

Contents

Acknowledgements	page viii
Abbreviations	x
Introduction	I
1 Locke, diversity, and the natural history of man	14
2 The uses of diversity: Locke's sceptical critique of Stoicism	34
3 Locke's anthropology: travel, innateness, and the exercise of reason	69
4 Contesting diversity: Shaftesbury's reply to Locke	98
5 Method, moral sense, and the problem of diversity: Francis Hutcheson and the Scottish Enlightenment	150
6 Conclusion: the future of diversity	200
Bibliography	231
Index	253