

Cambridge University Press

0521473969 - Social Movements, Political Violence, and the State: A Comparative Analysis
of Italy and Germany

Donatella Della Porta

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

Foreword SIDNEY TARROW	page vii
List of abbreviations	ix
Preface	xiii
1 Comparative research on political violence	1
Social science and political violence	2
The rationale of a comparative study of Italy and Germany	14
The plan of this book	21
2 Political violence in Italy and Germany: a periodization	23
Movement families, cycles of protest, and violence	23
Protest and violence in Italy: 1960–90	25
Protest and violence in Germany: 1960–90	36
A comparison of political violence in Italy and Germany	47
Social movements, protest, and violence: some first observations	50
3 Violence and the political system: the policing of protest	55
Protest policing as a barometer of political opportunities: an introduction	55
The policing of protest in Italy	58
The policing of protest in Germany	63
Comparing styles of protest policing	69
Political opportunities and protest policing	71
Escalation and de-escalation: the consequences of protest policing	78
Protest policing: a summary	80
4 Organizational processes and violence in social movements	83
Organizational processes and radicalization	83

Cambridge University Press

0521473969 - Social Movements, Political Violence, and the State: A Comparative Analysis
of Italy and Germany

Donatella Della Porta

Table of Contents

More information

vi	Contents
	Radical organizations in Italy	85
	Radical organizations in Germany	95
	Radicalization and organizational resources	104
	Radicalization and environmental resources	108
	Interactions and radicalization: on competition and “perverse effects”	109
	Organizational dynamics: a summary	111
5	The logic of underground organizations	113
	Organizational model: deeper and deeper underground	115
	The selection of targets: from propaganda to survival	119
	Terrorist repertoires: from demonstrative actions to “war”	124
	Ideological messages: instruments for “internal consumption”	129
	Intrinsic dynamics: an explanation of organizational evolution in the underground	134
6	Patterns of radicalization in political activism	136
	Two life histories	137
	Political countercultures	149
	Movements and countermovements: spirals of violence	152
	Encounters with an “unfair” state	158
	Radicalization in political activism: a summary and comparison	161
7	Individual commitment in the underground	165
	Recruitment in the underground	166
	“Freedom fighters”: identities in the underground	170
	Group dynamics in the underground	177
	Individual commitment in the underground: a comparative summary	182
8	Social movements, political violence, and the state: a conclusion	187
	Political opportunities for violence	188
	Entrepreneurs of violence	195
	Collective identities and violence	201
	Macro-, meso-, and micro-dynamics: a final comparison	207
	On generalizing the results of the cross-national study	209
	Notes	217
	Bibliography	235
	Index	261