THE CAMBRIDGE COMPANION TO ARTHUR MILLER

Arthur Miller is regarded as one of the most important playwrights of the twentieth century, and his work continues to be widely performed and studied around the world. This updated Companion includes Miller's work since the publication of the first edition in 1997 – the plays Mr. Peters' Connections, Resurrection Blues, and Finishing the Picture – and key productions of his plays since his death in 2005. The chapter on Miller and the cinema has been completely revised to include new films, and demonstrates that his work remains an important source for filmmakers. In addition to detailed analyses of his plays including Death of a Salesman and The Crucible, Miller's work is also placed within the context of the social and political climate of the time. The volume contains a detailed chronology of the work of this influential dramatist and closes with a bibliographic essay which reviews the key studies of Miller.

CHRISTOPHER BIGSBY is Professor of American Studies at the University of East Anglia and has published more than thirty books covering American theatre and popular culture and British drama, including Modern American Drama (1992), Arthur Miller: A Critical Study (2005), Remembering and Imagining the Holocaust: The Chain of Memory (2006), and The Cambridge History of American Theatre, which received the Barnard Hewitt Award for Outstanding Research from the American Society for Theatre Research. He is also an award-winning novelist, has written plays for radio and television, and is a regular radio and television broadcaster.

NOTE ON THE SECOND EDITION

The first edition of this book appeared in 1997, when Arthur Miller was still alive. It follows that the tense used throughout was the present. Rather than retrospectively change this, the present tense is retained except in those chapters which have of necessity been updated. The updated chapters are: chapter 11 – The last plays (Christopher Bigsby), chapter 12 – Arthur Miller and the cinema (R. Barton Palmer) and chapter 13 – Arthur Miller's fiction (Malcolm Bradbury).

SUSAN HAEDICKE

Chronology

- 1915 Arthur Asher Miller born on 17 October in New York City to Isidore and Augusta Miller. Second of three children.
- 1929 Father's clothing business declines because of the Depression, forcing the family to move to Brooklyn.
- 1933 Miller graduates from high school, but is rejected from Cornell University and University of Michigan. Works at a variety of jobs and writes his first short story "In Memoriam" depicting an aging salesman. Reapplies to University of Michigan and is granted a conditional acceptance after writing to Dean that he is now "a much more serious fellow."
- 1934 Studies journalism at University of Michigan where he becomes night editor of Michigan Daily. Studies playwriting under Professor Kenneth T. Rowe.
- 1936 First play, No Villain, is produced and wins University of Michigan's Avery Hopwood Award.
- 1937 Receives second Avery Hopwood Award for Honors at Dawn, but the play is never produced. Receives the Theatre Guild's Bureau of New Plays Award for They Too Arise (revision of No Villain).
- 1938 Comes in second for Avery Hopwood Award for The Great Disobedience, which is produced at University of Michigan. Graduates and moves to New York.
- 1939 Completes another revision of They Too Arise (now entitled The Grass Still Grows). Writes scripts for Federal Theatre Project until it is closed by Congress. He then writes radio plays for CBS and NBC.
- 1940 Completes The Golden Years. Marries Mary Grace Slattery. They will have two children, Jane (1944) and Robert (1947).

CHRONOLOGY

- 1941 Completes two radio plays, The Pussycat and the Expert Plumber Who Was a Man and William Ireland's Confession. Also works at various odd jobs.
- 1942 Completes radio play, The Four Freedoms.
- 1943 Completes The Half-Bridge.
- 1944 Tours army camps gathering material for screenplay, The Story of G.I. Joe, and book, Situation Normal. First Broadway production, The Man Who Had All the Luck, closes after four performances, but wins Theatre Guild National Award and is published in Cross-Section: A Collection of New American Writing.
- 1945 Publishes first novel, Focus, on anti-Semitism. Completes radio play, Grandpa and the Statue, and a one-act play, That They May Win. Attacks Ezra Pound for his pro-Fascist activities.
- 1947 All My Sons opens on Broadway and wins New York Drama Critics' Circle Award. Auctions off manuscript on behalf of Progressive Citizens of America. Becomes involved in variety of anti-Fascist and pro-Communist activities.
- 1949 Death of a Salesman (originally entitled The Inside of His Head) opens in New York with Lee J. Cobb in the title role. Jo Mielziner designs the innovative set. Wins the Pulitzer Prize and the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award. Miller publishes the first of his many theatrical and political essays.
- 1950 Adaptation of Ibsen's An Enemy of the People opens; but closes after thirty-six performances.
- 1953 The Crucible opens in New York to mixed reviews that differ on play's relevance to McCarthyism. Play wins Antoinette Perry and Donaldson Awards.
- 1954 Denied passport by State Department to attend opening of The Crucible in Brussels because of his alleged support of the Communist movement. Miller supporters claim this move is a retaliation for the parallels between McCarthy era tactics and the Salem witch trials evident in The Crucible.
- 1955 Contracts to write a film script for New York City Youth Board, but is dropped from film after a condemnation of his leftist activities appears in a New York City newspaper. A Memory of Two Mondays and the one-act version of A View from the Bridge produced as double-bill in New York.
