

Contents

|   |                  |
|---|------------------|
| Contributors   | page viii |
| Acknowledgements   | x                |
| List of abbreviations  | xi               |
| Introduction: German literature and philosophyNicholas Saul  | I            |
| 1 Criticism and experience: philosophy and literaturein the German EnlightenmentJohn A. McCarthy     | 13               |
| 2 The pursuit of the subject: literature as critic and perfecterof philosophy 1790–1830Nicholas Saul | 57               |
| 3 Two realisms: German literature and philosophy1830–1890John Walker                                 | 102              |
| 4 Modernism and the self 1890–1924Ritchie Robertson  | 150              |
| 5 The subjects of community: aspiration, memory, resistance1918–1945Russell A. Berman                | 197              |
| 6 Coming to terms with the past in postwar literatureand philosophyRobert C. Holub                   | 245              |
| Bibliography   | 291          |
| Index  | 307              |