

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-53154-2 - The Last Tasmanian Tiger: The History and Extinction of the Thylacine

Robert Paddle

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

List of Illustrations	vi
Acknowledgments	vii
Notes on referencing, dates and measures	x
1 Introduction: science and the species from a European perspective	1
2 Constructing objectivity: changing scientific perceptions of the thylacine	15
3 Of signal importance: select social and predatory behaviours	37
4 A predatory entertainment: stimuli of consuming interest	79
5 Ovisceral exploitation: extracts of sheepish behaviour	98
6 Mythology becomes misology: the dogmatism of unenlightenment	139
7 Faunal fun and games: the politics of protection	168
8 The last Tasmanian tiger: indifference and the demise of the species	185
9 Post-extinction blues: contingency and responsibility in extinction	196
10 Conclusion: the lessons to be learnt	234
Bibliography	241
Index	269

v