

Contents

Notes on contributors	page vii
Acknowledgements	xiii
1 Introduction: framing the future of career RICHARD A. YOUNG AND AUDREY COLLIN	1
Part 1: Changing contexts
2 ‘Fracture lines’ in the career environment JULIE A. STOREY	21
3 Some contributions of sociology to the understanding of career MARIE-FRANCE MARANDA AND YVAN COMEAU	37
4 Renovating the psychology of careers for the twenty-first century MARK L. SAVICKAS	53
5 Changing career: the role of values WENDY PATTON	69
6 Dancing to the music of time AUDREY COLLIN	83
Part 2: New perspectives
7 The future of boundaryless careers SUELLEN M. LITTLETON, MICHAEL B. ARTHUR, AND DENISE M. ROUSSEAU	101
8 Career development in a changing context of the second part of working life DANIELLE RIVERIN-SIMARD	115

vi	Contents
9	The future of women’s career HEATHER HÖPFL AND PAT HORNBY ATKINSON	130
10	Career or slide? Managing on the threshold of sense DAMIAN O’DOHERTY AND IAN ROBERTS	144
11	Epic and novel: the rhetoric of career AUDREY COLLIN	163
Part 3: New directions for theory, practice and policy
12	Reconceptualising career theory and research: an action- theoretical perspective RICHARD A. YOUNG AND LADISLAV VALACH	181
13	A new perspective for counsellors: from career ideologies to empowerment through work and relationship practices MARY SUE RICHARDSON	197
14	Adapting to the changing multicultural context of career FREDERICK T. L. LEONG AND PAUL J. HARTUNG	212
15	Managing careers in organisations MIKE DOYLE	228
16	Learning for work: global causes, national standards, human relevance BILL LAW	243
17	The new career and public policy A. G. WATTS	259
18	The future of career AUDREY COLLIN AND RICHARD A. YOUNG	276
	Author index	301
	Subject index	310