Contents

List of contributors  vii
Preface  ix

Introduction  1

I  The Iraq War and the Atlantic alliance
1 Toward transatlantic drift?
   GEIR LUNDESTAD  9
2 The dynamics of the feud over Iraq
   ELIZABETH POND  30
3 The United States and its Atlantic partners
   DAVID M. ANDREWS  56

II  National policies within the Alliance
4 US politics and transatlantic relations: we are all Europeans now
   MILES KAHLER  81
5 Three rifts, two reconciliations: Franco-American relations during the Fifth Republic
   GEORGES-HENRI SOUTOU  102
6 Security exporters: Germany, the United States, and transatlantic cooperation
   HUBERT ZIMMERMANN  128
7 A bridge too far: the United Kingdom and the transatlantic relationship
   WILLIAM WALLACE AND TIM OLIVER  152
8 The richest and farthest master is always best: US–Italian relations in historical perspective
   LEOPOLDO NUTI  177
III Prospects for the Alliance

9 The Iraq crisis and the future of the Western alliance
   MARC TRACHTENBERG 201

10 Military competence versus policy loyalty: central Europe and transatlantic relations
   WADE JACOBY 232

11 Is Atlanticism dead?
   DAVID M. ANDREWS 256

References 267
Index 282