

Index

- accidents, 80, 188, 222, 262n36;
 inherence in substance, 154–155, 166, 170, 259–261; knowability of,
 222; migration of, 27–28, 66, 72,
 94, 159, 163; not powers, 259–260, 262
- Acta Eruditorum*, 38, 39, 40
- action: at a distance, 176; divine, 63–68, 87–89, 96, 97, 98; as ground of change, 251; Leibniz’s definition of, 57; mechanics of, 79, 98; and motion, 104–106, 276;
 personal element of, 303, 339–343, 360; as primitive, 65–66;
 and reaction, 137, 165, 181, 250, 405; smallest, 9, 80
- activity: as equivalent to substantiality, 30, 110, 126, 252, 256n29, 351–352; Kant’s notion of, 13–14, 18, 19, 231–232, 265–282, 396–397, 420–421;
 self-consciousness as providing the meaning of, 272–282; sphere of, 109–111, 179. See also “causality of the cause”
- agency, 15, 16; atemporal, 333,
 333n32, 334; uncaused, 361,
 412–417, 418. See also causation;
 free will and determinism,
 problem of; freedom
- Allison, Henry, 196n20; epistemological interpretation of Transcendental Idealism, 191n10, 319n15; reading of the “Antithesis” of the Third Antinomy, 35, 309, 309n4, 310, 310n6; reading of the Second Analogy, 203, 206
- alteration, 255–256
- Ameriks, Karl, 191n10, 195n19,
 318n12
- Analogies of Experience: context in the Critique, 11, 185–202; as division in Analytic of Principles, 186–188; general principle of, 188; and problem of time-determination, 11, 185, 188–191; status of the claims of, 12,
 196–202; analytical model, 196, 197–198, 200, 201;
 epistemological model, 197, 198–199, 200, 201–202;
 metaphysical-epistemological model, 199–202; structure of, 188, 190; and Transcendental Deduction, 185, 186–188. See also
 First Analogy; Second Analogy;
 Third Analogy
- Analytic of Concepts, 186
- Analytic of Principles, 181, 186; task
 of, 186

- Antinomies of Pure Reason, 2, 15, 181, 194, 195n18, 301, 374; First Antinomy, 304, 314–315; format of, 305, 306; Fourth Antinomy, 304; Resolution of, 313–315; Second Antinomy, 304, 314–315. See also Third Antinomy
- appearances: definition of, 314n8; determinism in the realm of, 15, 217, 302, 315; as distinguished from things in themselves, 15, 302, 303, 308, 311–325; grounds of, 251, 302, 325–329, 334–339, 361; indeterminacy of, 16, 128n30, 251, 264n40, 313–314, 343, 349; and principle of sufficient reason, 305, 307, 314, 316, 327
- Apperception: awareness of activities in, 14, 273–282; distinguished from inner sense, 14, 141n40, 273–274; identity of, 276; as producing “I think,” 276, 279; unity of, 195, 202, 229. See also self-consciousness
- appetitions, 70, 95; Leibniz’s notion of, 35, 84; as primitive active forces, 35, 66
- apprehension: role of the categories in, 197; succession in, 189, 204, 206, 209, 219, 220; synthesis in, 218, 313–314
- a priori intuition, 172, 267, 379, 420
- a priori knowledge, 378–380; of mathematics, 197, 379, 384, 388; of metaphysics, 380; See also synthetic a priori knowledge
- Architectonic of Pure Reason, 172, 420
- Aristotle: on causal powers, 13, 251, 394; followers of, 2, 24, 195n18
- Armstrong, David, on laws of nature, 18, 392, 401–407, 422
- Arnauld, Antoine, 39
- attention, see self-consciousness
- Aufklärer*, 42
- axioms of intuition, 190, 417
- Baumeister, Friedrich Christian, 45, 51, 80
- Baumgarten, Alexander Gottlieb, 45, 97, 103, 119, 146, 165; account of real and ideal influence, 75–78, 83, 86, 149; defense of pre-established harmony, 51, 73–78, 97–98; Metaphysica, 60, 74–75, 78, 121n22, 146, 164, 200; on substance, 13, 110–172, 259
- Beattie, James, 368
- Beck, Lewis White, 10n4, 41n40, 163n67, 169n70, 203
- Beiser, Frederick, 367, 368
- Bennett, Jonathan, 186n1, 307n3
- Berkeley, George, 3, 279n59, 280n59
- Bilfinger, Georg Bernhard, 45, 51, 51n58, 69n96
- Broad, C. D., 240n16; objection to agent causation, 18, 243n18, 409–412, 414, 419
- Buchdahl, Gerd, 203
- Budde, Johann Franz, 51, 53
- calculus, 38, 39
- Cartwright, Nancy, 393, 395, 397
- categories, 191, 205, 212, 261, 266; normative status of, 182, 187–188, 209, 277; relational, 188, 190, 191–192, 196–197; table of, 182, 186, 191, 261, 266–267; unschematized, 186, 190n8, 193, 205, 251. See also category of causality; category of mutual interaction
- Category of causality, 4, 188, 207, 209, 219, 232, 267; attributing a spatio-temporal meaning to, 267–268, 324; and necessity, 212, 387, 406, 427
- Category of mutual interaction, 188, 219
- “causality of the cause,” 13, 231–232, 244, 253, 347, 349; as analogous to substance-inherence relationship, 261; distinguished from cause

- itself, 244, 249; indeterminacy of, 13, 17, 231, 257, 263n40, 296; meaning of, 244–249, 265
 causal laws, 211; how Kant establishes the necessity of, 216, 232, 286–291, 297; knowledge of,
 198–199, 202, 213, 290; and “strong reading” of the Second Analogy, 203–204, 215–216,
 286–287, 287n63
 causal powers: Baumgarten’s account of, 13 in Critique of Pure Reason, 252; Crusius’s account of, 51, 81, 82–85, 164, 220, 235; distinguished from event-event accounts of causation, 245–246, 397–400; powerful particulars, 394–396, 397. See also “causality of the cause”; grounds
 causation: agent, 14, 18–19, 243n18, 302, 304, 359–360, 361, 409–419,
 425; atemporal, 263n40, 264n41,
 324–325, 333; efficient, 2, 25, 37,
 70–71, 151, 159, 181, 253, 332n29;
 event-event, see event-event causation; *intra*substantial, 55, 66, 67; mind-body, see mind-body problem; and principle of continuity, 7n3, 217, 231, 252, 255, 255n28, 257; simultaneous, problem of, 217, 231, 252–255
 Chisholm, Roderick, 19, 409, 412, 413, 415, 416
 coexistence: knowledge of, 12, 200–201, 217, 220–223, 227,
 240–241, 282; of substance, 188, 201, 221–222, 227, 282–284. See also principle of coexistence community: category of, 188, 219;
 immediate vs. mediate, 227–228, 240n16; meaning of “thoroughgoing”, 227–228, 246, 247n22, 250; as necessary for knowledge of coexistence, 12, 199–201, 217–229, 294, 374; and principles of succession and coexistence, 12, 136–156, 180, 423, 425; role of God in bringing about, 141, 144, 148–156, 180 complete concepts, theory of, 33–34, 49, 81, 94, 114n13, 148n53, 164, 189 compatibilism, 329–335; Kant’s way of reconciling with incompatibilism, 334–338
 conatus, 54, 66. See also appetitions condition-conditioned relationship,
 16n5, 210, 313–315
 consciousness, see self-consciousness conservation of motion: law of, 27, 68, 99; and physical influx, 46n48,
 68–72, 89n128; problem of, 8, 27, 68–72 contradiction, law of, See principle of contradiction
 cosmology, 51, 82, 83, 146, 194; importance in the Critique of Pure Reason, 182, 194, 195; in Metaphysica, 74, 146; in Sketch of the Necessary Truths of Reason, 83, 86, 89, 89n128; in the work of Christian Wolff, 41, 46, 48, 81, 95.
 See also world
 critical turn, 6, 11, 181, 183, 232, 282;
 according to “epistemological interpretation” of Transcendental Idealism, 319, 320–321;
 continuities and discontinuities with pre-Critical period, 11–12,
 181–184, 229, 255n28, 291–296
Critique of Judgment, 7n3, 181,
 255n28
Critique of Practical Reason, 181, 295n67, 315n10, 335n35, 336n39,
 337n43, 342, 359n67
 Crusius, Christian August, 7, 8, 21,
 50, 73, 81, 99, 113n10, 141, 200, 261, 371, 383, 386; arguments for physical influx, 82, 86–87, 89; on causal powers, 51, 81, 82–85, 164, 220, 235; conception of metaphysics, 81, 82, 83; eclecticism and anti-Leibnizianism of, 9–10, 24, 82, 99; inefficacious vs.

- Crusius, Christian August (cont.)
 efficacious grounds, 83–85, 86, 98, 103, 145, 180, 220; influence on Kant, 10, 24, 87n123, 123, 145, 145n49, 149, 156, 160, 164, 166, 169n70, 181, 261, 424; on Knutzen, 92, 93; on the mind-body problem, 51, 82, 89–93, 99, 107; objections to pre-established harmony, 82, 87–89, 92, 92n133, 93, 158, 174; Path to the Certainty and Reliability of Cognition, 92–93, 275; and pietism, 81, 93, 98; on the problem of free will and determinism, 82, 85, 98; real vs. ideal grounds, 83–89, 156, 158, 164–165, 169, 180, 200, 383; Sketch of the Necessary Truths of Reason, 81–92, 123; on space and time, 82, 85; on the world, 83, 85–89, 90n128, 98, 146–147, 149, 153
- Darjes, Joachim Georg, 45, 73, 89n128
- Descartes, René, 27n8, 33, 46n48, 68, 278, 281; causal theory of, 2–3, 24; on mind-body interaction, 2, 3, 26–27
- Discipline of Pure Reason, 375–381, 387–388
- Doctrine of Method, 183, 375–381, 383–384, 420
- Dretske, Fred, 401
- “Dynamical Principles”. See Analogies of Experience; Postulates of Empirical Thought
- empiricism, 2, 3, 5; Crusius’s sympathy with, 81; possibility of a systematic alternative to, 5, 17, 419–421; Second Analogy as a refutation of, 6; Tetens’s sympathy with, 368, 373
- “Entelechia,” 271n46
- Essence, 123; Crusius’s account of, 81, 82, 84, 87, 88, 90; existence vs. essence, 82–85; Kant’s account of, 10, 116, 123–125, 357; metaphysical, 81, 82; of the mind and body, 91, 91n131, 99; Wolff’s conception of, 120, 120n21, 122, 123, 133
- Euler, Leonard, 73, 73n100, 272n48
- events: Hume’s conception of, 17, 230, 232–235, 236, 245, 386, 391, 393; Kant’s conception of, 17, 236; Lewis’s conception of, 398–400; in the Second Analogy, 221, 284
- event-event causation, 12, 14, 230, 231, 232, 238, 245–246, 249, 284; simple models of, 238–239, 245, 246, 249; complex models of, 239–243, 245, 249; Lewis’s account of, 398–400; Third Analogy’s incompatibility with, 231, 237, 238–243, 284, 296
- experience, 11, 424; perceptual, 195; possibility of, 4, 11, 195, 379, 387, 405, 424, 428; scientific, 195; unity of, 193–195, 202, 229, 309
- First Analogy of Experience, 192, 221, 243, 268n45, 282, 288, 289
- Fisher, Christian Gabriel, 44, 45
- force, 102; activity as criterion of, 10, 102, 104, 179; attractive and repulsive, 136n35, 182, 224, 268–272, 272n48, 281, 289, 429; derivative, 9, 36–37, 53, 58–59, 62, 71, 97; living vs. dead, 108; primitive active and primitive passive, 9, 35–37, 58–59, 62, 71, 97, 112, 125–126, 271n46; and vis motrix, 54, 104, 179. See also activity; appetite; “causality of the cause”
- Frankfurt, Harry, 357–359
- Frederick the Great, 44, 101
- Frederick William I, 44
- freedom: exercised by noumenal agents, 250, 316, 333, 334–335, 336, 337; libertarian, 82, 85, 98, 408, 415, 416, 417; practical, 332; psychological, 343; “spontaneous cause,” 308–310, 316, 333; transcendental, 309, 332, 342.

- See also* free will and determinism, problem of
- Free will and determinism, problem of: compatibilism, 329–332; and control, 340–341, 342, 343, 360, 409, 411; Crusius's solution to, 82, 85, 98; incompatibilism, 330, 332; Kant's solution to (in the resolution of the Third Antinomy), 311–316, 332, 341, 355; libertarianism, 82, 85, 98, 408, 415, 416, 417; location of free will, 357–359; and personal facts, 303, 339–343; and regress of desires, 354–357, 360. See also freedom; Third Antinomy
- Friedman, Michael, 196n20, 203–204, 287n63
- geometry, 109, 111
- Ginet, Carl, 408
- God: arguments for the existence of, 34, 113n10, 141, 156, 167; as cause, 2, 25, 29–30, 134–136; as harmonizer of monads, 2, 23, 25, 34, 37, 76; knowledge of, 4, 424; The Only Possible Argument, 103, 164, 167; as special ground of causal relations, 88, 98, 150–156, 175, 178, 180, 181, 424; see also action, divine; Voluntaristic conception of, 82, 88
- Gottsched, Johann Christoph, 45, 52, 53, 73
- Groundwork for the Metaphysics of Morals*, 326, 328
- grounds, 200; determining, 85, 113n10, 115, 132, 133; antecedently vs. consequentially, 113n10; definition of, 114n12; inefficacious (existential) vs. efficacious (active), 83–85, 86, 98, 103, 145, 180, 220; Kant's conception of, 10, 122, 123; real vs. logical, 103, 163–167, 169; real, 10, 103, 203; Leibniz's conception of, 125–129, 134, 180, 423; real vs. ideal, 83–89, 156, 158, 164–165, 169, 180, 200, 383; Wolff's conception of, 102, 103, 113n10, 118–121, 124, 133, 171, 180
- Guyer, Paul, 146n2, 187n2, 189n7, 192n11, 197–199, 201–202, 203–204, 206n38, 210–213, 218n52, 242n17, 253n27, 309, 385n40
- Hamann, Johann Georg, 367
- Harré, Rom, 393, 394–397, 422
- Henrich, Dieter, 206
- Hollmann, Samuel Christian, 52, 73
- Hume, David, 3–5, 7, 10, 11, 12, 16–18, 45n47, 163n67, 207, 233, 233n1, 235, 274n50, 401; on causal laws, 203, 216, 286; conception of events, 17, 230, 232–235, 236, 245, 386, 391, 393; Enquiry Concerning Human Understanding, 10, 16, 161, 164, 167n68, 181, 235n9, 364, 365; German reactions to, 16, 364–367, 373; importance for Kant (in leading him to real grounds), 103, 161–162, 167, 167n68, 169n70, 172, 373; Kant's explicit remarks about, 374–381; on miracles, 30, 31n21; model of causality, 12, 14, 230–231, 238, 239–245, 284, 384–386; on necessary connection, 3, 161–163, 169, 170–172, 181, 203, 216, 234–235, 274, 278, 296, 384, 385; on the self and self-knowledge, 277, 277n53, 277n54, 278, 278n56, 280; and skepticism, 7, 103, 181, 216, 367, 374–378, 379–380; A Treatise of Human Nature, 45, 233–235, 236, 253, 274n50, 277, 286
- Huygens, Christiaan, 39, 46n48
- idealism: Leibniz and, 35–36, 37, 47, 95, 128, 129, 159; Wolff's agnosticism about, 9, 47–48, 95–96, 99, 159. See also Refutation of Idealism; Transcendental Idealism

- identity: of apperception, 276, 278;
 and composition, 174, 325n23;
 conditions of, 29, 94, 262n35, 288, 290n64; personal, 359n67;
 relations of, 370, 372
- inertia, 69, 97, 109, 226
- imagination: as distinctive human faculty, 198; and representation of causal relations, 370, 371; as source of a priori representations, 379; syntheses of, 207, 218; unable to yield knowledge of objective succession, 208, 219
- Inaugural Dissertation*, 11, 103, 104,
 160, 170, 172, 176n74, 178, 181,
 194, 288, 292
- induction, 376
- influxus physicus*, see physical influx, theory of
- inner sense, 44, 45, 51, 273, 273n49, 276; distinguished from apperception, 14, 141n40, 273–275, 276, 368, 369–373;
 distinguished from outer sense, 273, 368
- Journal des Savants*, 26, 39, 40, 170
- judgment, 165, 166, 169, 170, 181,
 186, 187, 202, 213n45, 266, 373
- Kane, Robert, 408
- Knutzen, Martin: defense of physical influx, 53, 68–73; De immaterialitate animi, 52; Elementa philosophiae rationalis logicae, 52; Philosophischer Beweis von der Wahrheit der Christlichen Religion, 52; and pietism, 52; Systema causarum efficientium, 53–58, 60, 67n88, 73, 108n6, 159; *Vernünftige Gedanken
 von den Cometen*, 52
- Kraft*, see force
- Lange, Joachim, 42, 43n, 43n43, 51,
 53, 73, 74n101
- law of the conservation of living forces, 49, 68–69, 70–73, 89n128, 94, 96, 99
- law of the conservation of motion, 8, 46n48, 68, 89n128, 94, 99
- law of the equality of action and reaction, 137
- law of inertia, 69, 97, 109, 226
- laws of nature: causal efficacy of, 18, 403; as contingent on free will, 15, 302, 303, 326, 334, 337, 344, 346; as contingent on the natures of things, 15, 18, 344, 345, 346, 406; distinguished from accidental generalizations, 346; “governing” of, 18, 401–402, 403–407; Humean (“regularity”) accounts of,
 345–346, 398, 401–402; Leibniz’s account of, 31–32, 97, 145n48, 338; Malebranche’s account of, 31;
 necessitarian accounts of, 18, 363, 401–408; necessity of, 18, 346, 403,
 406; transcendental vs. empirical, 199, 203–204, 290, 405. See also causal laws; law of the conservation of living forces; law of the conservation of motion; law of the equality of action and reaction; law of inertia; necessity; Second Analogy, “weak vs. strong reading of”; second law of motion
- Leibniz, Gottfried W.: on bodies, 36–37, 58–60, 325; definition of action, 57, 99; “Discourse on Metaphysics,” 33, 39, 40; doctrine of complete concepts, 33–34, 49, 81, 94, 114n13, 148n53, 164, 189;
 doctrine of pre-established harmony, 2, 8, 23, 24–37, 75, 94–95, 96, 161, 163; “On an Emendation of First Philosophy and the Notion of Substance,” 40; on forces, see monads, forces of;
 on grounds of change, 125–129, 134, 180, 423; and idealism, 35–36, 37, 47, 95, 128, 129, 159; on laws of nature, 31–32, 97, 145n48, 338; Leibniz-Clarke Correspondence, 40; “Meditations on Knowledge, Truth, and Ideas,” 40; on mind-body interaction, 2–3, 25,

- 26–28; on miracles, 30–32; “The Monadology,” 28, 39, 40, 149n55; on monads, see monads, Leibniz’s account of; “On Nature Itself,” 30–35, 40; New Essays Concerning Human Understanding, 40, 370; “A New System of Nature,” 26, 27n9, 28, 34, 40, 53n63, 59, 71, 143; objections to occasionalism, 25, 28–32; principle of identity of indiscernibles, 33, 49; real vs. ideal influence, 75–78, 83, 86, 88, 98, 143n45, 149; reception of, 7, 8–10, 23–24, 38–100; on relations, 131, 131n33, 133, 142, 142n42, 143n43, 145, 149, 353n58; relationship with Wolff, 9, 38–50, 95–96; “Specimen dynamicum,” 35, 36–37, 40, 71; on substance, 32–33, 94, 351; Théodicée, 39, 40, 75; universal expression thesis, 35, 46; “world apart” doctrine, 56–57, 98, 143, 423
- Lessing, Gotthold Ephraim, 367, 372
- Lewis, David, 18, 398–400, 401, 402, 403, 422
- Locke, John, 2, 3, 24, 35, 53n62, 251, 261, 272n48, 368, 370, 381
- Madden, Edward, 393, 394–397, 422
- Malebranche, Nicholas, 2, 32n25; conception of laws of nature, 31; definition of miracles, 31; doctrine of occasionalism, 2, 28, 31n23, 152; reason for accepting, 28–29
- Marburg, 44, 101
- “Mathematical Principles,” see axioms of intuition
- Maupertuis, Pierre, 44, 272n48
- Meier, Georg, 7, 8, 9, 10, 24, 45, 103, 118, 119, 180; defense of pre-established harmony, 9, 24, 51, 74, 77n107, 78–80, 98; Proof of Pre-established Harmony, 78
- Mendelssohn, Moses, 7, 81, 367, 372, 386
- metaphysical deduction, 13, 181, 182, 186, 187, 193n14, 209, 266, 267n44, 281–292, 296
- Metaphysical Foundations of Natural Science*, 7n3, 198, 226, 228, 250, 255, 264n42, 268, 284, 296, 315n9, 326n25, 405, 428–430
- Metaphysics Mrongovius Transcripts*, 257, 262n36, 265, 292, 294, 295, 326, 347
- mind-body problem: Crusius’s solution to, 51, 82, 89–93, 99, 107; formulation of, 26–27; Kant’s pre-Critical solution to, 102, 106–108, 166; Knutzen’s solution to, 64–65; Leibniz’s solution to, 2–3, 25, 26–28
- miracles, 25, 31, 46n48, 65, 94; different definitions of, 30–31, 31n21
- modern philosophy, traditional narrative of history of, 1–4
- monads: atemporality of, 126n28; and bodies, 36, 50, 58–60, 62, 69, 70–72, 93, 95–96, 97, 111–112, 325; as final causes, 35–36, 37, 70; forces of, 9, 35–37, 58–59, 62, 71, 97, 112, 125–126, 271n46; Knutzen’s account of, 53, 53n63, 58–60, 70–73, 96–97, 111; Leibniz’s account of, 25, 35–37, 47–48, 58–60, 60n77, 62–63, 70–72, 75, 95, 97; “The Monadology,” see Leibniz; perceptions and appetitions of, 35–36, 46–48, 50, 70, 75, 95; Physical Monadology, 102, 103, 109–112, 128, 129, 179; as mathematical points, 59; as metaphysical points, 26, 35, 47, 58–60, 97, 128; as physical points, 35, 50, 58–60, 62–63, 93, 97, 109–112, 128, 129n31, 179; as points of view, 35, 59, 325; as principles of unity, 35, 47, 59, 71, 102, 109, 179; spatiality of, 54n66, 58–59, 109–112, 179, 325; Wolff’s account of, 47–48, 95–96

- moral law, 328, 335
 mutual interaction, See community
- necessary connection, see Hume, on necessary connection; necessity necessity, 203, 329, 381, 426; causal, 18, 171, 406, 407; logical, 18, 119, 125, 171, 370, 382, 407; natural,
 18, 203, 332, 406, 407;
 Armstrong's account of, 401–403;
 Hume's denial of, 3, 203, 216;
 Kant's explanation of, 345, 346, 382, 393–394, 406, 407, 427;
 metaphysical, 171, 290; role in Second Analogy, 211–213
- Newton, Isaac, 2, 109, 189, 192n13, 198, 320, 429; and the calculus,
 39; on forces, 109, 268, 269, 271, 272n48, 273; on inertia, 109; law of the equality of action and reaction, 137; second law of motion, 272; universal attraction, 227
- noumena, see substance; things in themselves; Transcendental
 Idealism
- Nova dilucidatio*, 102–103, 112,
 113n10, 118, 121–125, 141–145,
 150–153, 154, 157–160, 172, 175,
 178, 179–181, 224, 251, 291, 411
- Nozick, Robert, 408
- occasionalism, 25; Leibniz's arguments against, 25, 29–32;
 Malebranche's motivation for accepting, 28–29
- O'Connor, Timothy, 409, 410–411, 413–416, 417–419, 422
- outer sense, 273, 276, 369–373
- paralogisms, 181, 183n2, 279, 282,
 283, 296, 301, 359n67, 374
- phenomena, see appearances;
 substance; Transcendental
 Idealism
- physical influx, theory of:
 Baumgarten's arguments against,
 75; Crusius's defense of, 82, 86–87, 89; Kant's qualified acceptance of, 156–161, 177–178; Knutzen's defense of, 53, 68–73; Leibniz's arguments against, 26–28; Meier's
 arguments against, 78–80;
 migration of accidents model of, 27–28
Physical Monadology, 102, 103, 109–112, 128, 129, 179
 pietism, 42, 51n57, 95; and Crusius, 9, 81, 93, 98; in German universities, 42; and Knutzen, 52;
 and Wolff, 42–44, 50, 51n57, 52
 points, see under monads
- Postulates of Empirical Thought, 190
- pre-established harmony, theory of:
 Baumgarten's defense of, 51, 73–78, 97–98; Crusius's arguments against, 82, 87–89, 92, 92n133, 93, 158, 174; Kant's arguments against, 102, 113–129; Leibniz's doctrine of, 2, 8, 23, 24–37, 75, 94–95, 96, 161, 163; Meier's defense of, 9, 24, 51, 74, 77n107, 78–80, 98, and politics, 44, 45, 101; Wolff's limited acceptance of,
 9, 24–45, 47, 48–67, 81, 95–96
- principle of continuity, 7n3, 217, 231,
 252, 255, 255n28, 257
- principle of contradiction, 41, 49, 82,
 84, 85, 95, 98, 100, 102, 113n10,
 119, 119n15, 161, 165, 166, 167,
 169, 170–370, 372, 373, 382, 403
- principle of coexistence, 141–156, 166, 176, 180, 220, 294
- principle of determining reason, 85, 98, 115–116
- principle of identity of indiscernibles, 33, 49, 113n10
- principle of succession: arguments for, 113–125, 129, 132, 139, 180, 225, 229; and pre-established harmony, 102, 113–129, 135, 143–144, 158, 180; statement of, 112–113, 131, 137, 225, 226, 294
- principle of sufficient reason, 46, 85, 119, 199, 314, 316
Prolegomena, 170, 230, 352, 381, 384

- psychology, 41, 45, 51, 81, 95, 146;
 empirical, 41, 45; rational, 41, 46, 48, 91, 95, 97, 278, 279, 283
 Putnam, Hilary, 319n16
- quantity, category of, 192
- Rationalism, 2, 44, 183, 373 rational psychology, see psychology real vs. ideal influence, 75–78, 98, 149, 292
 realism, 260n32, 319, 319n16, 320–321. See also Transcendental
 Realism
- reason: causality of, 328, 332, 334n34, 355–356; faculty of, 314,
 314n8, 323, 342, 355, 373, 378;
 practical, 182, 282–283, 295, 336n37, 376; skeptical, dogmatic, and critical uses of,
 375–381
- Refutation of Idealism, 182, 206, 282–283
- Reid, Thomas, 243n18, 417
 Reinbeck, Johann Gustav, 73
 Reusch, Johann Peter, 45, 73
 Rutherford, Donald, 32n25, 54n66,
 148n53
- Schematism, 181, 183, 266, 267,
 267n44, 281
- schemata, 190n8, 285, 324, 327
- Schopenhauer, Arthur, 212, 238
- Schulz, Friedrich Albert, 52
- Second Analogy of Experience:
 argument of, 4, 5, 11–12, 203–217, 223; claim of, 8, 188, 203, 221, 229;
 “Weak” vs. “Strong reading,” 203–204, 215–216, 286–287, 287n63; context of, 185–195;
 model of causality presupposed by, 13–14, 284–286; see also causal powers; Third Analogy of Experience; role of necessity in, 211–213; traditional view of Kant’s intentions in, 4, 5, 6–7, 13 second law of motion, 272
- self: bundle theory of, 277;
 constitution of, 358–359;
 empirical, 334, 336; noumenal, 330, 333, 334, 337; as represented in inner sense, 14, 45, 273, 274, 276; as synthetic activity, 280 self-knowledge, 277–278, 280;
 Hume’s denial of, 274, 277, 277n53, 278; paradox of,
 273–274, 276
- self-consciousness, 196, 232, 266, 272–281; distinguished from inner sense, 14, 273–274; as involving consciousness of synthesis, 14, 273–282; as providing meaning of “activity,” 14, 272–282, 297; transcendental, 276. See also apperception
- Shoemaker, Sydney, 280n60, 395
- skepticism, of Hume, 7, 103, 181, 216, 367, 374–378, 379–380
- souls, 34, 37, 93n140, 127; Crusius’s
 account of, 87, 89–93, 99;
 immortality of, 4, 34; Kant’s account of, 107–108, 283; Wolff’s
 account of, 48, 91
- space, 201, 270, 284, 295; Crusius’s account of, 82, 85; filling a space, 109–111, 232, 268, 289; as generated by causal interaction, 135, 176n74, 179; infinite divisibility of, 102, 109–111, 179, 234; Leibniz’s account of, 49, 97, 320; Newton’s picture of, 189, 320;
 and monads, 54n66, 58–59, 109–112, 179, 325; as subjective principle of the sensible world, 12, 172, 181, 191, 312, 338, 420; unity of, 176, 176n74
- Spinoza, Benedict, 2, 2n2, 367
- spontaneity: in causality, 308–310,
 316, 333; Kant’s account of, 306,
 308–310, 316, 330, 333, 340, 341, 342, 348, 425; Leibniz’s account
 of, 30, 51n57, 94
- Stiebritz, Johann Friedrich, 80
- Strawson, Peter, 196, 196n21, 198, 203, 204, 205, 206

- substance: activity as criterion of, 351; Baumgarten's account of, 13, 110–172, 259; identity conditions of, 94; Knutzen's account of, 66; Leibniz's account of, 32–33, 94, 351; permanence of, 221, 288; phenomenal, 191n10, 200, 222, 229, 292, 293, 295, 303, 344, 349–354 (see also appearances); not a bare particular, 222; noumenal, 229, 293, 295, 296, 344, 349–354; see also things in themselves; as self-sufficient, 94, 143, 147, 162, 259; Spinoza's account of, 2; Wolff's account of, 110, 351. See also accidents; monads
- Sulzer, Johann Georg, 16, 363–368, 372, 383
- synthetic a priori judgments, 186, 187, 383
- synthetic a priori knowledge, 183, 229, 312, 379–381, 384, 388
- synthetic a priori truths, 229, 384
- systematic metaphysics, 19, 419–421
- Taylor, Richard, 19, 243n18, 409, 412, 418
- Tetens, Johann Nicolas, 14, 273–275, 368, 371; on causality, 276, 369–373, 374, 383, 386; reaction to Hume, 16, 273–275, 363, 368–373
- things in themselves, 128n30, 200, 201, 292; as causes of appearances, 302, 326–329, 334–339, 355–356; complete determinacy of, 222, 237, 245–250, 305, 313, 314; knowledge of, 181, 183, 295, 323, 326. See also causation; substance; Transcendental Idealism; Transcendental Realism
- Third Analogy of Experience: argument of, 12, 191, 217–229, 237, 245–250; claim of, 8, 185, 201, 217, 227, 231, 243, 293; context of, 185–195; model of causality presupposed by, 12, 231, 237, 238–243, 284, 296; why restricted to spatial substances, 226–227, 228, 282–284, 293, 297
- Third Antinomy, 6, 8, 302, 304–316, 328n26, 330, 335n35, 343, 347, 355, 425; antithesis argument, 305, 308–316; resolution, 311, 332, 341, 355; thesis argument, 305–308, 310
- Thoughts on True Estimation, see True Estimation*
- Thümmig, Ludwig Philip, 44, 45, 51, 273, 273n49, 276
- time: subjective vs. objective, 189; unity of, 186, 191, 194n16, 195, 202, 229, 286
- time determination: naïve picture of, 188; problem of, 11, 185, 188–191, 200, 210, 215, 216, 219, 220, 221, 222, 249, 250, 263, 263n39; subjective vs. objective time, 189
- Tooley, Michael, 401
- Transcendental Aesthetic, 82, 181, 190
- Transcendental Analytic, 205, 301
- Transcendental Deduction, 141n40, 181, 182, 185, 186–188, 198, 206, 209, 273, 274, 276–277, 340, 374
- Transcendental Dialectic, 41n41, 170, 181, 183, 301, 374
- transcendental freedom, see freedom
- Transcendental Idealism, 170, 190, 250, 295, 302, 310n6, 312n7, 373, 378; different interpretations of, 191n10, 302, 317–325; epistemological interpretation, 191n10, 265n43, 317–323, 328; ontological interpretation, 191n10, 317, 323–325, 329; as key to the resolution of the antinomies, 305, 311–313
- Transcendental Dialectic, 41n41, 170, 181, 183, 301, 374
- Transcendental Realism, 15, 302, 305, 307–308, 310, 310n6, 311, 315, 348

- True Estimation*, 102, 104, 107n5, 109, 112, 147n51, 166, 174n73, 179, 254, 271n46, 384
- unconditioned, 128, 128n30, 314n8
- understanding: Crusius's account of, 82, 83, 87, 261; divine, 88, 98, 141, 150, 176, 294; Kant's account of, 170, 172, 181, 186, 198, 261, 274, 373, 378; Teten's account of, 370–371
- unity: of apperception, 195, 202, 229; of experience, 193–195, 202, 229, 309; relation between unities, 194, 195, 229; of time, 186, 191, 194n16, 195, 202, 229, 286; of the world, 98, 173–175, 193, 194n16, 195, 199, 229
- Universal Natural History and Theory of the Heavens*, 101, 136n35
- universals, 401–405
- Verificationism, 198
- vis motrix, see force
- Van Inwagen, 336–337, 337n43, 338, 344
- Van Fraassen, Bas, 403
- Walch, Johann Georg, 51, 53
- Wolf, Susan, 338n45
- Wolff, Christian, 7, 43n43, 53, 98, 123–125; Anmerkungen zur Deutschen Metaphysik, 47–48; current reputation of, 38; eighteenth-century influence of, 40–41, 44, 95; expulsion from Prussia, 44, 95; on force, 121, 179; on grounds, 102, 103, 113n10, 118–121, 124, 133, 171, 180; and idealism, 9, 47–48, 95–96, 99, 159; and Leibniz, 9, 38, 38n35, 49, 49n55, 50, 125–126, 129; methodology of, 40–41, 41n40, 81, 95; on mind-body problem, 46n48; pedagogical achievements of, 40–41; and Pietists, 42–44, 50, 51n57, 52; on pre-established harmony, 9, 24–45, 47, 48–67, 81, 95–96; on principle of contradiction, 102, 372; Rational Thoughts on God, the World, and the Soul of Human Beings, and All Things in General, 24–45, 47, 48–67; on substance, 110, 351
- Wood, Allen, 324n22, 333, 333n32, 334, 334n33, 336n39, 350n51
- world, 11, 19, 195n18, 304; Crusius's account of, 83, 85–89, 90n128, 98, 146–147, 149, 153; perfection of, 9, 46, 74–78, 97; as a real whole, 12, 85–89, 248n23, 291; Wolff's account of, 85