Contents

General editors’ preface ........................................... page xi
General introduction, by Henry Allison ...................... 1

Prolegomena to any future metaphysics that will be able to come forward as science (1783) ........................................... 29
Translated by Gary Hatfield

Metaphysical foundations of natural science (1786) .............. 171
Translated by Michael Friedman

On a discovery whereby any new critique of pure reason is to be made superfluous by an older one (1790) .................. 271
Translated by Henry Allison

What real progress has metaphysics made in Germany since the time of Leibniz and Wolff? (1793/1804) .................. 337

On a recently prominent tone of superiority in philosophy (1796) .................................................. 425

Settlement of a mathematical dispute founded on misunderstanding (1796) .................................................. 447

Proclamation of the imminent conclusion of a treaty of perpetual peace in philosophy (1796) .................................................. 451
Translated by Peter Heath

Editorial notes .................................................. 461
Glossary .................................................. 500
Index of names .................................................. 519
Index of subjects .................................................. 522