, 305; republican sympathies, 315; Rio de Janeiro, rivalry with, 27, 244–5, 266, 280, 282, 314–15; San [sic] Paulo Railway, 241–2; São Paulo city, rivalry with, 271–2; yellow fever, 304; see also Commercial Association of Santos
- Santos Dock Company: and General Warehouses, 126; harbor remodeling, 281–2; São Paulo customs house, 272; strike of 1897, 274–5
- São Clemente, Antônio Clemente Pinto, count, 61
- São José do Norte, Rio Grande do Sul, 269, 271
- São Luís, Maranhão: entrepôt rivalry, 250; railroad construction, 239; river shipping, 247; school financing and the Commercial Association of Maranhão, 301; steam navigation, effect on, 246; trade area, 236; undersea cable, 257; United States, steamer connection to, 253; see also Commercial Association of Maranhão
- São Paulo (city): rivalry with Santos, 27, 271–2; see also Commercial Association of São Paulo
- São Paulo (province and state): agricultural distress in, 153; agricultural technology in, 97; coffee factor numbers, 126–7; coffee production statistics, lack of, 299; and Commercial Association of Santos, 75; customs house question, 271–2; Deodoro da Fonseca, 322; and the Empire, 314–15; European immigrant labor, 164, 167, 173; Floriano Peixoto, 322–3; Historical Republicans, 321; industrialization, 220; Japanese immigrants, 175–6; railroad freight rates, 244; and Viscount Ouro Preto, 315; see also Commercial Association of Santos, Commercial Association of São Paulo
- Saraiva-Cotegipe Bill, 163–4
- Schmitter, Philippe, 1
- Second Agricultural Congress of Recife, 163, 165
- Simonsen, Roberto, 231
- slavery: in Brazilian life, 156–7; business interest group support, 157–8, 332; and development, 156; foreign support for Saraiva-Cotegipe Bill, 164; see also Law of Free Birth slave trade, 157–8
- smuggling, 180–3; in Rio Grande do Sul, 181–3
- Sodré, Nelson Werneck, currency thesis, 140, 142
- Southeast region: and export taxation, 200; favoritism toward, 146, 237, 316; immigration, 173; interest rates, 132–3; railroad, effect of; 259; regional hegemony, 200, 337; shortages of cash, 153, 154; slavery, 158
- South region, 173, 237, 259
- Souza, Pedro Luís Pereira de, 187, 188
- state tariffs, see provincial tariffs
- statistics, 297–9; coffee, 299; Commercial Statistics Sections, 298–9, 318
- steam navigation, 246–54; Amazon system, 247–9; business interest group prerogatives with, 246–7; impact on communications, 246; river shipping, 247–9; see also coastal shipping, overseas shipping
- stock exchanges, 294
- Sturz, João Diego, 106
- sugar: Center for Sugar Industry and Commerce, 110–11; central mills, 107–9; Cuban competition, 98–9, 120; decline in prosperity, 98–9; exchange rate and prosperity, 110, 111; Pernambuco business interest groups try to manipulate market, 111–12; usina, 109–10
- Superintendency of Tobacco, 16
- Suzigan, Wilson, 333
- Syndical Chamber of Brokers of Public Funds, 294
- tariffs: Alves Branco Tariff of 1844, 10, 213; business interest groups, prerogatives with, 210–11; and changes in public perceptions of the business elite, 89–91; commercial associations and factor groups, effect on, 334; developmental impact, 210–11, 229–30; Funding Loan, effect on, 227–8; ideal level of, comparison with United States, 211; import duties in gold, 224–8; importer committee role in formulation of, 210, 212; increasingly protectionist, 1890–1900, 6–7, 319; revenue shortage, effect on, 230–1, 336–7; as revenue source, 177; Rio Grande do Sul special tariff, 181–3, 219–20, 229; rise before 1881, 213–16; rise from 1890, 226–7; stay on enforcement of, 180; tariff of 1879, 215; tariff of 1881, 215–16; tariff of 1887, 221; tariff of 1889, 221–2; tariff

- of 1896, 227; tariff of 1897, 227; tariff of 1900, 6, 90, 228, 231, 335, 337; theoretically passed on to consumer, 10–11, 178–9; true level of, 212–13; United States as example of, 214; see also protective tariff
- Tarquínio, Luís, 78
- Tavares Bastos, Aureliano Cândido, 83
- taxation: allotment tax, 191, 192–3; business interest groups forced to assess taxes, 191, 193; disputes and commercial association role, 180; duplicate consular invoices, 179–80; forwarding duty, 266; Industries and Professions Tax, 10, 177, 192; location tax, 192; merchants as focus of, 10, 177–8; regulation, 11, 180; on rural land, 178, 195; stamp tax on business documents, 192; stamp tax on goods 179; system, 10–11, 177–9 turnover tax, 191, 193; urban real estate tax, 10, 177; see also export taxes, provincial tariffs, tariffs
- telegraph, 254–6; business interest group funding of, 255
- telephone, 257
- textile manufacture: early market for, 204; growth in, 220, 222; native industry competes, 220; stimulus through bagging, 207–8
- Tocantins, José Joaquim de Lima e Silva Sobrinho, count, 60, 64
- Todos os Santos factory, 158
- Tootal, Edward, 228
- Topik, Steven, 231, 287
- Torrens Mortgage Register, 149
- Torres, Rio Grande do Sul, 276–7
- trade area: of Belém, 236; changes during nineteenth century, 236–7; defined, 235; importance to commercial associations and factor groups, 235–6; of Recife, 235, 237; of Rio de Janeiro, 236; of Salvador, 236; of São Luís, 236–7
- underseas cable, 256–7; and information revolution, 256; rates and service, 257
- United States, 36–7, 84, 217, 224, 230
- urban integration: business interest group role in, 4, 285, 331–2; business interest group role diminishes in, 310; layout of urban areas, 302; necessity for, 284, 302
- urban middle class, 5, 170, 333
- urban sanitation: bubonic plague, 305; business interest groups role in, 304–5; health conditions, 303–4; quarantine and business interest groups, 304–5; yellow fever, 303–4
- urban working class: attitude toward business elite, 78–9
- Uruguayana, Rio Grande do Sul, 181–2
- usina* sugar mills, 109–10
- Vargas, Getúlio, 59
- Vianna, Luís, 327–8
- Villela, Annibal, 333
- Vitorino, Manuel, 318
- voluntary societies, 61
- Western and Brazilian Telegraph Company, 256–7