

Contents

- List of plates* [viii]
Preface and acknowledgments [ix]
Introduction KATHRYN BAILEY [xi]
- 1 ‘...gathering the divine from the earthly...’:
 Ferdinand Avenarius and his significance for Anton
 Webern’s early settings of lyric poetry [1]
 SUSANNE RODE-BREYMAN
  - 2 Gone with the summer wind; or, What Webern lost [32]
 DERRICK PUFFETT
  - 3 The golden thread: octatonic music in Anton Webern’s early songs, with certain historical reflections [74]
 ALLEN FORTE
  - 4 A pitch-class motive in Webern’s George Lieder, Op.3 [111]
 ROBERT W. WASON
  - 5 Performance and revision: the early history of Webern’s Four Pieces for violin and piano, Op.7 [135]
 FELIX MEYER AND ANNE SHREFFLER
  - 6 Webern’s row tables [170]
 KATHRYN BAILEY
  - 7 Webern’s lyric character [229]
 CHRISTOPHER WINTLE
  - 8 Music—discourse—dialogue: Webern’s Variations, Op.30 [264]
 ARNOLD WHITTALL
  - 9 A Webern bibliography [298]
 NEIL BOYNTON
- Index* [363]