Acknowledgments

We would like to thank the following friends, family members and colleagues for their help and support: Sinéad Ni Ghabhláin for her superb translating job; Timothy Earle for his suggestions and for serving as discussant at the original conference session which produced this volume; Françoise Audouze for her useful editorial suggestions; Susan L. Saul Gibson for technical support and editing (especially the index, which was a Herculean task and could not have been completed without her help); Baelyn Neff and Lisa Keeley for their help with the index; and Thomas H. Hrubby for computer expertise, editing, encouragement and good food. Any errors or omissions probably can be attributed to the dark forces of the Celtic underworld, but the responsibility is ours alone.
