

---

Contents

List of Illustrations	page ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xxi
Part I. Preliminary Issues	I
1 Introduction	3
Methodology	7
Goals	12
2 A Proposition	20
3 Vocation	30
A History of “Vocation”	33
Labor, Work, and Action	44
4 The Efficacy of Art	48
Toward a Theory of Representation	50
Art and Social Change	59
Part II. Roles of the Artist	69
5 Premodern Theocentric Mimetic Craftsperson	71
Traditional Artist/Artisan	74
The Russian Icon Writer	78
The Tibetan Thangka Painter	83
Reaccenting Premodern Traditions	87
6 Modern Anthropocentric Original Inventor	93
From the Premodern to the Modern	94
Artist as Hero	101
Artist as Semidivine Creator and Mystic Visionary	108

CONTENTS

---

7 Avant-Garde Prophet	115
The Avant-Garde	117
Artist as Prophet	126
The Death of the Avant-Garde and the Birth of the Postmodern	131
8 Postmodern Parodic Ex-centric Bricoleur	136
Characterizing the Present	138
Artist as Bricoleur	144
Artists and Their Media	154
Part III. The Reclamation of the Future	163
9 Prophetic Criticism	165
Defining Prophecy	167
Prophecy in Historical Perspective	173
The Process of Prophetic Criticism	183
10 Visionary Imagination	196
Models of the Imagination	200
Ocularcentrism	212
Recuperation of the Visionary Imagination	220
11 Creativity, Utopia, and Hope	233
Creativity	234
Utopia	238
Hope	241
Artist as Public Intellectual	245
12 A Final Image	254
Notes	259
Works Cited	297
Index	315