CORPORATE INSOLVENCY LAW

SECOND EDITION

The first edition of Corporate Insolvency Law proposed a fundamentally revised concept of insolvency law – one intended to serve to corporate as well as broader social ends. This second edition takes on board a host of changes that have subsequently reshaped insolvency law and practice, such as the consolidation of the rescue culture in the UK, the arrival of the ‘pre-packaged’ administration and the broad replacement of administrative receivership with administration. It also considers the implications of recent and dramatic changes in the provision (and trading) of credit, the movement of an increasing amount of ‘insolvency work’ towards the pre-formal insolvency stage of corporate affairs and the explosion, on the insolvency scene, of a new cadre of specialists in corporate turnaround. Looking to the future, Vanessa Finch argues that changes of approach are needed if insolvency law is to develop with coherence and purpose and she offers a framework for such an approach.

VANESSA FINCH is a Professor of Law at the London School of Economics and Political Science, where she teaches Corporate Insolvency Law and Corporate Accountability at undergraduate and master’s levels.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to thank all my colleagues at the London School of Economics who have helped me with this second edition and who have made the Law Department such a stimulating environment in which to research law in its broader contexts.

Particular thanks go to Rob Baldwin of LSE for reading drafts, to Adrian Walters of Nottingham Law School for his helpful suggestions and to Eyal Geva for research assistance. Finally, I thank Luke, Olivia and Nat for their encouragement and forbearance during the production of this edition.
