

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-52424-7 - The Figured Landscapes of Rock-Art: Pictures in Place

Edited by Christopher Chippindale and George Nash

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

- List of figures* xi
List of tables xvi
List of contributors xvii
Editors' acknowledgements xix
Note on radiocarbon dating xx
- 1 Pictures in place: approaches to the figured landscapes of rock-art 1
 Christopher Chippindale and George Nash
- Pictures in place 1
 Uncertainty in time 3
 Certainty in place 7
 The concept of landscape in archaeology, and its application to rock-art 11
 Informed methods and formal methods in studying rock-art 14
 Informed methods and the landscape of rock-art 14
 The example of Aboriginal north Australia 17
 Formal methods and the landscape of rock-art 20
 Definitions and research practicalities 22
 Rationale and structure of the present book 25
- Part One
Principles of landscape and rock-art in practice 37
- 2 Worlds within stone: the inner and outer rock-art landscapes of northern Australia and southern Africa 39
 Paul S. C. Taçon and Sven Ouzman
- Worlds within stone 39
 Northern Australia 42
 Aboriginal ethnography – stories of the Mimi 42
- Rock-painting and the inner world 45
 Rock-engraving and evidence from the earliest landscapes 46
 Southern Africa 47
 Rock-art types and distribution 47
 Bushfolk ethnography – conversations about 'being in the world' 49
 Rock-painting and the inner world 50
 Rock-engraving and contacting the inner world 52
 Rock-engraving arrangements 54
 Cupules as evidence of the earliest landscapes 60
 Rock-art and the antiquity of inner and outer landscapes 61
- 3 Rock-art, landscape, sacred places: attitudes in contemporary archaeological theory 69
 Daniel Arsenault
- Sacred landscape as symbolic construct 69
 What is an archaeology of landscape? 71
 Four approaches: between nature and culture in landscape 71
 Natural and cultural in a social landscape 73
 'Sacred landscape' and its topography 74
 The concepts of sacred space and sacred place 76
 Archaeology and the sacred 78
 Archaeology of sacred landscapes 80
- 4 Locational analysis in rock-art studies 85
 William D. Hyder
- Rock-art and rock-art location 85
 The site 87
 The topographic environment 91
 The region 94
 Discussion: scale of the study, levels of analysis, rigour 95

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-52424-7 - The Figured Landscapes of Rock-Art: Pictures in Place

Edited by Christopher Chippindale and George Nash

Table of Contents

More information

viii Contents

5 From millimetre up to kilometre: a framework of space and of scale for reporting and studying rock-art in its landscape 102

Christopher Chippindale

Scales of field observation and inference on Mont Bego 102

Diversity and consistency in units of record 103

Recognizing variability in rock-art 104

Defining units on Mont Bego 105

Physical scale from millimetre to kilometre: a uniting factor in rock-art studies 110

The millimetre scale: the dimension of technique 110

The centimetre scale: the dimension of the figure and motif 111

The metre scale: systematics of the surface or panel bearing the figure and motif 112

The kilometre scale: place of the surface or panel in a broader landscape 113

The value of a systematics of scale 113

6 The canvas as the art: landscape analysis of the rock-art panel 118

James D. Keyser and George Poetschat

Images and natural features 118

The panel as landscape in Columbia Plateau rock-art 120

Rattlesnake Shelter 122

Horsethief Butte – the rattlesnake lizard 122

Horsethief Butte – a second lizard 125

The half and half spirit figure 126

The rock-art panel as portal to the supernatural 128

'Canvas' and image 128

7 The landscape setting of rock-painting sites in the Brandberg (Namibia): infrastructure, Gestaltung, use and meaning 131

Tilman Lenssen-Erz

The placing of images into a landscape 131

Infrastructure and Gestaltung 134*Gestaltung* and human behaviour 140
Structuring rock-art sites – signifying the landscape 144Part Two Informed methods: opportunities and applications 151*8 Rock-art and the experienced landscape: the emergence of late Holocene symbolism in north-east Australia 153

Bruno David

Experienced landscapes and created landscapes 153

South-east Cape York 153

The human past 154

The rock-art 158

The peckings 159

Late-Holocene regionalization 162

Social, political and demographic implications 165

The social construction of rock-art 166

Animals in nature 167

Animals as food: archaeological evidence 168

Animals in the art 171

Animals expressing world-views: ethnography 173

Animals as symbols: emergent social formations of the late Holocene 176

9 Linkage between rock-art and landscape in Aboriginal Australia 182
Josephine Flood

Rock-art, landscape, religion: a trinity of Aboriginal Australia 182

Rock-art as 'maps' in the broad landscape of central Australia 183

Dreaming Tracks in northern Australia 186

Rock-art as a by-product of ritual 191

Factors affecting the distribution of decorated rock-shelters 192

Criteria for choice of sites 194

Sacred and secular rock-art 195

Inter-site and intra-site relationships 196

Conclusions: landscapes past and landscapes future 197

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-52424-7 - The Figured Landscapes of Rock-Art: Pictures in Place

Edited by Christopher Chippindale and George Nash

Table of Contents

More information

10 Places of power: the placement of Dinwoody petroglyphs across the Wyoming landscape 201

Lawrence Loendorf

Petroglyphs and pictographs in central
Wyoming 201The distribution of Dinwoody Tradition petroglyphs 202Cultural affiliation for Dinwoody Tradition petroglyphs 204

Petroglyphs at Dinwoody Tradition sites 205

Conclusions: the Dinwoody Tradition, landscape and world-view 213

11 Friends in low places: rock-art and landscape on the Modoc Plateau 217

David S. Whitley, Johannes H. N. Loubser and Don HannLandscape: a physical place, socially constituted 217

Rock-art of the Modoc Plateau 219

Modelling Native American landscape symbolism 221

Ethnography and Modoc Plateau rock-art 223

Shamanic vision questing 224

Shamanistic vision questing 226

Rock-art and mythology 227

The making and meaning of shamanistic
landscapes 233

12 Dangerous ground: a critique of landscape in rock-art studies 239

Benjamin W. Smith and Geoffrey
Blundell

Finding one's place 239

A naïve approach to landscape 240

A phenomenological approach to landscape 241

Conceptual filters 244

Selected observation of place 244

Macro-topographical features 245

Landscape as boundary 248

Image, assumption and landscape 253

Landscape and the rock-art of the Northern Province 254

San art in the landscape 255

Geometric art in the landscape 256

Farmer art in the landscape 257

A landscape view of the rock-art of northern South Africa 259

Part Three
Formal methods: opportunities and applications 263

13 Landscapes in rock-art: rock-carving and ritual in the old European North 265

Knut Helskog

Ritual in the landscape 265

Stories 266

Landscapes 268

Time 271

The case-studies 272

Alta 273

Nåmforsen 277

The River Vyg 278

Besovi Sledki 281

Carvings in the landscape 282

Landscapes in the carvings 284

Conclusions: rock-art, place and story 285

14 From natural settings to spiritual places in the Algonkian sacred landscape: an archaeological, ethnohistorical and ethnographic analysis of Canadian Shield rock-art sites 289

Daniel Arsenault

The Canadian Shield, its people and archaeology 289Rock-art sites in Québec: description and localization 292

Similarities and differences in graphic content 292

Similarities and differences in rock support 295

Similarities and differences in the physical setting of rock-art sites 296Sacred landscape and its components in Algonkian oral traditions 297The context of shamanism and the creation of sacred places and areas 300

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-52424-7 - The Figured Landscapes of Rock-Art: Pictures in Place

Edited by Christopher Chippindale and George Nash

Table of Contents

More informationx Contents

Rock-art sites and features of the natural landscape 302
Intrinsic properties of the rock outcrop 303
Visual effect 304
Acoustic qualities 305
Particular location of the decorated walls with respect to the rest of the rock support 306
Clues provided by the study of place-names 309
Archaeology of the Algonkian sacred landscape 309

15 The topographic engravings of Alpine rock-art: fields, settlements and agricultural landscapes 318

Andrea Arcà

Images of landscape in Alpine rock-art 318
Definition: the 'topographic engravings' 319
Distribution: topographic engravings in the Alpine arc 321
Chronology 327
Neolithic to Copper Age topographics:
Valcamonica 329
Neolithic to Copper Age topographics:
Mount Bego 332
Sequence in the Mount Bego figures: topographics and plough-teams 334

Valcamonica and Mount Bego figures:
plough-teams 338
Iron Age topographics: Bedolina (Valcamonica) and Aussois (Haute Maurienne) 338
Interpretation 340
Topographic engravings: context and social meaning 345

Part Four
Pictures of pictures 351

16 Walking through landscape: a photographic essay of the Campo
Lameiro valley, Galicia, north-western Spain 353

George Nash, Lindsey Nash and
Christopher Chippindale

Sorting and arranging 353
Walking the landscape 354
Pictures are pictures! 355

Index 372