

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-64532-4 - Contested Economic Institutions: The Politics of Macroeconomics and Wage Bargaining in Advanced Democracies

Torben Iversen

Index

More information

INDEX

Alesina, Alberto, 20, 57–8, 79

Austria: absence of wage solidarism, 152–4; centralization of bargaining (1960–1995), 8–10; elite autonomy in, 153; inflation and unemployment in, 152; wage inequality in, 72

Bade, Robin, 56–8

bargaining: under accommodating and non-accommodating monetary rules, 2–5; centralization in OECD countries (1973–1993), 6–8; concatenation rule in Denmark, 122; decentralization under EMU, 82; decentralized bargaining in model of, 24–8; effective number of units for, 53; EFO model implications, 26; intraorganizational, 29; levels of, 48; Nash bargaining theory, 29; potential coordination under EMU, 82; Rubinstein's theory, 181n28; union-monetary authority two-stage game, 39–46; with unions of unequal size, 52–3; weighting in construction of centralization index, 54–5, 83–5 See also bargaining institutions; bargaining system; individual countries bargaining institutions: centralization of authority, 48–51; evolution in OECD countries (1973–1993), 8–10; interaction with monetary regime and economic performance, 2–5, 23–38; measuring decentralization of authority, 50–

1; in neo-corporatist theory, 23–4 See also individual countries bargaining institutions, centralized: association with accommodating monetary policy, 77–8, 81, 100–103, 106–8; in Austria, 8–10, 151–5; in bargaining effects model, 67–74; in Denmark, 121–2, 124, 126, 138–9; employment performance with, 47; institutional design with, 93; in neo-corporatism, 24; in Norway, 156–9; relation to unemployment, 32–8, 67–9; in Sweden, 123–4, 126, 142–3; union strategies under, 28–32, 47

bargaining institutions, decentralized: in bargaining effects model, 67–74; under EMU, 82; monetary policy under, 47; relation to unemployment, 67–9; union strategies under, 24–6, 47

bargaining institutions, intermediately centralized: association with nonaccommodating monetary policy, 77–8, 81, 100–3; in bargaining effects model, 67, 71–2; in Germany, 8–10, 159–64; in neo-corporatism, 24; union strategies under, 26–8, 47 bargaining system: in bargaining effects model, 60–74; centralized system as coalition, 29; choice for social democracy, 171; decentralized system in economic policies-wage strategies model, 111–15; of LMEs, 74; social wage in,

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-64532-4 - Contested Economic Institutions: The Politics of Macroeconomics and Wage Bargaining in Advanced Democracies

Torben Iversen

Index

More information

216

INDEX

- bargaining system (cont.)
 31; with three bargaining levels, 51–2
See also individual countries
- Barro, Robert J., 19–20
- Basic Agreement: Denmark (1899), 122;
 Sweden (1938), 123
- Calmfors, Lars, 13, 23–7, 38, 49, 55–6, 63, 167
- Cameron, David, 55–6
- capitalism: absence of strategic capacity in free-market, 28, 74, 166; centralization and decentralization in organized, 166
- capital market integration: as force for institutional change, 104–6, 133, 144–5; government use of interest rates with, 168
- capital mobility: with capital market integration, 104–6; effect on monetary policy, 11–12, 125, 136–7, 140, 145, 168
- Carlin, Wendy, 22–3
- central banks: CBI composite index of independence, 58, 59–60; degree of independence of, 10–14; of ERM member countries, 82; indexes of independence, 57; index of legal independence (Cukierman), 57–8
- centralization: collective action of unions with, 2–3, 28–32; composite indexes of, 49–50; neo-corporatist explanation, 93; of OECD country wage bargaining (1973–1993), 6–10; in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 40–6; of wage bargaining and earnings equality, 2–4, 36–7, 72–4, 77 See also bargaining institutions, centralized; individual countries
- centralization, Keynesian: coalition formation with, 93–4; economic adaptation to full employment, 94–5; in economic policies-wage strategies model, 115–18; factors in erosion of, 166, 168; in organized capitalism, 166
- centralization, monetarist: in economic policies-wage strategies model, 115–18
- centralization index: relation to hard currency index, 10–12; of wage bargaining, 51–6, 83–5
- coalitions: in centralized bargaining systems, 29; of contested institutions theory, 93–4; formation of monetarist flexibility, 100–101; formation with Keynesian centralization, 93–4, 98; formation with Keynesian decentralization, 98–9; formation with monetarist decentralization, 93–4, 99–100
- Coase Theorem, 6, 95
- Cohen, Gerald, 20
- Cohen, R. N., 79
- collective action problem: circumstances for solving, 27–32, 81; logic of Olson's, 13, 29; of unions, 2–4, 25, 28–31, 34
- commodification index, 75
- contested exchange theory, 186n7
- contested institutions theory: coalition formation under, 93–4; explanations for design of policy regimes and bargaining institutions, 108; implication for OMEs, 106
- convergence: around median voter, 79; in contested institutions theory, 93–4; between Denmark and Sweden, 139–47; in monetary policies, 11, 90
- corporatism: centralization in five OECD countries, 7–10; corporatist intermediation and concertation, 182n3; revival of concept of, 17; social democratic, 167–8, 170–1 See also neo-corporatist theory
- Cox, Gary W., 79
- Cukierman, Alex, 20, 56–8
- currencies: in Exchange Rate Mechanism, 81–2; hard currency index as indicator of OECD country monetary policy, 10–11; movements as indicator of monetary policy commitment, 59–60; pegging to other currencies, 58 See also exchange rate; exchange rate policy; hard currency index
- Cusack, Thomas, 64
- DA (Dansk Arbejdsgiverforening) employers' association, 122
- data: for centralization analyses, 53–4
- data sources: concentration of union membership, 83; equilibrium model of bargaining effects, 60; as indicators of wage inequality, 77; NSF project on centralization, 83
- decentralization: of OECD country wage bargaining (1984–1993), 7–8; in union-monetary authority two-stage

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-64532-4 - Contested Economic Institutions: The Politics of Macroeconomics and Wage Bargaining in Advanced Democracies

Torben Iversen

Index

More information

INDEX

217

- game, 40–6 See also bargaining institutions, decentralized
- decentralization, Keynesian: in economic policies-wage strategies model, 112–15
- decentralization, monetarist: coalition formation with, 93–4; economic adaptation to full employment, 94–5; in economic policies-wage strategies model, 112–15; in organized capitalism, 166; transition in Denmark and Sweden (1980s–1990s), 120, 125–51
- deindustrialization, 14, 105, 168–70
- Denmark: macroeconomic policies in, 137–41; origins of centralized bargaining, 121–2; public economy expansion, 124; break in and shift from centralized bargaining, 8–10, 139–40, 148–50; trade exposure, 133–4; unemployment levels in, 174
- deterrence effects: of nonaccommodating monetary rule, 27, 34
- Dornbusch, Rudiger, 59
- Downs, Anthony, 79
- Driffill, John, 13, 23–7, 38, 49, 55–6, 63, 167
- ECB. See European Central Bank (ECB).
- Economic and Monetary Union (EMU) monetary policy, 81–2
- economic performance: interaction with monetary regime and bargaining institutions, 2–5
- economic policies-union wage strategies model: centralized subgame, 115–18; decentralized subgame, 111–15; exposed, sheltered, and low-wage sector assumptions, 109–11
- EFO (Edgren, Faxén, Odhner) model, 26
- elasticity of demand: contingent on monetary rules, 26–7
- employers' association, Denmark (DA), 122
- employment: alternative to expansion of public sector, 181n20; expansion in private service sector, 171–2; expansion in public sector, 28–9, 31–2, 75, 105, 133, 156; performance in centralized and intermediately centralized systems, 3; performance in OME countries, 74–6; in public and private services sectors in OECD countries (1970–1992), 172–3; ratio of full to part-time jobs in the Netherlands, 174
- employment, full: in Keynesian centralization, 94–5; in monetarist decentralization, 94–5; policy in Denmark and Sweden, 121–5; of Rehn-Meidner model, 32, 105, 123, 171–2; in social democracy, 171, 174–6 See also unemployment
- EMU. See Economic and Monetary Union (EMU).
- equality of earnings: with centralized wage bargaining, 3–5, 36–7, 72–4, 77; Denmark and Sweden (1970–1992), 172–3; influence of public policy on, 171; Netherlands, 173; relationship to private service sector employment expansion, 171–2 See also wage dispersion
- equilibrium: in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 41–6
- ERM. See Exchange Rate Mechanism (ERM).
- Esping-Andersen, Gøsta, 77, 169, 172
- European Central Bank (ECB): potential targeted monetary policy of, 82, 163
- European Monetary System (EMS), Exchange Rate Mechanism (ERM), 58, 81–2
- Exchange Rate Mechanism (ERM): decentralization effect of, 81–2; members' currency policies, 58
- exchange rate policy: Austria, 152; Denmark, 137–40; fixed, 12; relation to monetary policy, 10–12, 59, 136; Sweden, 136–7, 142–3, 145–6 See also monetary policy
- fiscal policy: Austria, 152–3; constraints on, 105–6; Denmark, 124–5, 134–5, 138, 140–2; Germany, 161; in new classical theory, 20; Norway, 155–6; related to wage bargaining, 47, 82; Sweden, 125, 134–5, 145–6, 148 See also macroeconomic policy; monetary policy
- Flanagan, Robert J., 80
- free-riding: in centralized bargaining systems, 28; effect of social wage on, 31; in Olson's "encompassing" groups, 28
- Friedman, Milton, 18–19
- game, two-stage: union-monetary authority interaction, 39–46
- Garrett, Geoffrey, 13, 28, 78–9, 167–8, 170

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-64532-4 - Contested Economic Institutions: The Politics of Macroeconomics and Wage Bargaining in Advanced Democracies

Torben Iversen

Index

More information

218

INDEX

- Germany: centralization of bargaining (1960–1995), 8–10, 159–63; monetary policy, 159–61; reforms in collective bargaining, 162–3; services employment in public and private sectors (1970–1992), 173
- Golden, Miriam, 50–1
- Gordon, David, 19–20
- Gourevitch, Peter, 10
- government: in centralized subgame of economic policies-wage strategies model, 115–18; as compensator for wage restraint, 31; in decentralized subgame of economic policies-wage strategies model, 111–15; indirect effect on outcomes, 80; influence of partisan, 79–81; role in reform of wage bargaining, 80; signals about its competency, 20
- Grilli, Vittorio, 21, 56–8
- hard currency index: compared to central bank independence indexes, 57t, 59; relation to centralization index, 10–12
- Helleiner, Eric, 13
- Herfindahl index, 53
- income tax: to finance unemployment benefits, 24
- industrial relations system: Denmark, 122; link to welfare state, 31–2; Sweden, 123–4
- inflation rate: in bargaining effects model, 60–74; as indicator of OECD country monetary policy, 10–11; in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 39–46
- information: complete information in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 39–46; imperfect information in economic policies-wage strategies model, 111–15
- institutions: distribution versus efficiency in design, 5–6; effect of government design, 80; forces influencing change in, 104–6; forces of change affecting politically contested equilibrium, 6–14 See also bargaining institutions, centralized; bargaining institutions, decentralized; bargaining institutions, intermediately centralized
- integration, monetary: decentralization effect of, 81
- interest rates: government use with capital market integration, 168; as indicators of OECD country monetary policy, 10–11; premiums, 12, 82, 104, 136–7, 145
- Iversen, Torben, 82
- jobs, low-productivity: as force for institutional change, 105–6
- Katzenstein, Peter, 9–10, 154
- Keynesian economics: centralization in, 93–5, 115–18, 166, 168; decentralization, 98–9, 112–15 See also new Keynesian economics
- Korpi, Walter, 30
- labor markets: of OMEs, 74; schemes to encourage exit from Swedish and Danish, 174; Swedish policy, 123, 125 See also employment; unemployment
- labor unions. See unions.
- Lange, Peter, 25, 28, 78–9
- Layard, Richard, 25
- Liberal Market Economies (LMEs): fragmented bargaining systems in, 55, 74; lacking strategic capacity, 94
- LO (Landsorganisationen i Danmark) national unions, 122–3
- Lucas, Robert E., 19
- macroeconomic policy: Austria, 152; Denmark, 124, 135–42; effect of capital market integration on, 104; effect under rational expectations theory, 1, 19–21; in neo-corporatist theory, 28; Netherlands, 174; in new classical economics, 20; Norway, 155–6; Sweden, 125, 135–7 See also monetary policy
- manufacturing technology: changes as force for institutional change, 104–6
- Masciandaro, Donato, 21, 56–8
- median-voter theorem, 79
- monetary authority: in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 39–46 See also central banks
- monetary policy: in centralized bargaining systems, 2–3, 29–32; Denmark, 135–42; effect on economic performance, 32–8; effect on real variables, 22; of EMU, 81–2; of EMU member countries, 82; in ERM member countries, 81–2; exchange rate movements as indicators of, 59; indicators for OECD countries (1973–1993), 10–11; in intermediately

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-64532-4 - Contested Economic Institutions: The Politics of Macroeconomics and Wage Bargaining in Advanced Democracies

Torben Iversen

Index

More information

INDEX

219

- centralized and decentralized bargaining systems, 26–8, 47; relation to central bank independence, 10–14; Sweden, 125, 142–7 See also currencies; exchange rate policy; fiscal policy
- monetary policy rules: accommodating and nonaccommodating, 2–5, 13, 27–8; with centralized wage bargaining, 29–31; interaction with bargaining institutions and economic performance, 2–5, 33–6; with intermediately centralized wage bargaining, 26–8, 47; sectoral demand elasticity contingent on, 26–7; in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 40–6
- monetary policy rules, accommodating: in bargaining effects model, 67–74; facilitation of distributive compromise, 30; of Keynesian centralization, 94
- monetary policy rules, nonaccommodating: in bargaining effects model, 67–74; factors influencing effectiveness, 27–8; of monetarist decentralization, 94
- monetary policy rules/wage bargaining model, 38–46
- monetary regimes. See Monetary policy; monetary policy rules.
- NAIRU (nonaccelerating inflation rate of unemployment), 22–3, 41
- Nash bargaining theory, 29
- Nash solution: in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 42, 46
- natural rate of unemployment, 18–19, 41
- neo-corporatist theory: benefits of centralization, 13; contribution to unemployment analysis, 23–4; explanation of centralization, 93; institutional and political mechanisms under, 17–18; unemployment in, 23–4
- Netherlands: services employment in public and private sectors (1970–1992), 173
- new classical theory: rational expectations under, 17, 19–22; unemployment and natural rate of unemployment under, 1, 41
- new Keynesian economics: link to wage bargaining in, 22; NAIRU, 41
- Norway: centralization of bargaining (1980s), 8–10, 156–7; minimum wage, 158; oil boom and wage pressure, 155–6
- Olson, Mancur, 13, 17, 23, 28, 52–3
- Organized Market Economies (OMEs), 74; distinctions among, 94; implications of contested institutions theory for, 106; strategic capacity in, 94
- Parkin, Michael, 56–8
- policy neutrality thesis, 19–20
- political system, Netherlands, 173
- politics, partisan: translation into outcomes, 79–81
- Pontusson, Jonas, 74, 125, 129, 130
- price effect: in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 39–46
- private sector: employment in services in OECD countries (1970–1992), 172–3
- profit tax: to finance unemployment benefits, 24
- Przeworski, Adam, 28
- public goods: social wage as, 31
- public policy: promoting egalitarian wage policies through, 171 See also exchange rate policy; fiscal policy; government; macroeconomic policy; monetary policy
- public sector: alternative to employment expansion in, 181n20; employment in, 28–9, 31–2, 75, 105, 133, 156; employment in services in OECD countries (1970–1992), 172–3; growth as accommodation, 31–2, 75
- Rae's index of fragmentation, 51
- rational expectations theory, 19–20; effect of macroeconomic policies under, 1; incorporation into macroinstitutional models of economic performance, 2; in new classical economics, 17–18
- Rehn-Meidner principle of solidaristic wage policies, 32, 105, 123, 171–2
- Roubini, Nouriel, 20
- Rubinstein bargaining theory, 181n28
- Sachs, Jeffrey, 20, 79
- SAF (Svenska Arbetsgivareföreningen) employers' association, 124
- Saltsjöbaden Agreement, 123
- Sargent, Thomas, 19
- Scharpf, Fritz, 13, 29, 116–17, 154, 175
- Schmitter, Philippe, 49, 55–6
- service sector: employment in public and private in OECD countries (1970–1992), 172–3; relation of earnings

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-64532-4 - Contested Economic Institutions: The Politics of Macroeconomics and Wage Bargaining in Advanced Democracies

Torben Iversen

Index

More information

220

INDEX

service sector (cont.)

equality to employment expansion in private, 171–2

Shepsle, Kenneth, 79

social democracy: with acceptance of economic efficiency, 175; choices related to wage equality and full employment, 174–6; combining full employment with egalitarian wage policies, 171; components of firm institutional foundation, 171; electoral revival of, 175

social wage: with accommodating and non-accommodating monetary regime, 75–7; in centralized and decentralized bargaining system, 77; effect of altered size and composition of, 31–8; as public good, 31

Soskice, David, 13, 22–3, 49, 57, 74, 80, 82

state, the. See government.

strategic capacity: absence in free-market capitalism, 28, 74, 166; concept of, 28, 94; of rational players, 28

strategic rationality, 179n13

strategies for the left, 166–7

Summers, Lawrence, 20, 57–8

Sweden: active labor market policy, 123, 125; adoption of Rehn-Meidner principle of solidaristic wage policies, 123, 126; break in and shift away from centralized bargaining, 8–10, 143, 148–9; monetary policy, 142–3; origins of centralized bargaining, 121–2; supply-side policies, 125; trade exposure, 133–4; unemployment levels in, 174

Swenson, Peter, 26, 95, 98, 134

Tabellini, Guido, 21, 56–8

Theory of moves, 14, 179n11, 179n14

time-inconsistent plans, 20

total factor productivity: OECD estimates (1970–1994), 168–9

trade: in regression analysis of bargaining effects model, 64, 68–9

Ulman, Lloyd, 80

uncertainty: about forecasts of government policy effects, 20; about monetary authority “type”; discounting of future, 28; institutional change, 108 unemployment: in bargaining effect model,

60–74; in centralized bargaining systems, 28–32; contribution of neo-corporatist theory to, 23–4; in decentralized bargaining systems, 24–8; Dutch strategy to lower, 174; externalities associated with, 25–6; financing of benefits, 24; in intermediately centralized bargaining, 26–7; levels in Sweden and Denmark, 135–47, 174; levels in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 40–4; monetary rule relationship to equilibrium rate of, 3–5, 32–4, 65–9; natural rate of, 18–19; neoclassical notion of, 18–22, 1; in neo-corporatist theory, 23–4; nonaccelerating inflation rate of unemployment (NAIRU), 22; performance in OME countries, 74–6; relation to centralized wage bargaining, 32–8, 65–9

unions: Austrian national unions, 152–3; behavior related to social wage, 31; concentration of membership, 48–51; Danish national unions, 122–3, 126, 138–9, 141, 150; density in regression analysis of bargaining effects model, 64, 69; German national unions, 159–60, 163; intraorganizational bargaining among, 29; Norwegian national unions, 156–7, 159; in perspective of neo-corporatism, 18; in perspective of rational expectations, 18; Swedish national unions, 123–4, 126, 142–3; in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 39–46; wage bargaining dominance of large, 52–3; weighting in Herfindahl index, 53 unions, exposed, sheltered, and low-wage: in centralized subgame of economic policies-wage strategies model, 115–18; in decentralized subgame of economic policies-wage strategies model, 111–15

Visser, Jelle, 49, 54, 83

voters: incomplete knowledge of government competency, 20 wage competition: bargaining institutions can overcome, 23–4; effect of fragmentation on, 182n1 wage dispersion: Austria, 152; in bargaining effects model, 60–74; with centraliza-

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-64532-4 - Contested Economic Institutions: The Politics of Macroeconomics and Wage Bargaining in Advanced Democracies

Torben Iversen

Index

More information

INDEX

221

- tion, 36–7; circumstances for intermediate levels of, 81; Denmark (1963–1977), 126; public sector in Denmark (1970–1982), 131; public sector in Sweden (1973–1980), 131; Sweden (1970–1980), 126
- wage drift: Austria, 152; in decentralized system, 3, 45; Denmark, 128, 130, 140; inflation and, 29–30, 35, 71; interaction of wage solidarism with, 29–30; Sweden, 128, 130, 143–4; in union-monetary authority two-stage game, 42–6
- wage policies, solidaristic: bargained, 29–30; as brake on employment expansion, 171–2; in Denmark, 125–7, 188n4; link to economic policy, 30–1; Rehn-Meidner principle of, 32, 105, 123, 171–2; in Sweden, 126–8, 188n4; wage leveling in Sweden (1951), 123
- wage-price spiral, 22
- wage restraint: with centralized bargaining, 28–32; dependence on monetary rule, 26–31; with intermediately centralized bargaining, 26–8; state as compensator for, 31
- wages: flexibility under decentralized monetarism, 97–9, 105, 130, 167; leveling in public sectors in Sweden and Denmark, 131–2
- Wallace, Neil, 19
- Wallerstein, Michael, 28
- welfare function: monetary regime/wage bargaining model, 38–9
- welfare state: Denmark and Sweden, 47–8; link to industrial relations system, 31–2, 75; popular support for, 170