
Index

- Alberoni, Cardinal Giulio, 22
 Albert, Prince Consort, 173
Alroy, 18–19, 42–4, 48–50, 51, 53, 61, 63, 67, 83, 93, 97, 98, 103, 112, 114–15, 123
Arabian Nights, 93
 Arnold, Matthew, 102
 Ashley, Lord (from 1851 seventh earl of Shaftesbury), 125
 Attwood, Charles, 169
 Attwood, Thomas, 156
 Austen, Benjamin, 20, 79
 Austen, Sara, 6, 12, 79
Aylmer Papillon, 34
- Bacon, Francis, Viscount St Albans, 28–30, 143
 Baillie-Cochrane, Alexander, 55
 Bentinck, Lord George, 85, 118, 120, 172
 Blumenbach, J. F., 12
 Bolingbroke, first Viscount, 28–30, 85, 139, 146, 147, 149, 155, 156, 163, 164
 Bolton, Dr Buckley, 76
 Bolton, Clara, 6
 Bradenham House, 6, 154–5
 Bright, John, on Disraeli, 152, 157
 Bulwer, Edward Lytton (later Bulwer-Lytton), 78, 148, 156, 158, 182, n.80
 Burdett, Sir Francis, 156
 Burke, Edmund, 36, 139, 144, 163–4, 172
 Byron, Lord, 34, 37, 45, 51–2, 54, 88, 93, 95, 96, 103, 147
- Canning, George, 140, 150
 Carnarvon, fourth earl of, on Disraeli, 82
 Carter, Robert, 71
 Chamberlain, Neville, on Disraeli, 176, n.35
 Charles I, King, 26, 137–8, 146
- Clay, James, 6, 78
 Cobbett, William, 146, 171
 Cogan, Revd. Eli, 17
Coningsby or: The New Generation, 56–8, 59–60, 62–3, 64, 83–4, 115–16, 165
 Conservative party, in early nineteenth century, 134, 135
Contarini Fleming, 34, 42–4, 46–8, 51, 61, 63, 66–7, 93–4, 110, 165
 Cooper, Thomas, 170
 Cotton, Sir John Hynde, 156
 Cranborne, Viscount, see Salisbury, third marquess of
- Derby, fourteenth earl of (Lord Stanley to 1851), 77, 120, 172; on Disraeli, 152
 Disraeli, Benjamin early years: relations with mother, 66–8, with father, 68–9, 73–4; schooling, 16–18, 24, 68, 109–11, 190, n.108; baptism, 110–11; development of political ambition, 27–8, 69; rejects a legal career, 68; visits Belgium and the Rhineland (1824), 34, Italy (1826), 112; financial speculation fails, 69; involved in establishing Representative, 69–70; depressive illness, 8, 66–89; eastern tour (1830–1), 6, 75–6, 93, 95, 96–7, 105, 112–13, 114 intellectual formation: ‘genius’, preoccupation with, 2–3; Hegelian undertones, 13, 168, 170; mysticism, 39; orientalism, 90–105; philosophical idealism, 3–4, 37–9, 40, 87; purity versus corruption theme, 25, 35–6; racial interpretation of history, 12–13, 92, 98–9, 100–1, 102–3, 105;

Disraeli, Benjamin (cont.)

- romanticism, 5, 24–5, 34–5, 36–41, 42–3, 54–5, 64, 87–8; sources of ideas, 11–13; study of classics, 24,
- comparative religion, 13, German literature, 13, 182, n.80, history, 21–2, 143–4
- Jewishness, 93; in early life, 109–10, 111–12, 114–15; prejudice encountered by, 9–10, 17–19, 80, 109–11, 113–14; proto-Zionist strain in, 95–6, 124–5; reconciled with Christianity, 58, 125–6; reconsideration of enforced by entry into politics, 113; reinterpreted as source of pride, 8, 10–11, 41, 115, 118–20, 166; subdued after 1840s, 127–8
- personality and attributes: ambition, 7, 19, 21–2, 59, 68, 152–3; dandyism, 64, 79; dogmatism, 83; fondness for domestic comforts, 6; hysteroid tendency, 84–7; insecure identity, 80–1, 85–7; irony, 36–7, 103; messianic strain, 83; narcissism, 72, 74–5, 77–84, 87, 88–9; religious feeling, lack of, 126–7; self-command, 45, 81; Sephardi lineage, pride in, 121; social position, 3, 6, 7, 23, 153–5, 163–4, 171–2; superficiality, 82–3; theatricality, 84–5, 169; vengefulness, 19–21, 68, 81–2; dependence on women, 6, 78
- political career: pursues for fame, 79–80, 152–3; stimulated by Reform crisis (1831), 154; contests Wycombe, 81, 113, 155–6, 158–9, Taunton, 113, 159, Maidstone, 113, 164, Shrewsbury, 113–14; combines Radical and Tory elements, 155–6, 158, 169; identifies with England, 157–8; advocates national party, 140, 157–8, 169; enters Conservative party, 158–9; needs aristocratic patronage, 163–4, 172; start in parliament, 164; opposes, then supports, removal of Jewish disabilities, 59, 115, 125–6; mentor of ‘Young England’, 55–6, 64, 82, 85, 164–5; attacks Peel, 81–2, 141, 168; becomes protectionist leader in the Commons, 118, 120, 172; as a Conservative leader, 14–15, 82–3, 85, 172–3
- political ideas: aristocratic versus democratic principle, 156, 158; consistency claimed for, 80; democracy, 161, 163; empire founded on faith, 97–8, 99–100; Englishness, 84, 157–8,

- 160–3, Jewish contribution to, 97, 99, 104, 117, 166; equality, 161; power of image and imagination, power of, 96–7, 100, 169; instrumentality of, 80, 153; machiavellianism, 28–34; monarchism, 26, 170–1, 173; ‘natural aristocracy’, 47, 166; popular constitutionalism, 156, 158, 167–9, 170–1, 173; public opinion, 167; state, 161; toryism, 25–7, 29–30, 139–41, 160, 162, 166, 168–9, 170
- views on: Catholicism, 127; Chartism, 169; Church of England, 12, 126–7; Crown and people, 167, 170–1; dissenters, 137–8, 139; English aristocracy, 166–7, constitution, 160–3, history, 131–2, 136–41, 144–51; franchise, 162; Greek independence, 27, 95, 96; House of Commons, 162, 167, 170, 173; House of Lords, 162, 163, 173; interaction of genius with the spirit of the age, 3, 157, 160; Jerusalem, 113; Jewish people, natural conservatism of, 116, 166, racial aristocracy of, 10, 11, 41, 92, 98–9, 104, 105, 115–16, 119, 120–1, 122–3, restoration of to Palestine, 83, 95–6, 123–4, spiritual genius of, 10, 11, 92, 97, 98, 99, 105, 115–18, 166, superiority of Sephardic branch of, 121–3; Judaism, 115, 120, 123, 126, and Christianity, 58, 98, 117, 124–7; music, 39–40; nationalism, 95; Ottoman empire, 27, 95, 96; party, 158; physicians, 71–2; popular welfare, 56, 168; prime ministership, 173; protection, 168; Reform act (1832), 139, 162; religion as historical force, 99–100; religious discrimination, 18, 110; Tories, 139–41, 146, 147–9, 151, 155, 160, 162, 163; Whigs, 137–9, 145–9, 151, 155, 157, 158, 160, 162, 163; working-class politics, 170
- works: (see also individual titles): as vehicles of self-fashioning, 4–5, 41, 43–4, 48, 50–1, 63, 64–5; as record of psychological development, 57; ‘General Preface’ to the novels (1870), 57
- D’Israeli, Isaac, 6, 17, 68–9, 73–4, 144, 146, 165, 188, n.55; as analyst of ‘genius’, 2, 8, 69, orientalist, 175–6, n.28, scholar, 12; and Judaism, 107–9, 111, 128–30; Sephardi snobbery, 122; Tory views, 25, 26, 155
- D’Israeli, Maria, 66–7

INDEX

211

- Disraeli, Mary Anne (Mrs Wyndham Lewis to 1839), 6, 15, 78
 Disraeli, Sarah (grandmother of Benjamin), 108–9
 Disraeli, Sarah (sister of Benjamin), 6, 12, 66, 78
 Dorfling, Marshal, 22
 Durham, first earl of, 163
- Elizabeth I, Queen, 137
England and France: A Cure for the Ministerial Gallomania, 155, 157
- Fichte, J. G., 4, 15, 40
- Gallomania*, see England and France: A Cure for the Ministerial Gallomania
- Gautier, Théophile, 7
 George III, King, 138
 George IV, King, 132–3, 140
 Gladstone, W. E., 17, 23, 82; on Disraeli, 66, 80, 176, n.30
 Goethe, J. W. von, 47; his Wilhelm Meister influences Disraeli, 34
 Goldsmid, Isaac Lyon, 122
- Hallam, Henry, 143, 145, 146, 147
Hartlebury, 154
 Hegel, G. W. F., 13, 168, 170
Henrietta Temple, 54, 63
 Henry VIII, King, 137
 High Wycombe, 30, 155
 Higham Hall school, 17
 historiography, in Disraeli's day, 141–2
 House of Lords, in early nineteenth century, 133
 Hughenden Manor, 81, 120, 172
 Huskisson, William, 140, 150
- Ilgen, H. R. von, 22
- Jowett, Benjamin, on Disraeli, 152
- Kant, Immanuel, 38
 Knight, John, 171
 Kraut, C. F., 22
- Lockhart, J. G., 70
Lord George Bentinck, 92, 172
Lotbair, 101–2
 Lyndhurst, Lord, 163, 164
- Machiavelli, Niccolò, 28–32, 33–4
 Manners, Lord John, 55–6
 Marx, Karl, 154
 Maynooth seminary, 56
- Mendelssohn, Moses, 108
 Miller, John, 145, 146, 148
 monarchy, in early nineteenth century, 132–3
 Montagu, Edwin, 118, 176, n.35
 Morley, first Viscount, on Disraeli, 83
 Müller, C. O., 12–13
 Murray, John, 34, 70
- Napoleon I, 11, 99
 Navarino, battle of, 27
 Novalis (Friedrich von Hardenberg), 36, 38, 40–1
- Oastler, Richard, 169
 O'Connell, Daniel, 20, 81, 113
 O'Connor, Feargus, 170
- Peel, Sir Robert, 56, 81–2, 140, 141, 151, 153, 164–5
 Pericles, 24
 Pitt, William, the younger, 139, 150
 Plato, 24
Popanilla, 54–5, 61
 popular constitutionalism, 135, 156
- Representative, The*, 69–70
Revolutionary Epick, The, 156–7
 Ripperda, Baron, 22
Rise of Iskander, The, 95
 Robinson, Henry Crabb, on Disraeli, 13
 Rothschild, James de, 122
 Rothschild, Lionel de, 126
 Russell, Lord John, 27, 146, 147, 171
- Salisbury, third marquess of (known as Lord Robert Cecil to 1865, Viscount Cranborne, 1865–8), on Disraeli, 82–3, 84
- Schlegel, August, 39
 Schlegel, Friedrich, 36
 Schleiermacher, Friedrich, 40
 Shelburne, second earl of, 139, 149–50
 Shelley, Percy Bysshe, 51–4
 Smythe, George, 55–6
 Staël, Madame de, her Germany read by Disraeli, 3–4, 34–5, 39–40
 Stanley, Edward Henry (known as Lord Stanley, 1851–69; subsequently fifteenth earl of Derby), 13–14
 Stanley, Lord, see (to 1851) Derby, fourteenth earl of (1851–69) Stanley, Edward Henry
 Stein, Lorenz von, 13
Sybil or: The Two Nations, 56–8, 59–60, 61, 62, 64, 83–4, 165

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-49729-9 - The Self-Fashioning of Disraeli 1818–1851

Edited by Charles Richmond and Paul Smith

Index

More information

212

INDEX

Sykes, Lady Henrietta, 6, 76

Tancred or: The New Crusade, 56–8, 59–61,
64, 83–4, 92, 97–8, 100, 103, 116–17,
123, 126, 165, 172

Toreno, count of, 12

Tories, in early nineteenth century, 133–4

Turner, Sharon, 111, 143

Vatbek, 93*Venetia*, 51–4, 63

Victoria, Queen, 133, 152

Vindication of the English Constitution, 131–2,
133, 136, 148, 159–64, 165*Vivian Grey*, 5, 20–1, 34, 42–5, 51, 63, 67, 70,
110, 154, 201, n.17

Wellington, first duke of, 140, 141, 151

What is He?, 158

Whigs, in early nineteenth century, 134

William III, King, 138

William IV, King, 132–3, 140

Willyams, Mrs Sarah Brydges, 78, 121

Wolsey, Cardinal, 21–2

Wyndham, Sir William, 85, 155, 156

Young Duke, The, 42–4, 45–6, 51, 63, 75, 88

Young England, 55–6, 64, 82, 85