PREFACE

This book originated as a dissertation submitted for the Ph.D. degree in 1960. It is a much revised and augmented version of that dissertation, but not entirely rewritten.

My thanks are due to the custodians of the British Museum, the University Library at Cambridge, the Corsini Library in Rome, the National Library at Naples, the Vatican Library and the Herzog August Library at Wolfenbüttel for allowing me to collate manuscripts in their care. I am most grateful to the Faculty Board of Classics in the University of Cambridge for generous financial support. It is particularly pleasant to express my appreciation of many helpful suggestions and criticisms to Professor W. V. Clausen, Mr E. J. Kenney, Mr A. G. Lee, Dr J. A. Richmond and Mr F. H. Sandbach. My debt of gratitude to Professor C. O. Brink is greater than I can ever adequately repay. His unfailing kindness and encouragement have made possible the completion of a work begun with little consciousness of the difficulties it would present.

Mr A. G. Lee has read the proofs of this book with devoted care and effected many improvements. Mr D. W. Lucas has kindly suggested various corrections. The University Press has given me the benefit of its invariable helpfulness and unsurpassable skill.

F. R. D. G.
