

CONTENTS

List of contributors ix
Preface xi

1 Introduction: emergency powers and constitutionalism in Asia 1
VICTOR V. RAMRAJ AND ARUN K. THIRUVENGADAM

PART I Perspectives from legal and political theory

2 The emergency powers paradox 21
VICTOR V. RAMRAJ

3 Emergency powers, constitutionalism and legal transplants: the East Asian experience 56
ALBERT H. Y. CHEN

4 Constitution and ‘extraconstitution’: colonial emergency regimes in postcolonial India and Pakistan 89
ANIL KALHAN

5 The princely impostor: stories of law and pathology in the exercise of emergency powers 121
VASUKI NESIAH

PART II Postcolonial and post-conflict transitions

6 From Myanmar to Manila: a brief study of emergency powers in Southeast Asia 149
KEVIN Y. L. TAN

7 Discourses of emergency in colonial and postcolonial Burma 187
MAITRII AUNG-THWIN

viii	CONTENTS
8	Emergency and Islamic law in Aceh 213 MICHELLE ANN MILLER AND R. MICHAEL FEENER
9	UNaccountable? The United Nations, emergency powers and the rule of law in Asia 237 SIMON CHESTERMAN
	PART III Emergencies, executive power and constitutional order
10	Emergency powers and the rule of law in Indonesia 267 NADIRSYAH HOSEN
11	Emergency powers with a moustache: special powers, military rule and evolving constitutionalism in Thailand 294 ANDREW HARDING
12	Emergency powers and the limits of constitutionalism in Japan 314 MARK FENWICK
13	States of exception in an exceptional state: emergency powers law in China 342 JACQUES DELISLE
	PART IV The role of the courts
14	Constitutionalised emergency powers: a plague on Asian constitutionalism? 393 H. P. LEE
15	Political emergencies in the Philippines: changing labels and the unchanging need for legitimacy 412 RAUL C. PANGALANGAN
16	Islamism as a response to emergency rule in Pakistan: the surprising proposal of Justice A. R. Cornelius 436 CLARK B. LOMBARDI
17	Asian judiciaries and emergency powers: reasons for optimism? 466 ARUN K. THIRUVENGADAM
	Index 495