

Cambridge University Press 0521663709 - The Cambridge History of Southeast Asia: From c. 1500 to c. 1800, Volume Two Edited by Nicholas Tarling Table of Contents More information

CONTENTS

Note on Gender in Southeast Asian Languages Abbreviations Preface to the Paperback Edition Introduction Xix  1 Interactions with the Outside World and Adaptation in Southeast Asian Society, 1500–1800 LEONARD Y. ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Coming of Foreign Groups Innovations and Adaptations in Society Summary and Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism	Maps	vii
Abbreviations Preface to the Paperback Edition Introduction  1 Interactions with the Outside World and Adaptation in Southeast Asian Society, 1500–1800 LEONARD Y. ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Coming of Foreign Groups Innovations and Adaptations in Society Summary and Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism	Note on Spelling	viii
Preface to the Paperback Edition Introduction  1 Interactions with the Outside World and Adaptation in Southeast Asian Society, 1500–1800  1 LEONARD Y. ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Coming of Foreign Groups Innovations and Adaptations in Society Summary and Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries  BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism		ix
Introduction xith the Outside World and Adaptation in Southeast Asian Society, 1500–1800  LEONARD Y. ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Coming of Foreign Groups 2 Innovations and Adaptations in Society 5 Summary and Conclusion 50 Bibliographic Essay 51  Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries 58 BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape 58 Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century 75 The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity 75 The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century 81 A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control 79 The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' 98 The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century 101 Conclusion 110 Bibliographic Essay 111  Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 116 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population 119 Cash-cropping and Commercialization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 133 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 134 The State and Commerce 134 The State and Commerce 135 The State and Commerce 136 The State and Commerce 137 The State and Commerce 138 The State and Commerce 139 The State and Commerce
1 Interactions with the Outside World and Adaptation in Southeast Asian Society, 1500–1800  LEONARD Y. ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii  The Coming of Foreign Groups Innovations and Adaptations in Society Summary and Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries  BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
Southeast Asian Society, 1500–1800  LEONARD Y. ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Coming of Foreign Groups Innovations and Adaptations in Society Summary and Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries  BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism	Introduction	xix
Southeast Asian Society, 1500–1800  LEONARD Y. ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Coming of Foreign Groups Innovations and Adaptations in Society Summary and Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries  BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism	1 Interactions with the Outside World and Adaptation in
LEONARD Y. ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Coming of Foreign Groups Innovations and Adaptations in Society Summary and Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries  58 BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism		1
The Coming of Foreign Groups Innovations and Adaptations in Society Summary and Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries  BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism		_
Innovations and Adaptations in Society Summary and Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries  BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism		2
Summary and Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries  BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
Bibliographic Essay  2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries  BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries 58  BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape 58 Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century 65 The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity 75 The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century 81 A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century 89 Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control 92 The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' 98 The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century 101 Conclusion 110 Bibliographic Essay 111  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 116 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population 116 An Economic Boom 119 Cash-cropping and Commercialization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis 144 Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149
Centuries  BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii  The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism	3 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 -
BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism	2 Political Development between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth
The Political Landscape Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism		58
Southeast Asia during the Sixteenth Century The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
The Cycle of Fragmentation and Unity The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
The Centres of Power in the Seventeenth Century A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
A Renewal of the Movement towards Centralized Control Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
Kingship and Centralization in the Seventeenth Century Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  111  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
Seventeenth-century Administrative Reforms and Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay 111  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
Manpower Control The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay 111  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism		89
The Creation of the 'Exemplary Centre' The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  111  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
The Fragmentation of the Eighteenth Century Conclusion Bibliographic Essay 111  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism	▲
Conclusion Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800 ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
Bibliographic Essay  3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800  ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra  Population  An Economic Boom  Cash-cropping and Commercialization  Urbanization  The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce  The State and Commerce  A Seventeenth-century Crisis  Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
3 Economic and Social Change, c. 1400–1800  ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra  Population An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization Urbanization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism
ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population 116 An Economic Boom 119 Cash-cropping and Commercialization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis 144 Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149	Bibliographic Essay	111
ANTHONY REID, Australian National University, Canberra Population 116 An Economic Boom 119 Cash-cropping and Commercialization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis 144 Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149	3 Economic and Social Change c 1400-1800	116
Population 116 An Economic Boom 119 Cash-cropping and Commercialization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis 144 Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149		110
An Economic Boom Cash-cropping and Commercialization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis 144 Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149		116
Cash-cropping and Commercialization 124 Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis 144 Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149
Urbanization 128 The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis 144 Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149
The Nature of Southeast Asian Commerce 132 The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis 144 Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149
The State and Commerce 139 A Seventeenth-century Crisis 144 Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149
A Seventeenth-century Crisis 144 Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149
Europeans, Chinese, and the Origins of Dualism 149
	The Trade in Narcotics	154

Cambridge University Press 0521663709 - The Cambridge History of Southeast Asia: From c. 1500 to c. 1800, Volume Two Edited by Nicholas Tarling Table of Contents More information

vi

Eighteenth-century Transitions	156
Bibliographic Essay	160
4 Religious Developments in Southeast Asia, c. 1500–1800	164
BARBARA WATSON ANDAYA, The University of Hawaii YONEO ISHII, Kanda University of International Studies
Indigenous Beliefs	164
The Coming of Islam	169
The Arrival of Christianity	183
Religious Issues	192
The Eighteenth Century	213
Conclusion	223
Bibliographic Essay	223
5 The Age of Transition: The Mid-Eighteenth to the Early
Nineteenth Centuries	228
J. KATHIRITHAMBY-WELLS, Clare Hall, Cambridge
State Rivalry and Cyclicity	228
Forces of Integration: Religion, Charisma and
Resource Control	231
Buddhist Imperialism	235
Buffer Status and Double Allegiance	240
Economic and Cultural Crisis	242
Intellectual Reform and Modernization	248
Decline of Traditional Authority	251
Forced Cultivation	253
Failure of Reform: Rebellion and War	255
Commerce, Political Fragmentation and Moral Dilemma	258
Economic Dualism	262
Economic Reorientation	264
Evolution of a 'National' Identity	267
Conclusion	268
Bibliographic Essay	268
Index	276