

CONTENTS

|   |               |
|---|---------------|
| Acknowledgements                                   | page x |
| List of abbreviations                              | xi            |
| Introduction                                       | 1      |
| 1 Sociostylistics and the exorcism in Luke 4.33–37 | 15     |
| Sociostylistic theory                                     | 15            |
| Sociostylistics and literary theory                       | 17            |
| Sociostylistics and linguistic theory                     | 22            |
| Formalism versus functionalism                            | 22            |
| Systemic-functional linguistics: an overview              | 26            |
| A sociostylistic reading of Luke 4.33–37                  | 29            |
| Cohesion  | 29            |
| Story structure   | 31            |
| Repetition  | 33            |
| Iconicity   | 35            |
| Thematic organisation and information structure           | 36            |
| Transitivity  | 39            |
| Vocabulary  | 43            |
| Verbal aspect   | 49            |
| Presupposition  | 50            |
| Implicature   | 52            |
| Intertextuality   | 55            |
| Co-text   | 57            |
| Context of culture  | 61            |
| Conclusion  | 80            |
| 2 Purity and the exorcism in Luke 8.26–39          | 82     |
| Cohesion and boundaries                                   | 84            |
| Story structure   | 85            |
| Repetition  | 89            |
| Word order and information structure                      | 95            |
|   | vii    |

Cambridge University Press

0521838045 - The Exorcism Stories in Luke-Acts: A Sociostylistic Reading

Todd Klutz

Table of Contents

More informationviii Contents

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| Lexis: collocations and connotations                                   | 96         |
| Transitivity   | 102        |
| Verbal aspect  | 107        |
| Intertextuality  | 109        |
| Presuppositions, implicatures and entailments                          | 113        |
| Co-text  | 115        |
| Context of culture   | 121        |
| Apollonius the exorcist  | 121        |
| Unclean spirits and systems of impurity                                | 125        |
| Key features on the demonology–impurity interface                      | 133        |
| Possession, unconventionality and socioreligious change                | 137        |
| Ritual of relocation and ‘anti-rite’ in Jesus’ performance of exorcism | 144        |
| Master of the storm demon  | 148        |
| Conclusion   | 150        |
| 3 Discipleship and the exorcism in Luke 9.37–43a                | 152 |
| Boundaries and cohesion  | 153        |
| Story structure  | 155        |
| Repetition   | 159        |
| Iconicity  | 160        |
| Thematic organisation and information structure                        | 161        |
| Lexis  | 162        |
| συναντάω   | 162        |
| σπαράσσω, ἐκπλήσσω and μεγαλειότης                                     | 165        |
| ἐκβάλλω  | 167        |
| Transitivity   | 168        |
| Verbal aspect  | 171        |
| Intertextuality  | 173        |
| Presuppositions and implicatures                                       | 176        |
| Co-text  | 178        |
| Cultural context   | 186        |
| Success and failure in the context of exorcistic culture               | 188        |
| The grammar of exorcistic rebuke in IQGenesis Apocryphon        | 192        |
| Shamanic ecstasy, exorcistic ritual and narrative transformation       | 194        |
| Fasting, shamanic healing, and the text of Mark 9.29                   | 199        |
| Conclusion   | 205        |

Cambridge University Press

0521838045 - The Exorcism Stories in Luke-Acts: A Sociostylistic Reading

Todd Klutz

Table of Contents

More information

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Contents   | ix  |
| 4 Paul, Jewish identity, and the exorcismin Acts 16.16–18       | 207 |
| Cohesion, boundaries and story structure                                    | 208        |
| Repetition and paronomasia  | 210        |
| Lexis   | 212        |
| Transitivity  | 219        |
| Verbal aspect   | 222        |
| Presuppositions and implicatures  | 223        |
| Intertextuality   | 224        |
| Immediate co-text   | 226        |
| Macrostructural co-text and implied situation                               | 228        |
| Expanding the co-textual frame  | 228        |
| Jesus' affirmation of Paul  | 229        |
| Paul among the greedy and the Judeophobic                                   | 231        |
| Paul: ally of Jesus and foe of magicians                                    | 233        |
| Paul and Jesus in the architecture of Luke–Acts                             | 236        |
| Prominence, relevance and situation   | 239        |
| Context of culture  | 242        |
| Prophecy, polyphony and the social construction ofdemon-possession      | 243        |
| Manumission, damaged property and the politics ofJewish identity        | 247        |
| The name of the exorcist  | 251        |
| Of genre and gender: why Luke is silent about the fateof the slave-girl | 260        |
| Conclusion  | 262        |
| Conclusion   | 265 |
| Bibliography   | 270        |
| Index of sources discussed   | 289        |
| Index of names and subjects  | 297        |