

Contents

	Introduction	page 1
1	VISCONTI AND NEOREALISM	6
	Ossessione	6
	An aristocrat and a filmmaker	6
	The making and reception of Ossessione	14
	Melodramatic realism	16
	Background, theory, and practice of neorealism	25
	Birth of a concept	25
	Theory and ideals	27
	La terra trema	32
	Realism after the war	32
	Fate and alteration	36
	Bellissima	51
	In search of a style	51
	Illusions of art and reality	54
	Our Women	58
2	THE RISORGIMENTO FILMS	60
	Senso	60
	Opera and realism	60
	The formation of Senso	63
	Risorgimento as history and mythology	67
	Melodrama as criticism of history	71
	The Leopard	82
	Reassessing the Risorgimento	82
	Stagnation and change	86
	Toward a novelistic cinema	90

3	THE FAMILY AND MODERN ITALIAN SOCIETY	98
	Visconti's two families	98
	Rocco and His Brothers	102
	Production and censorship	102
	Social and literary background	104
	Five alternatives for five brothers	107
	Melodrama as nostalgia and a social commentary	115
	Sandra	119
	The story and the characters	119
	Style and themes	125
	The Witch Burned Alive	130
	Conversation Piece	132
4	VISCONTI AND GERMANY	139
	Visconti, Thomas Mann, and two aspects of Europe	139
	The Job	142
	The Damned	144
	The inverse side of Germany	144
	A descent to hell	148
	Death in Venice	155
	Adapting Mann and Mahler	155
	Transforming literary into audiovisual splendor	161
	Ludwig	172
	The battle for Ludwig	172
	A film about Ludwig II	174
	Thematic concerns and narrative structure	179
	Audiovisual style	184
5	VISCONTI AS AN INTERPRETER OF EUROPEAN LITERATURE	188
	Experiencing literature and cinema	188
	Visconti's literary ideals	188
	The problems of adapting	193
	White Nights	197
	The Stranger	202
	Being French in Algeria	202
	The Stranger as film and literature	204
	Remembrance of Things Past	208

CONTENTS

ix

The Innocent	211
D'Annunzio and Visconti as decadents	211
The power of adapting	215
Notes	221
Filmography	247
Stage Productions	261
Unrealized Film Projects	271
Bibliography	273
Index	279