

Cambridge University Press

0521843774 - The Spiritual Dimension: Religion, Philosophy, and Human Value

John Cottingham

Table of Contents

More informationContents

	page
Preface and acknowledgements	vii
1 Religion and spirituality: from praxis to belief	1
1 From analysis to exercise	1
2 Why praxis must come first	5
3 The heart has its reasons	8
4 Trust and the corrections of reason	13
2 Religion and science: theodicy in an imperfect universe	18
1 Religion and the standards of inference	18
2 Are religious claims explanatory hypotheses?	21
3 The problem of evil and the nature of matter	26
4 The dust of the earth	29
5 Detachment, intervention, participation	31
6 Proof, consistency, and faith	34
3 Religion and value: the problem of heteronomy	37
1 Submission to God: an obsolete ideal?	37
2 Autonomy and dependency	41
3 The metaphysics of value	46
4 God as source of morality	49
5 Objectivity and its basis	54
4 Religion and self-discovery: the interior journey	58
1 A triangle of tension	58
2 Psychoanalysis and philosophy	61
3 Psychoanalytic critiques of religion	64
4 Two responses to Freud	66
5 Moral improvement, psychoanalytic reflection, and the religious quest	73
5 Religion and language: emotion, symbol, and fact	79
1 Modes of discourse	79
2 Emotion and layers of meaning	80

Cambridge University Press

0521843774 - The Spiritual Dimension: Religion, Philosophy, and Human Value

John Cottingham

Table of Contents

More information

vi	Contents
	3 The emotional dynamic	83
	4 The importance of layering	88
	5 Meaning and justification	98
6	Religion and the Enlightenment: modernist and postmodernist obstacles	102
	1 The stigma of metaphysics	102
	2 The supposed legacy of the Enlightenment	106
	3 Naturalism and contemporary philosophical orthodoxy	109
	4 The religious counter: an unpromising postmodernist reply	113
	5 Enlightenment and faith	118
7	Religion and the good life: the epistemic and moral resources of spirituality	127
	1 What it means to believe	127
	2 Faith and evidence	128
	3 Traces of the transcendent	131
	4 Horizons of knowledge and intimations of the beyond	134
	5 Moral psychology and the cultivation of virtue	140
	6 Dimensions of askesis	143
	7 From psychotherapy to spirituality	145
8	Religion and pluralism: which spirituality?	150
	1 Recapitulation	150
	2 Which path?	153
	3 Mysticism and the apophatic tradition	159
	4 From mystery to liturgy	161
	5 Distinctive culture and common humanity	165
	6 Images of integration	168
	Bibliography	173
	Index	183