

INDICES

NOTE

The use of square brackets indicates that the word which they enclose is corrupt or interpolated. Words in italics or represented by italic numbers are the result of conjecture. Words marked with an asterisk are doubtful in one way or another, for instance conjectures not certainly right or MS. readings which may be, but are not certainly, corrupt. The purpose of constructing the indices in this rather complicated form is to distinguish, as far as possible, what is certain from what is in any way doubtful.
