Contents

Preface xi
List of abbreviations xiii

Introduction 1
Defining the task 1
Women’s studies in early Christianity and cultural anthropology 13
Honour and shame 27
Public, male / private, female 30
A social-scientific concept of power 41

PART ONE Pagan reaction to early Christian women in the second century CE 49
Pliny 51
Marcus Cornelius Fronto 59
Lucius Apuleius 67
Lucian of Samosata 73
Galen of Pergamum 82
Celsus 94
Conclusion 120

PART TWO Celibacy, women, and early church responses to public opinion 127
Paul’s teaching on marriage as a ‘conversionist’ response to the world 129
Contents

Paul's focus on women holy in body and spirit in 1 Corinthians 7 133

A focus on women in light of the values of honour and shame 144

1 Timothy 5.3–16 – second-century celibate women under public scrutiny 154

When the private becomes public – contacts between 1 Timothy 5.3–16 and the Acts of Paul and Thecla 165

Conclusion 178

PART THREE  Marriage, women, and early church responses to public opinion 183

   1 Corinthians 7.12–16 – the evangelizing potential of household relations 189

   1 Peter 3.1–6 – recovering the lives of the quiet evangelists 195

   Justin’s woman married to an unchaste husband – religious sensibilities and life with a pagan husband 205

   Married life and the social reality of women in the communities of Ignatius of Antioch 213

   From Ephesians 5.21–33 to Ignatius, Letter to Polycarp 5.1–2 – the evolution of authority structures governing the lives of married women 230

   The church-bride and married women as mediators between the church and the world 240

   Conclusion 243

General conclusion 249

Bibliography 259

Index 272