

Contents

List of illustrations	page x
List of contributors	xii
Acknowledgments	xii
1 Introduction. Beyond the mists: forging an ethnological approach to Celtic studies Bettina Arnold and D. Blair Gibson	1
PART I CELTIC POLITICAL SYSTEMS: RESEARCH PARADIGMS	11
2 From chieftdom to state organization in Celtic Europe Patrice Brun	13
3 Building an historical ecology of Gaulish polities Carole L. Crumley	26
4 The early Celts of west central Europe: the semantics of social structure Franz Fischer	34
PART II RECOVERING IRON AGE SOCIAL SYSTEMS	41
5 The material culture of social structure: rank and status in early Iron Age Europe Bettina Arnold	43
6 The significance of major settlements in European Iron Age society Olivier Büchsenschütz	53
7 Early "Celtic" socio-political relations: ideological representation and social competition in dynamic comparative perspective Michael Dietler	64
PART III THE QUESTION OF STATEHOOD IN LA TÈNE EUROPE			73
8 States without centres? The middle La Tène period in temperate Europe John Collis			75
9 Late Iron Age society in Britain and north-east Europe: structural transformation or superficial change? Colin Haselgrove			81
10 Settlement and social systems at the end of the Iron Age Peter S. Wells			88
PART IV EVOLUTION AND ETHNOHISTORY: THE PROTOHISTORIC POLITIES OF GAUL AND THE BRITISH ISLES			97
11 Modelling chieftdoms in the Scottish Highlands and islands prior to the '45 Robert A. Dodgshon			99
12 Caesar's perception of Gallic social structures Sean B. Dunham			110
13 Chieftdoms, confederacies, and statehood in early Ireland D. Blair Gibson			116
14 Clans are not primordial: pre-Viking Irish society and the modelling of pre-Roman societies in northern Europe Nerys Thomas Patterson			129
Bibliography			137
Index			156