

---

INDEX

- Abi-Shemu, 243, 247–249
 Agadé, 134–135, 153, 192, 311–312
 Akkad, 134–136, 178, 191, 192
 Algaze, G, 110, 178–180
 Alishar Höyük, 307–308, 328–329
 Anatolia
     Assyrian trade in, colonies, 307–363
     Assyrian trade in, metropolis, 267–305
     colonial circuit of, 167–178
 anchors, 219, 224, 228, 230, 240, 264
 Aratta, 188–190, 192–199, 260
 Aristotle, 31–32
 Arslantepe, 175, 177–178, 180
 Ashkelon, 219, 252
 Asiatic mode of production, 8, 13–14
 Assur, 35, 136, 140, 141, 142–143, 267–268
     centre of interregional trade, 286–305
     city-state, 270–286
 Assyria. See also Assur
     trade circuit in Anatolia, colonies, 307–363
     trade circuit in Anatolia, metropolis, 267–305
 Baalat, temple of, 227, 232, 261
 Baalat Gebal, 202, 220, 226, 227, 230–232, 240, 258–259, 261
 Babylonia, 12, 31, 33, 119, 126, 137,
     140–144, 152, 154, 268, 270–271, 277–278
 balanced accounts, 131–133, 151–152, 290
 barley, 33, 130, 132, 138, 145, 147, 148, 152, 153–155, 340–341
 barter, 36, 85, 86–87
 Beirut, 236
 Beqaa valley, 202, 204, 206, 223
bit alim (“house of the City”), 280, 282–283, 290, 294, 361, 368
 Braudel, Fernand, 51–52, 56–57, 69, 97
 Bücher, Karl, 10–11
 businesswomen, 356–360
 Byblos, 365–367
     first Egyptian Dynasties and, 218–220
     institutionalisation of international contacts, 238–257
     Old Kingdom in Egypt and, 221–238
     overview, 201–202

- Byblos (cont.)
 pre-dynastic Egypt and, 202–218
 shared ideology, reciprocity and colonialism, 257–265
- caravans, 286–287, 305
 Assur's control of routes, 271–272 organisation of, 292–293, 299–303
- Carchemish, 171, 174, 176, 180
- cedar wood, 171, 219, 224, 232–233, 238, 261, 366
- centralised economy, 117–120
- centre-periphery system, 65–67, 70, 72, 179
- chlorite vessels, 176, 184–190
- City Assembly, 280–283, 286
- Cohen, A., 103–104
- coinage, 34, 85, 121, 148, 269, 296
- colonial situations, 42, 45, 77. See also
 colonialism
- colonial systems, 43. See also
 colonialism
- colonialism. See also Uruk
 Byblos, 257–265
 classical, deconstruction of, 47–49
 dependency theory, 56–59
 domination and native resistance, 54–56
 Greek and Roman, 44–47
 interculturalism and, 51–54
 overview, 41–44
 post-colonial theory and native communities, 72–77
 spheres of interaction model, 50–51 world-system theory, 60–72
- commercial circuits, 67. See also trade
 Assyrian trade in Anatolia, colonies, 307–363
 Assyrian trade in Anatolia, metropolis, 267–305
 commercial colonies, 98, 177, 181, 267–268. See also trade
 commercial diaspora, 52, 103–105, 173, 181
 commercial treaties, 333
 Elba and Assur, 136
 fraudulent practices and, 345–347
- copper, 125–126, 146–147, 152,
 170–171, 176, 192, 209,
 218–219, 236, 256, 288, 290,
 291, 296–297, 340–341
- credits, 336–338
- Curtin, Phillip, 103, 104–105, 173
- Cyprus, 126, 256, 257
- dam-gàr*, 127–134
- dependency theory, 56–59, 64
- Diakonoff, I.M., 14
- Dilmun, 66, 125–126, 127, 137, 149, 191, 288, 297
- Durhumid, 297
- economic anthropology, 7–8, 18, 28–29. See also Polanyi, Karl
- economy
 market, 117–120, 144–155, 369
 Marxist theory, 12–15
 modernist-primitivist controversy, 9–12
 place of trade in, 79–112 Polanyi's theory of ancient economy, 17–39
 world, 60–62
- Egypt, 201–265
 expansionist policy, 366–367
 first Egyptian Dynasties, 218–220 Old Kingdom, 221–238
 pre-dynastic, 202–218
 shared ideology, reciprocity and colonialism with Byblos, 257–265

- El Amarna period, 120, 247–249, 261–262
- Elam, 182–184, 256–257
- Elba, 125–126, 134, 136, 236–238
- Engel, F., 12–13
- Enmerkar (Enmerkar and the lord of Aratta), 182, 188, 192–199, 260
- enterprise, private, 121–122, 132, 143, 156, 284, 349–351
- Epic of Gilgamesh*, 182, 194
- eponyms, 278, 282–283, 334–335
- Eshnunna, Laws of, 147
- Euphrates, 150, 162, 168, 170, 171–172, 175, 256, 288, 309
- exchange
- circuits, 106, 141, 142, 182
  - direct, 86–87
  - gift, 90–96
  - market, 88
  - reciprocity, 28–29, 87, 88
  - redistribution, 28–29, 87–88
  - silent trade, 36
  - systems and mechanisms of, 83–86
  - trade and, 79–83, 88–90
  - typology of, 86–91
- Finely, Moses I., 26, 46
- firms, family, 349–351. See also enterprise, private
- Frank, André Gunder, 57–59
- Frankenstein, Susan, 70, 96, 102
- gift exchange, 90–96
- gold, 152, 210, 261, 281, 288, 290, 296, 342
- appearance in Byblos, 210
  - naruqqum contract, 339
  - price fluctuations, 153
  - restrictions on circulation of, 298
- role in re-invigorating European economy, 61
  - role in success of Assyrian trade in Anatolia, 360–361
- Gosden, Chris, 55–56, 180–181
- Greek colonies, 44–47
- Habuba Khabira-south settlement, 170, 171
- Hacinebi Tepe, 172–173
- Hammurabi's code, 31, 138–140, 147, 150
- Harappa, 190–191, 365
- Hattusha, 308, 328
- Hieracompolis, 210, 213
- historiography, Marxist, 12–15
- “house of the City” (bit alim), 280
- “house of the City” (bit alim), 282–283
- “house of the City” (bit alim), 290
- “house of the City” (bit alim), 294
- “house of the City” (bit alim), 361
- “house of the City” (bit alim), 368
- III Dynasty in Ur, 127–131
- Imdilum, 293, 337, 348–349, 352–355
- imperialism, 43, 44
- Innaya, 278, 299, 347, 355–356
- interculturalism, colonialism and, 51–54
- iron, 126, 257
- in Hammurabi's day, 152
  - price fluctuations, 153
  - restrictions on circulation of, 298
- Ishtar, temple of, 273–274, 278
- Istar-lamassi, 356–358
- ivory, 33, 52, 95, 100–101, 192, 210, 367

- Johnson, B. L., 107–110
- Kanesh, 35, 119, 142, 284, 301–305
 archaeology of Kanesh karum, 312–329
 organisation of Kanesh karum, 331–336
 origin of archives, 349
karum, 37, 140–141, 145–146, 268, 346–347
 Assyrians and Anatolians in,
 344–345
 Kanesh, administration of, 360
 Kanesh, archaeology of, 312–329
 Kanesh, organisation of, 331–336
 palaeo-Assyrian versus Babylonian, 307
karum Ib, 326–329
karum II, 286, 292, 318–326, 347–348
 Kohl, Phillip, 66, 184, 190
 Kristiansen, K., 67–69
kula system, 34, 92
- lapis lazuli, 110, 141, 171, 176,
 182–192, 199, 212, 237–238,
 255, 257, 286, 299
- Larsen, M. T., 270, 280, 298, 299–300, 317, 360, 361
- laws of supply and demand, 29–31, 32, 37, 57, 122–123, 341,
 369
- Leemans, W. F., 26, 137–138
 Liverani, M., 14, 26, 94
 long distance trade, 36–37, 97–105
 L-shaped temple, 220, 228–229
- Magan, 67, 126, 127, 130, 135, 192, 237, 297
 Malinowski, Bronislaw, 85, 91–92
 Mari, 119, 141–142, 256–257 market, 29–32. See also economy
 Marx, Karl, 12–15, 18, 38, 70–71
 Mauss, Marcel, 91–92, 93
 Meluhha, 67, 127, 135, 191
 Memphis, 218, 235
 mercantile association, 338–340
 mercantile state, 362, 366
 Mesopotamia, 126–129. See also Assur; Uruk
 colonial circuit of North Mesopotamia, 167–178
 determining economic role played by institutions in, 8–9
 fluctuation of prices and wages, 152–155
 influences in pre-dynastic Egypt, 208–209
 interrelation between state and private, 155–156
 measures of value, 148–152 origins of state in, 107–110 port of trade, 37 relations between central Asia and Persian Gulf, 66–67
 reorientation towards West, 256
 Meyer, Eduard, 11–12
 modernists, 7–15, 25–26, 85, 117, 122–126
 money, 32–34, 85. See also coinage;
 gold; silver
 Montet, Pierre, 221–222, 227, 242
 Montet cylinder, 233
 Montet jar, 254
- Naqada I period, 210–212
 Naqada II period, 212
 Naqada III period (Protodynastic period), 213–218
 Naram-Sin, 134, 135, 153, 312
 Nineveh, 173–174
 North, Douglas C., 39, 123–124

- oligarchy, mercantile, 120, 271–272, 281, 295, 360–361
- Persian Gulf, 66–67, 125–126, 181, 184–187, 192
- Polanyi, Karl, 82–83, 87
 on commercial colonies, 98 criticism of, by Morris Silver, 122–123 integration mechanisms, 28–29 intellectual trajectory, 18–21
 on Kanesh trade, 268–270 long distance exchange of ports and trade, 36–37 money currency and prices, 32–34 notion of market, 29–32
 overview, 17–18
 place of economy in society, 26–27 relevance today, 37–39
 substantivism, 23–26
 theoretical thinking, 21–23
 trade and traders, 34–36
- ports, 219–220, 223–226, 249–250, 252–254. See also Byblos; Ugarit
- post-colonial theory, 72–77
- prestige goods, 33, 66–67, 94–96, 366
- price fluctuations, 31, 32–34, 122, 154–155, 342–343, 369
- primitivists, 7–15, 18, 25–26
- Protodynastic period (Naqada III period), 213–218
- Purushaddum, 298, 300, 305, 308–309, 310, 344
- reciprocity
 and colonialism and shared ideology of Egypt and Byblos, 257–265
 exchange, 28–29, 87, 88
- Renfrew, Colin, 83, 84, 87–91, 100, 111–112, 209
- Renger, J., 121, 124–125
- Roman colonies, 44–47
- Rostovzeff, Michael, 23
- Rowlands, M., 54–55, 67, 80–81, 83, 84–85, 96
- Said, Edward, 49, 73–74
- Sargon I, 276, 280
- Sargon II, 154
- settlements, 168, 173–174. See also
 colonialism
 Greek, 44
 Middle Uruk period, 165–167
- Shamsi-Adad I, 146
- Sidon, 70, 235–236, 251
- silver, 33, 35, 61, 121, 125, 131, 146, 147, 148–152, 170, 181, 236, 242, 269, 289–290, 295–296, 336–337, 339, 340–341, 360–361, 369
- Silver, Morris, 122–123, 124
- Simat-Assur, 359–360
- Sippar, 140–141, 143, 144–145, 288
- state, mercantile, 362, 366
- substantivism, 23–26, 84
- Sumer, 107, 161, 162, 168, 174, 176, 181, 182, 188, 194, 208
- Sumerian myths
Enmerkar and the lord of Aratta, 182, 188, 192–199, 260
Epic of Gilgamesh, 182, 194
- supply and demand, laws of, 29–31, 32, 37, 57, 122–123, 341, 369
- Susa, 135, 163–167, 182
- Susiana, 109, 163, 167–168, 178–179
- tamkarum*, 35, 37, 135, 136–144, 268, 336–338
- Taram-Kubi, 358–360
- Taris-matum, 356–358
- Tell Arqa, 235, 236
- Tell Brak, 173, 174, 175, 312

- Tell el-Dab'a, 253–254, 264–265, 367
- temples
 L-shaped, 220, 228–229
 temple of Baalat, 227, 232, 233, 261
 Temple of the Obelisks, 220, 222, 239–240
- temple-state theory, 8, 208
- Tepe Gawra, 173–174, 180
- Tepe Yahya, 176, 184–190
- textiles, 81, 290, 293–294, 340–341, 350
- Tigris, 162, 168, 174, 271
- tin, 141, 256–257, 284, 287, 291–293
- Tod Treasure, 254–255, 286
- trade
 Akkadian (Sargonid) period, 134–136
 Assyrian, commercial circuits, 267–305, 307–363
 Assyrio-Babylonian tamkarum, 136–144 centralised economy and market economy, 117–120 exchange and, 79–83
 inter-regional, 105–112
 long distance, 36–37, 97–105 markets, prices and equivalences, 144–156 merchants, of Umma, 131–134 merchants, role and status of, 126–127
 modernists, 122–126
 silent trade, 36
 Sumerian Dam-Gàr, 127–131
 temple state theory, 120–122
 typologies of, 86–91
 transit centres, 171, 199, 271–272, 288, 366–367
- treaties, commercial, 333
 Elba and Assur, 136
 fraudulent practices and, 345–347
- Tyre, 82, 219, 236, 365–366
- Ugarit, 90, 141, 144, 156
- Umma, 131–134, 135
- Ur, III Dynasty, 127–131
- Uruk
 colonial circuit of North Mesopotamia and Anatolia, 167–178 Colonial Model, 178–181
 colonisation of Susa Valley, 163–167 lapis lazuli and stone vessel route, 182–192 myth of Enmerkar and the Lord of Aratta, 192–199
 overview, 157–160
 unequal distribution of resources and colonial expansion, 161–163
- Veenhof, K. R., 35, 269–270, 284, 292
- Wallerstein, Immanuel, 53–54, 60–64
- Weber, Max, 11, 129
- Wen Amon, 224
- wine, trade in, 140, 214, 236, 254
- Wolf, Eric, 37, 51–54, 72
- Yapi-Shemu-Abi, 244–245
- Zaccagnini, 14
- Zaccagnini, C., 124–125
- Zagros mountains, 132, 162, 173, 287, 291, 299
- Zimri-Lim, 142, 256–257, 292