

Contents

Preface	page vii
Chapter 1 Life	1
Youth and literary apprenticeship (1819–1850)	2
The emergence of the poet (1851–1860)	5
The war and its aftermath (1861–1873)	8
The period of reflection and decline (1873–1892)	11
Chapter 2 Historical and cultural     contexts	13
Democracy	14
The body	16
The land	19
The culture	21
Chapter 3 Poetry before the Civil War	24
1855: “Song of Myself”	26
Other poems dating from the 1855 Leaves of     Grass	40
1856: poems of sexuality and the body	44
1856: poems of the earth	46
1856: “Crossing Brooklyn Ferry”	48
1860: Sea-Drift poems	50
1860: gendered clusters – “Children of Adam” and “Calamus”	54

vi	Contents
	Chapter 4 Poetry after the Civil War	57
	Elegiac poems	60
	The emergence of the image	69
	Minor poetic modes	77
	Chapter 5 Prose works	83
	The 1855 preface	85
	Democratic Vistas	88
	Specimen Days	93
	Chapter 6 Critical reception	105
	The first fifty years, 1855–1905	105
	1905–1955	110
	1955–2005	114
	Notes	123
	Further reading	128
	Index	133