

Contents

List of Illustrations	page vii
List of Contributors	ix
Abbreviations	xi
Introduction: The Heritage and Legacy of Raging Bull	1
Kevin J. Hayes
1 Art and Genre in Raging Bull	19
Leger Grindon
2 Visual Absurdity in Raging Bull	41
Todd Berliner
3 Raging Bull and the Idea of Performance	69
Michael Peterson
4 Women in Raging Bull: Scorsese's Use of Determinist, Objective, and Subjective Techniques	92
Peggy McCormack
5 My Victims, My Melancholia: Raging Bull and Vincente Minnelli's The Bad and the Beautiful	116
Mark Nicholls
REVIEWS OF RAGING BULL	135
"Raging Bull: No Punches Pulled" Jay Scott (The Globe and Mail [Toronto], 15 November 1980, p. 3)	135

vi CONTENTS

"Raging Bull" Eric Gerber (Houston Post , 19 December 1980, p. 1E)	137
From "Musclemen" Michael H. Seitz (The Progressive 45 [February 1981]: 50–51)	139
"De Niro Packs a Mean Punch: Stunning but Unsentimental, Raging Bull Scores a KO" Philip Wuntch (The Dallas Morning News , 19 December 1980, p. 1C)	142
"Raging Bull" Joe Pollack (St. Louis Post-Dispatch , 20 February 1981, p. 5D)	143
"Raging Bull Is a Gritty, Brutal Masterpiece" Vern Stefanic (Tulsa World , 20 February 1981, p. C7)	145
Filmography	149
Select Bibliography	157
Index	159