

CONTENTS

Note on Spelling	vii
Abbreviations	viii
Preface to the Paperback Edition	x
Introduction	xix
1 Southeast Asia in War and Peace: The End of European Colonial Empires	1
A. J. STOCKWELL, Royal Holloway and Bedford New College, UK
World War II and Japanese Occupation	1
Colonial Restoration and Struggles for Independence, 1945–1948	13
Revolution and Decolonization in the Cold War, 1948–1957	33
Conclusion	52
Bibliographic Essay	55
2 The Political Structures of the Independent States	59
YONG MUN CHEONG, National University of Singapore
Revolution and Political Structures	60
Plural Political Structures	80
Maximum Government	96
Conclusion	128
Bibliographic Essay	131
3 Economic and Social Change	139
NORMAN G. OWEN, University of Hong Kong
Economic Policy in Independent Southeast Asia	142
Economic Implications of International Politics	150
International Markets and Technology	153
Economic Growth and Structural Change	158
Nationalism and Equity	167
Population and the Environment	175
Social Structures and Strategies	181
Protest and Rebellion	192
Bibliographic Essay	198
4 Religious Change in Contemporary Southeast Asia	201
PAUL STANGE, Murdoch University, Perth, Australia
Appropriations of Industrial Culture	204
Spiritual Visions of Revolution and Independence	207
The Generation of National Cultures as Religious Contention	214

Cambridge University Press

0521663725 - The Cambridge History of Southeast Asia: From World War II to the Present,
Volume Four

Edited by Nicholas Tarling

Table of Contents

More information

vi

State Regulation and Institutional Religion	221
Reformulations in Popular Practice	230
Magical, Millenarian and Mystical Practices	236
Purist Revival and Secular Modernism	243
Trajectories of Changing Access to the Real	250
Bibliographic Essay	253
5 Regionalism and Nationalism	257
C. M. TURNBULL, formerly University of Hong Kong
The Concept of Southeast Asia	258
The Postwar Scene	260
The Impact of Decolonization	261
National Identity and Unity	263
Regional Links in the Immediate Postwar Era	265
The Beginning of the Cold War, 1948–1954	268
The South-East Asia Treaty Organization	275
The Bandung Conference and the Non-aligned Movement	277
Regional Tensions and Problems	278
Malaysia, Brunei and Confrontation	283
The Republic of Singapore	285
The Formation of ASEAN	287
The Second Indochina War	289
The ASEAN States	291
1975: The Communist Victories in Indochina	296
ASEAN Reactions	298
The Bali Summit	299
Vietnam, Cambodia and China	303
The Development of ASEAN	305
Burma	308
International Communism in the 1980s	309
Western Involvement	311
Non-alignment	312
Bibliographic Essay	314
Bibliographies	319
PAUL KRATOSKA
Asia	319
Southeast Asia	320
Malaysia, Singapore and Brunei	323
The Philippines	326
Indonesia	328
Burma	332
Thailand	332
Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos	333
Special Topics	335
Index	336