

Contents

List of illustrations	page vii
Note on the text	viii
Acknowledgements	ix
1 Introduction	1
A model of creation	3
Malevolent eyes: spectators and readers	20
‘Small Latine , and lesse Greeke ’	35
2 An anatomy of envy	42
The ancient and medieval traditions	42
Envy in the early modern period	51
Jonson’s pharmakon	65
3 Defacement: anxiety and the Jonsonian imagination	75
Corruptible relics	80
Literary slander and ‘the Epidemicall Infection’	84
Defacing the ‘old Masters’	90
The envious reader: Poetaster, Or His Arraignment	94
4 Sanctuary: Jonson’s prophylactic strategy	110
The poet’s sanctuary: ‘To Penshurst’	112
Authority and sanctuary	118
The envious creator	132
5 Monument: turning the text to stone	139
‘Immortal monument’	144
‘Borrowing a life of posterity’: monument and the court masque	148
The gorgon gaze of envy: The Masque of Queenes	153
The Medusa of eloquence: Catiline, His Conspiracy	177

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-51743-0 - Ben Jonson and Envy
Lynn S. Meskill
Table of Contents
More information

---

vi

Contents

6	Being posthumous	186
	The patched mantle of fame: The Staple of Newes	188
	Epilogue: fame in the age of print	204
	Bibliography	207
	Index	226