

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-72708-2 - Sexual Politics in Modern Iran
Janet Afary
Frontmatter
More information

---

Sexual Politics in Modern Iran

Janet Afary is a native of Iran and a leading historian. Her work focuses on gender and sexuality and draws on her experience of growing up in Iran and her involvement with Iranian women of different ages and social strata. These observations, and a wealth of historical documents, form the kernel of this book, which charts the history of gender and sexuality in Iran from the nineteenth century to today. What comes across is the extraordinary resilience of the Iranian people, who have drawn on a rich social and cultural heritage to defy the repression and hardship of the Islamist state and its predecessors. It is this resilience, the author concludes, which forms the basis of a still unfinished sexual revolution taking place in Iran today, one that is promoting reforms in marriage and family laws, and demanding more egalitarian relations.

JANET AFARY is Professor of History and Women's Studies at Purdue University. Her previous publications include The Iranian Constitutional Revolution: Grassroots Democracy, Social Democracy, and the Origins of Feminism (1996) and, with Kevin B. Anderson, the award-winning Foucault and the Iranian Revolution: Gender and the Seductions of Islamism (2005).

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-72708-2 - Sexual Politics in Modern Iran
Janet Afary
Frontmatter
More information

---

Sexual Politics in Modern Iran

---

Janet Afary

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-72708-2 - Sexual Politics in Modern Iran
Janet Afary
Frontmatter
More information

---

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS
Cambridge, New York, Melbourne, Madrid, Cape Town, Singapore,
São Paulo, Delhi

Cambridge University Press
The Edinburgh Building, Cambridge CB2 8RU, UK

Published in the United States of America by Cambridge University Press,
New York

www.cambridge.org
Information on this title: www.cambridge.org/9780521727082

© Janet Afary 2009

This publication is in copyright. Subject to statutory exception and to the provisions of relevant collective licensing agreements, no reproduction of any part may take place without the written permission of Cambridge University Press.

First published 2009

Printed in the United Kingdom at the University Press, Cambridge

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library

ISBN 978-0-521-89846-1 hardback
ISBN 978-0-521-72708-2 paperback

Cambridge University Press has no responsibility for the persistence or accuracy of URLs for external or third-party internet websites referred to in this book, and does not guarantee that any content on such websites is, or will remain, accurate or appropriate.

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-72708-2 - Sexual Politics in Modern Iran
Janet Afary
Frontmatter
More information

---

For
The One Million Signatures Campaign

Contents

---

List of illustrations	page	ix
Acknowledgments		xiv
Introduction		1
Part 1 Premodern practices		17
1 Formal marriage		19
2 Slave concubinage, temporary marriage, and harem wives		50
3 Class, status-defined homosexuality, and rituals of courtship		79
Part 2 Toward a Westernized modernity		109
4 On the road to an ethos of monogamous, heterosexual marriage		111
5 Redefining purity, unveiling bodies, and shifting desires		142
6 Imperialist politics, romantic love, and the impasse over women's suffrage		174
7 Suffrage, marriage reforms, and the threat of female sexuality		198
8 The rise of leftist guerrilla organizations and Islamist movements		234
Part 3 Forging an Islamist modernity and beyond		263
9 The Islamic Revolution, its sexual economy, and the Left		265
10 Islamist women and the emergence of Islamic feminism		292

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-72708-2 - Sexual Politics in Modern Iran
Janet Afary
Frontmatter
More information

---

viii	Contents
11	Birth control, female sexual awakening, and the gay lifestyle	323
	Conclusion: Toward a new Muslim-Iranian sexuality for the twenty-first century	360
	Glossary	374
	Bibliography	378
	Index	411

Illustrations

---

Map of Iran	page xix
Source: Courtesy of R. Izade, Gulf 2000
1.1 Shirin Khanom, wife of a high-ranking cleric of Isfahan	22
Source: Dieulafoy 1887
1.2 Family life, Qajar era	31
Source: Institute for Contemporary Iranian Historical Studies. Reprinted by Center for Persian Studies, University of Maryland, 2007
1.3 Mother-in-law and daughter-in-law: fight and make up	32
Source: Shekufeh 4 (11 Rabi <sup>c</sup> al-Avval 1331/March 23, 1913)
1.4 Traditional wedding reception: men's quarters	35
Source: Afshar 1992
1.5 Women in the private quarters of the house, Qajar era	44
Source: Institute for Contemporary Iranian Historical Studies. Reprinted by Center for Persian Studies, University of Maryland, 2007
1.6 Women in outdoor costumes, Qajar era	45
Source: Afshar 1992
1.7 Carpet weaving among nomad women	46
Source: Dieulafoy 1887
1.8 Women in the streets of Tehran, Qajar era	47
Source: Kiani-Haftlang 2007
2.1 Black slave, Qajar era	52
Source: Afshar 1992
2.2 Naser al-Din Shah	54
Source: Dieulafoy 1887
2.3 Ziba Khanom, with her female slave	71
Source: Dieulafoy 1887
2.4 Female musicians and dancers, Qajar era	72
Source: Institute for Contemporary Iranian Historical Studies. Reprinted by the Center for Persian Studies, University of Maryland, 2007

x	List of illustrations
2.5	Birthday party in the Qajar court Source: Afshar 1992	73
3.1	A princely hawking party, attributed to Mirza Ali, 1570–1580 Source: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, Rogers Fund, 1912 (12.233.1). Image © The Metropolitan Museum of Art	84
3.2	A princely hawking party (detail), attributed to Mirza Ali, 1570–1580 Source: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, Rogers Fund, 1912 (12.233.1). Image © The Metropolitan Museum of Art	85
3.3	Traditional gymnasium ( zur khaneh ) Source: Institute for Contemporary Iranian Historical Studies. Reprinted by the Center for Persian Studies, University of Maryland, 2007	91
3.4	Courtly love, by Reza ‘Abbasi, 1630 Source: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, Purchase, Francis M. Weld Gift, 1950 (50.164). Image © The Metropolitan Museum of Art	99
4.1	Page from the Ta’dib al-Nisvan manuscript	121
4.2	Woman on left tells woman on right . . . Source: Shekufeh 14 (28 Ramadan 1331/September 1, 1913)	126
4.3	Taj al-Saltaneh Source: Maryam Fathi 2004	133
4.4	“New wife and old wife” Source: Molla Nasreddin , April 21, 1907	136
4.5	Condemnation of child marriage Source: Molla Nasreddin , March 10, 1907	136
4.6	“Dancing boys” Source: Molla Nasreddin , May 19, 1906	138
4.7	“Now they perform brotherhood vows! (Better say they get married)” Source: Molla Nasreddin , May 2, 1910	139
5.1	Reza Shah Pahlavi	146
5.2	Water distributor complains to women for contaminating the stream Source: Shekufeh 11, 12 (Rajab 1331/ June 17, 1913)	148
5.3	Modified veil worn by elite women of Tehran, 1931 Source: Filizadeh 2006	152
5.4	Members of Kanun-e Banuan after unveiling Source: Maryam Fathi 2004	152

	List of illustrations	xi
5.5	Sediqeh Dowlatabadi, circa 1930 Source: Courtesy of Mahdokht Sanati	153
5.6	Parvin E'tesami	167
5.7	Sadeq Hedayat Source: Khanevadeh-ye Sabz 8(169) (December 22, 2006)	169
6.1	Woman to lover: "Good thing I wore my veil or he would have caught us" Source: Baba Shamal 145 (8 Bahman 1326/January 29, 1948)	177
6.2	Sign on the door: "Twenty percent discount to veiled women" Source: Baba Shamal 134 (14 Aban 1326/November 6, 1947)	178
6.3	Cover page of Progressive Women , spring 1952	179
6.4	Modern bride and groom, 1950	180
6.5	Engagement ceremony of Muhammad Reza Shah and Soraya Esfandiari, 1950 Source: Soraya 2003	186
6.6	The heavenly couple of yesterday Source: Nahid 4 (23 Day 1320/January 13, 1942)	187
6.7	The devilish couple of today Source: Nahid 4 (23 Day 1320/January 13, 1942)	188
6.8	Leili and Majnun . . . Source: Baba Shamal 47 (25 Esfand 1322/February 17, 1943)	190
6.9	Students at Nourbakhsh High School, 1948	191
6.10	Muhammad Mosaddeq and high-school students Source: Zan-e Ruz , 727 (Tir 1979)	196
7.1	Women enlisted in literacy corps Source: Courtesy of M. Pirnia (1992)	203
7.2	Factory workers Source: Zan-e Ruz 736 (Fall 1979)	207
7.3	Soccer players Source: Courtesy of M. Pirnia	208
7.4	Muhammad Reza Shah, Queen Farah Diba, and their children Source: Courtesy of M. Pirnia	209
7.5	Queen Farah and a group of northern women Source: Courtesy of M. Pirnia	210
7.6	Farrokhrou Parsay Source: Courtesy of M. Pirnia (2007)	214

xii	List of illustrations
7.7	Family Protection Court Source: Zan-e Ruz 730 (September 1979)	216
7.8	Doctor to nurse: "The patient's heart races" Source: Towfiq 45(1) (22 Ordibehesht 1345/May 12, 1966)	224
7.9	Wife and secretary Source: Towfiq 45(8) (29 Ordibehesht 1345/May 19, 1966)	225
7.10	The alleged undressing of women, from unveiling in 1936 to nudity in 1960 Source: Towfiq's special issue, January 5, 1960	226
7.11	"Man of the Year" Source: Towfiq 1 (1 Farvardin 1347/March 21, 1968)	227
7.12	Forough Farrokhzad	229
8.1	Ali Shariati	241
8.2	The Mojahedeen Khalq at weapons training Source: Problems of Communism , March 1980	246
8.3	Women martyrs of the Fedayeen Khalq Source: Kar , International Women's Day Special Issue, March 1980	247
8.4	Zahra Rahnavard Source: Zanan , December 1996	253
8.5	Marziyeh Dabbagh Source: Zan-e Ruz 756 (18 Esfand 1359/March 1980)	258
9.1	Revolutionary poster Source: The University of Chicago Regenstein Library	268
9.2	Poster for International Women's Day gathering at Tehran University Source: Raha'i-ye Zan 1(11) (March 1979)	272
9.3	Justice under the Islamic Republic Source: Ahangar 1(13) (2 Mordad 1358/June 24, 1979)	275
9.4	Map of Iran Source: Ahangar 1(16) (16 Mordad 1358/August 6, 1979)	276
9.5	Punishment under the Islamic Republic Source: Ahangar 1(13) (26 Tir 1358/July 17, 1979)	276
9.6	"Torture" by Shaqayeq Source: Iran Today , Spring/Summer 1988	280
10.1	Basiji Sisters Source: Payam-e Zan 3(9) (Azar 1337/December 1994)	296
10.2	Poster at a cemetery in praise of martyrdom Source: Payam-e Zan 7(6) (Shahrivar 1377/ September 1998)	301

	List of illustrations	xiii
10.3	College student, Tehran University, 2005 Source: Photo by Janet Afary	305
10.4	Cover of Payam-e Zan	311
10.5	Editorial board meeting of Zanan Source: Zanan Special Anniversary Issue, 2005	317
10.6	Cover of Zanan , Nowruz 1999	318
10.7	Nobel Prize Winner Shirin Ebadi, 2003 Photographer: Arash Ashoorinia. Kosoof.com	319
11.1	President Muhammad Khatami, 1997 Source: Zanan , Ordibehesht 1376/April 1997	328
11.2	Parvin Ardalan Photographer: Arash Ashoorinia. Kosoof.com, 2007	334
11.3	Women's rights demonstration, Tehran Photographer: Arash Ashoorinia. Kosoof.com, 2006	335
11.4	Film poster	336
11.5	Birth-control poster Artist: Amir Hossein Davoudi, Gol Aqa Institute, 1998	343
11.6	Cartoon of President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad Source: Cartoonstock.com	345
11.7	Courting Source: Khanevadeh-ye Sabz 8(172) (Bahman 1385)	347
11.8	Logos of Iran's GLBT community Source: Courtesy of Arsham Parsi	351
11.9	Sex-change operations in Iran Source: Cover of Zanan 124 (Shahrivar 1384/September 2005)	356
12.1	Woman chasing man: "You don't love me!" Source: Khanevadeh-ye Sabz 8(170) (January 5, 2007)	362
12.2	"Love for husband or for mahriyeh ?" Source: Khanevadeh-ye Sabz 8(168) (December 6, 2006)	363
12.3	AIDS poster, 2005 Photographer: Kevin B. Anderson	366
12.4	Women's rights demonstration, 2006 Photo by: Arash Ashoorinia. Kosoof.com	372

Acknowledgments

---

Research for this book was conducted primarily at the Regenstein Library of the University of Chicago, where I have been an Associate Fellow of the Middle East Center since 1991. Many thanks to the Regenstein Library and Center staff for their assistance throughout this period. Larry Mykytiuk at Purdue University's HSSE Library was also immensely supportive and purchased a significant number of relevant journals and books. Azar Ashraf at the Near East Collection at Princeton University Library and David Hirsch at the UCLA Research Library generously guided me through their collections. With introductions from Solmaz Rustamova-Tohidi and Hamlet Isaxanli, I gained access to the Baku Manuscript Institute in Azerbaijan, where I microfilmed many rare titles with the help of Saif al-Din Ma'sum Oghli and especially Aref Ramazanov. In Los Angeles, Laleh Ghahreman from Ketab Corporation and Kikhosro Behrozi from Kolbeh Ketab helped locate other pertinent titles. During and after my visit to Tehran in 2005, I benefited from the help of several dedicated colleagues in that city. Mansoureh Ettehadieh introduced me to her Center, Nashr-e Tarikh-e Iran (Publishing Iranian History). Her student, Elham Malekzadeh, answered numerous queries, found rare materials and illustrations, and provided other access to archives beyond my reach. My old high-school friend and sociologist Shahla Ezazi critically read the final draft and sent a detailed list of corrections and suggestions. Saeid Madani-Ghahfarokhi, editor of Faslnameh-ye Refah-e Ejtema'i (Social Welfare Quarterly), and his colleagues Meroeh Vameghi, Ameneh Sattareh Foroozan, and Mohammad Ali Mohammady, responded in great detail to some issues concerning the last three chapters. Several other people, among them Saeed Damadi, Morteza Dehghani, Farah Ghadernia, Hirmand Hasass, and Hassan Mortazavi, also sent me materials from Tehran.

At Cambridge University Press, I would like to express my profound thanks to my editor Marigold Acland for her encouragement and patience as this manuscript went through various gestations. Her assistant, Sarah Green, diligently worked on resolving glitches in the illustrations; Caroline Diepeveen prepared the index and put up with my many revisions; Monica Kendall deftly edited the manuscript, making it a pleasure to work with her; Phil Treble designed the cover; and Rosina Di Marzo oversaw the whole production and graciously endured my delays. Many thanks also to the anonymous reviewers of the press.

Acknowledgments

xv

Several fellowships and grants allowed me release time from teaching to complete this book, among them an NEH Fellowship in 2004–2005, a Purdue University Center for Humanistic Studies Fellowship in spring 2003, and a sabbatical leave in spring 2007. My eternal thanks to Ronald Grigor Suny and Gernot Windfuhr, my mentors at the University of Michigan, for believing in me and providing valuable encouragement through the years. I wish Kenneth Allin Luther and Richard P. Mitchell, also from the University of Michigan, had lived to read drafts of this work. Allin had much to say about Shi'i rituals and was a keen follower of the Iranian Revolution. Richard's groundbreaking work on the Society of Muslim Brothers (1969) helped to spark my own interest in Islamism.

At Purdue University, I was fortunate to have numerous forms of support from Dean John Contreni, who has opened so many doors. I was equally fortunate to have the support of Berenice Carroll of Women's Studies, who has been a real mentor. Numerous conversations with colleagues in the Department of History and the Women's Studies Program have helped shape this study as well.

Several wonderful friends and colleagues read the whole or large parts of the manuscript and made countless valuable suggestions: Nikki Keddie of UCLA has been an extremely supportive mentor since we first met at a conference on Iran in Washington DC in the 1980s. She read several drafts of this manuscript and made many suggestions. Houchang Chehabi not only read the manuscript carefully, but he also went out of his way to copy and mail hard-to-find materials including memoirs of the Iranian singer Mahvash. Sohrab Behdad patiently corrected statistical errors; Mansour Bonakdarian provided valuable background on the inner circles of Iranian leftists in the 1970s; Thomas M. Ricks aided me with background on the slave economy of the nineteenth century; Erika Friedl and Mary Hegland answered numerous queries; my husband Kevin Anderson read the manuscript several times and helped me find relevant materials from the Frankfurt School of Critical Theory.

A much larger number of people offered helpful critiques of specific chapters or parts of the book: Abbas Amanat, Walter Andrews, Jennifer Ball, Hélène Bellour, Evelyn Blackwood, Jeanne Boydston, Miriam Cooke, Stephanie Coontz, Masserat Amir Ebrahimi, Manoutchehr Eskandari-Qajar, Willem Floor, Ali Gheissari, Shahla Haeri, Azadeh Kian-Thiébaud, Samuel Kinser, Firoozeh Papan-Matin, Arsham Parsi, xvi Acknowledgments

John Perry, Nasrin Rahimieh, Everett Rowson, and Houman Sarshar. All have my heartfelt thanks.

Others assisted with source materials, useful suggestions, lively conversations in conferences, or via snail mail or e-mail: John Abromeit, Mahnaz Afkhami, Akbar Aghajanian, Abdollah Aghdasi, Zohreh Arzani Chahla Chafiq, Ken Cuno, Touraj Daryaei Richard Davis, Kianoush Deghani, Farideh Farhi, Manouchehr Haghighi, Doug Ireland, Meir Javedanfar, Ahmad Karimi-Hakkak, Mehrangiz Kar, Manouchehr Kasheff, Mehdi Khalaji, Jamil Khouri, Lauren Langman, Akbar Mahdi, Fati Masjedi, Rudi Matthee, Behnaz Mirzai, Valentine Moghadam, Majid Mohammadi, David Morgan, Hossein Mohri, Kouros N. Moradi, Nahid Mozaffari, Majid Naficy, Azar Nafisi, Effat Rahimi-Mohri, Shiri Rotem-Nir, Hadi Salehi-Esfahani Ruth Salvaggio, Farah Shadchehr, Somaya Shahrivari, Mahsa Shekarloo, Margaret Strobel, Sussan Tahmasebi, Kian Tajbakhsh, Mohamad Tavakoli-Targhi, Gholam R. Vatandoust, Paul Vieille, Sohrab Yazdani, Fatemeh Zargari, and Tahereh Zavvarehi. My brother Kamran Afary sent articles on contemporary issues. Shahzad Bashir, Fataneh Farahani, Erika Friedl, Mary Hegland, Hamid Naficy, and Everett Rowson were kind enough to share their unpublished work. For details on the successful family planning program of the Islamic Republic, Muhammad Alizadeh, one of the initiators of the program, proved enormously helpful. I also presented draft chapters of this book at Columbia University, Ohio State University, Osaka University, Pennsylvania State University, Purdue University, UCLA, University of Chicago, University of Illinois Champaign-Urbana, University of Toronto, University of Wisconsin-Madison and various MESA conferences. Throughout, I have benefited from the comments and suggestions of numerous colleagues and students.

I would like to acknowledge the help of the following students at Purdue University, the University of Chicago, Northwestern University, Loyola University, and UCLA who served as my assistants during the writing of this book: Sarah Avery, Sherrema Bower, Laura Eckstein, Haleh Emrani, Li Fei, Lela Gibson, Alex Hanna, Kaveh Hemmat, Brynn Lyerly, Amy Malek, Paul Ong, Robert Oprisko, Khodadad Rezakhani, Stephanie Richardson, Ali G. Scotten, Kaveh Sepehr, Kelly Stalling, Peishan Tan, Tanya Tang, Javid Validashti, Heather Welland, and Mir Yarfitz. For editorial assistance, I cannot thank enough Ahmad Aminpour, Joelle Goldman, Gershon Lewental, Brian Maxson, Melvin Pena, Danny Postel, Rita Sindelar, and especially Nicholas Murray whose remarkable editorial suggestions helped render the work more accessible to the general public. My sister Frieda Afary, a Persian translator, also made numerous corrections, and routinely sent materials for inclusion in the book.

Many of the images and cartoons reprinted here are from Iranian newspapers and magazines of the past century that I have located in various libraries. A few are reprinted from Jane Dieulafoy (1887), Afshar (1992), Filizadeh (2006), and Kiani-Haftlang (2007). Mahdokht Sanati sent several photos from Tehran; Mansoureh Fatoorehchi and Muhammad Eftekhari donated their collection of Towfiq; Abbas Towfiq provided a few other graphics from his private collection of Towfiq. Some illustrations came from the private collection of Mansore Pirnia and my parents, others were reprinted by the Center for Persian Studies, University of Maryland. Those dealing with the years 2000 often arrived via e-mail from Iran, including photos by Arash Ashoorinia. I am grateful for permission to reprint several images from the Special Collections Research Center of the University of Chicago, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and www.cartoonstock.com. Whenever possible I have credited the artists and photographers of these illustrations; however, in some cases I was unable to track them down but will be happy to credit them in any future reprint of this volume. I am indebted to artist and photographer Amir Nourmandi of Dlast Studios, Chicago for scanning and editing these images.

More than my earlier books, this study has touched me personally. I owe a debt of gratitude to my grandmothers Rahel Afary and Monir Pirnazar for sharing their life stories with me. Both were married at thirteen in Kermanshah in arranged marriages during World War I. My mother, Anvar (Pirnazar) Afary, married my father Naim Afary in 1950 at age eighteen in Tehran in a semi-arranged marriage. They tried to establish a more companionate marriage at a time when in-laws still ruled the extended family. My sister, Mona Afary, a psychologist in San Francisco, runs the Center for Empowering Refugees and Immigrants (CERI), which caters to women from Asia and the Middle East. My friend Manij Marashi works at Apna Ghar, a shelter for battered women in Chicago with a similar population. My daughter Lena works with an analogous group of women in the legal profession. Many of the Middle Eastern women who have come under their supervision have had arranged or semi-arranged marriages contracted in their native homes. I bounced many of the ideas in this book off of them, as I came to appreciate the vast gulf between the classic patriarchal marriages of our grandmothers, which were restricted but safeguarded by the extended family, and the more individualistic marriages of our time, which aspire to greater intimacy but are often quite fragile.

Unless otherwise mentioned, all translations from Persian are by the author. Translations from the French are by the author, Kevin Anderson, and Gladys M. Francis. Brynn Lyerly and Ashley Passmore translated the materials from German. Translations from the Azeri and the Russian are by Aref Ramazanov. Their help has been indispensable to this project.

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-72708-2 - Sexual Politics in Modern Iran
Janet Afary
Frontmatter
More information

---

xviii Acknowledgments

I have adopted a modified version of the transliteration system of Encyclopedia Iranica (use of vowels o and e in addition to a, i, and u) for Persian words, and a modified version of the transliteration system of the International Journal of Middle East Studies (IJMES) for Arabic words. I have omitted all diacritical marks except hamzeh or ain. I have also reverted to the New York Times style of transliteration for commonly known words (i.e. Ali instead of ‘Ali).

Parts of chapters 8 and 9 appeared in an article, “Portraits of Two Islamist Women,” Critique 19 (Fall): 89–110, and in Afary and Anderson (2005). An early draft of chapter 11 appeared in Iranian Studies 42(1) (February 2009).

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-72708-2 - Sexual Politics in Modern Iran
Janet Afary
Frontmatter
More information

Map of Iran