Contents

Preface
Preface xiii

| Section |
|-----------------|-----------------|
| INTRODUCTION “A MAN OF VERSATILE MIND” | 1 |
| 1 UPBRINGING AND EDUCATION (1632–1658) | 5 |
| 1632–1646: “I found myself in a storm” (Somerset childhood) | 5 |
| 1646–1652: “A very severe school” (Westminster School) | 10 |
| 1652–1656: “No very hard student” (Oxford B.A. studies) | 15 |
| 1656–1658: “A most learned and ingenious young man” (Oxford M.A. studies) | 20 |
| 2 COLLEGE OFFICES AND MEDICAL STUDIES (1659–1667) | 23 |
| January–December 1659: “Melancholy and discontented” (Away from friends) | 23 |
| January–December 1659: “Study in earnest” (Medicine; toleration) | 30 |
| January–October 1660: “I shall not willingly be drawn from hence” (Medicine; anxieties about political situation) | 32 |
| October–December 1660: “Whether the civil magistrate may lawfully impose” (Law of nature; “First Tract on Government”) | 38 |
Contents

December 1660–December 1662: “Quiet and settlement” (Father’s death; college tutor, and lecturer in Greek; “Infallibility”; lecturer in Rhetoric; “Second Tract on Government”) 43

January 1663–November 1665: “No law without a law-maker” (Chemistry; ecclesiastical offers; “Essays on the Law of Nature”; respiration and blood) 52

November 1665–February 1666: “Took coach for Germany” (Diplomacy in Cleves) 59

February–July 1666: Natural philosophy: practical and theoretical (Iatrochemical preparations; barometrical observations; Respirationis Usus) 66

3 EXETER HOUSE, LONDON (1666–1675): “ONE ACCIDENT IN MY LIFE”

July 1666–May 1667: “Falling into a great man’s family” (Ashley Cooper; dispensation from holy orders; offer of preferment; Elinor Parry; “Morbus”; iatrochemistry) 70

June–December 1667: “With my Lord Ashley as a man at home” (Exeter House; Sydenham; “Essay concerning Toleration”) 78

January–December 1668: “Turning his thoughts another way” (Ashley’s operation; “Anatomie”; interest rates) 86

January 1669–December 1670: “A love of all sorts of useful knowledge” (Elinor Parry; “Constitutions of Carolina”; match-making; De Arte Medica; ill-health) 89

January–September 1671: “What I think about the human understanding” (Anthony Ashley Cooper the third; De Intellectu Humano) 97

September–December 1671: “Profitable to the life of man” (De Intellectu, a second draft; Royal Society) 105

January 1672–November 1675: “That tether which certainly ties us” (Peerage for Ashley; colonial investments; short visit to France; Secretary of Presentations; Secretary and Treasurer of Council of Trade; interest rates; an annuity; Bachelor of Medicine; license to practise; medical Studentship) 110

4 FRANCE (NOVEMBER 1675–MAY 1679)

November 1675–January 1676: Paris to Montpellier 119

January 1676–March 1677: Montpellier 125
Contents

March 1677–July 1678: Paris 134

July–October 1678: An extended “little Tour” of France 142

November 1678–May 1679: Paris 149

5 THANET HOUSE AND LONDON (MAY 1679–SEPTEMBER 1683) 153

May–December 1679: “Things in such confusion” (Shaftesbury as Lord President; Popish Plot; standardisation of length; correspondence with Toinard) 153

December 1679–April 1680: “A condition as might make your friends apprehensive” (“Observations upon the growth and culture of vines”) 159

April–November 1680: “Fortune continues to cross all my plans” (Exclusion Bill; correspondence with Toinard) 162

November 1680–March 1681: “1641 is come again” (The Unreasonableness of Separation; Oxford Parliament) 166

April 1681–April 1683: “Not a word ever drops from his mouth” (The King clamps down; Shaftesbury arrested; College’s trial; Damaris Cudworth; Edward Clarke; Shaftesbury dies) 171

Two Treatises of Government 181

April–September 1683: “The times growing now troublesome” (Rye House plot; secretive movements; hastily to Holland) 190

6 HOLLAND AND THE UNITED PROVINCES (1683–1688) 197

September 1683–October 1684: “Much in my chamber alone” (Medical friends; Limborch; indexing notes; tour of the Provinces; Labadists; educational “Directions”) 197

November–December 1684: “Suspected to be ill-affected” (Expulsion from Studentship) 207

December 1684–September 1685: “To be seized and banished” (Under suspicion; Monmouth’s rebellion; in hiding) 216

September 1685: “What God has thought fit” (“de Intellectu” (draft C), book one (innate ideas); book two (origin of ideas); promise of pardon; still suspected) 223

September 1685–September 1686: “That faith which works, not by force, but by love” (Epistola de Tolerantia; “Method of Commonplacing”);
Contents

more thoughts on education; no longer listed; Yonges’ visit; Thomas visits) .......................... 229 September–December 1686: “Changing one’s abode is inconvenient” (“de Intellectu”, books three (words), and four (knowledge)) ........................................... 239 December 1686–March 1688: “Busy as a hen with one chick” (Continued concern for safety; Furly; van Helmont; ill; rumours of pardon; the Essay abridged) .......................................................... 248 March 1688–January 1689: “An expected invasion” (Thomas visits; Stringer and a portrait; Clarke visits; William of Orange goes over; return to England) ........................................................................ 255

7 \ LONDON (FEBRUARY 1689–DECEMBER 1690) .............................................................................. 266
February–December 1689: Annus mirabilis (Offers of public position; Epistola; Commissioner of Appeals; petition for Studentship; another quarrel with Stringer; Letter concerning Toleration; Two Treatises;
Essay concerning Human Understanding; Newton) ........................................................................ 266
January–September 1690: Disputes and disagreements (Tyrrell and the Essay; anonymity and acrimony;
“A call to the nation for unity”; Proast and “A second letter concerning toleration”) ..................... 279
July–December 1690: Questions of economics (Interest rates; clipped coins; plans to go to Holland) ......................................................... 290

8 \ OATES (JANUARY 1691–DECEMBER 1695) ......................................................................................... 298
January–December 1691: “The seraglio at Oates” (Removal to Oates; a return to natural philosophy?; Bath and Somerset; Some Considerations of ... Money; “multiplying gold”; Aesop’s Fables) ............... 298 January–December 1692: “You won’t be well if you stay in town” (Overseeing Edward Clarke; Newton and transmutation; Third Letter concerning Toleration; William Molyneux; Boyle’s History of the Air; petition for Council of Trade salary; a “dry club”; disagreement with Norris;
“Answer to Mr Norris”; liberty of will) ......................................................................................... 307
January–December 1693: “It were better if you were dead” (Petition to Treasury; “Short observations on ... coining silver money”; preparation for second edition of Essay; Malebranche and “Seeing all things in God”; personal identity; Some Thoughts concerning Education; liberty of the will again) ......................................................... 321
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Month</th>
<th>Event Description</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>January–December 1694</td>
<td>“Discourse on matters of importance” (van Helmont visits; Essay, second edition; Thomas dies; Bank of England; a financial consultant; the “College”)</td>
<td>333</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 1695</td>
<td>“Wherein the Christian faith consists” (The Reasonableness of Christianity; natural law and revelation)</td>
<td>336</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January–August 1695</td>
<td>“Not one word of Socinianism” (Licensing Act; the Essay abridged; recoinage recommended; a water drinker; Greenwich Hospital; Edwards and Socinianism; Reasonableness of Christianity vindicated)</td>
<td>344</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>August–December 1695</td>
<td>“Of great use to your country” (Further currency considerations; a Latin translator for the Essay)</td>
<td>355</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>December 1695–November 1696</td>
<td>“Your country calls for your help” (Commissioner for Trade; recoinage; Leibniz)</td>
<td>361</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>November 1696–February 1697</td>
<td>“A clipped Christianity” (Controversy with Stillingfleet; Second Vindication of the Reasonableness of Christianity; Samuel Bold)</td>
<td>370</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 1697–January 1698</td>
<td>“Told I must prepare myself for a storm” (Reply to Stillingfleet’s answer to his Letter; “Conduct of the Understanding”; answer to Burnet; Pierre Coste; linen manufacture; employment of the poor; Edwards’s Brief Vindication)</td>
<td>384</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January–July 1698</td>
<td>“At the jaws of death” (Reply to Stillingfleet’s answer to his Second Letter; Hudde and the uniqueness of God)</td>
<td>400</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July–December 1698</td>
<td>“Nothing ever escapes you” (Meeting with Molyneux; meeting with Bold; Peter King; “Elements of Natural Philosophy”)</td>
<td>412</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>January 1699–March 1700</td>
<td>“A too long stay in town” (“Association of Ideas”; “Enthusiasm”)</td>
<td>415</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 1700–March 1701</td>
<td>“Nothing but what I ought and do expect” (Retirement from Board of Trade; bad legs; the question of liberty)</td>
<td>420</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
March 1701–December 1702: “The Ornament of this Age” (Deafness; Catherine Trotter; “Directions for Reading”; “Miracles”) 426

January–December 1703: “New life” (Anthony Collins; Aesop’s Fables; St Paul’s Epistles) 436

January–August 1704: “At the end of my day when my sun is setting” (Oxford book ban; a new carriage; St Paul’s Epistles) 445

August–October 1704: “A happy life, but nothing but vanity” (A Fourth Letter for Toleration; King’s marriage; death) 454

Expository Notes 461

Bibliographical Notes 471

Abbreviations and References 505

Index 517

Illustrations follow page xviii.